Hearing to Dismiss Suit Against Helser Recessed One Week

San Francisco — (U.P.) — Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman has recessed for one week a hearing on a petition to dismiss a government suit against J. Henry Helser and Company, Pacific Coast investment counseling firm.

The hearings are on a request by Helser to dismiss the 1954 Securities and Exchange Commission "fraud" suit which accused the firm of false dealings with its clients. The company also sought dismissal of an interlocutory order issued by Goodman in April, 1955.

Robert E. Burns, Helser's attorney, told the judge Friday that his order had a "serious" effect on the "morale" of Helser employees and clients. He said the order also had been used by competitive firms as "sales device against us."

During most of Friday's session, SEC attorney F. E. Kennamer Jr., put into the record letters to clients in which, he said, the company had violated the 1955 undertaking. He also charged that Helser had been guilty of misrepresentation since the company was placed under court order.

MIDDLE EAST FIGHTING LIKELY—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sits informally on edge of desk as he talks with members of combined Senate foreign relations and armed services committee as he appeared to testify for second day on the "Eisenhower Doctrine." At left is Senator Estes Kefauver. Dulles said there is "very great likelihood" the U. S. will have to fight in the Middle East if Congress refuses to approve the Doctrine. He encountered considerable skepticism from Democratic members. Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, "frightened" by the Doctrine, said he plans to question Secretary Dulles at length about the Doctrine.

Special Officer Schools Scheduled

Vancouver Barracks, Wash.—Special officer candidate schools for Army reservists will be opened next summer, it has been announced.

The nine-week infantry school will include two courses at Fort Benning, Ga., and an 11-week artillery course at Fort Sill, Okla.

The new program offers Army reserve warrant officers and non-commissioned officers opportunity for officer candidate schooling comparable to those offered by the National Guard.

Reservists selected must be between 18½ and 27 years old. Other qualifications include a passing grade in the Army's aptitude test and evidence of satisfactory completion of six months active duty for training in the Armed Forces.

An alternate plan to the latter requirement is satisfactory participation for two years in an organized unit of the ready reserve.

Additional information can be obtained from the unit advisor, Army reserve, 33 North Riverside ave., Medford.

TO ACTIVE DUTY

Three local Naval reservists reported to Seattle Jan. 6 for three years in the regular Navy after requesting active duty, according to the Navy reserve advisor in Medford.

They are LaVerne L. Parks, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Parks, Ashland; Theodore J. Silver, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Silver, Ashland; and Ramon G. Elbert, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Elbert, 655 Pine st., Medford.

Parks and Silver will be stationed aboard ship at Norfolk, Va., and Elbert will attend a service school in San Diego.

TO GERMANY

Army Pvt. James R. Gandee, 19, whose wife lives in Ashland, is one of 2,100 replacements en route to Germany to join the 10th infantry division.

Gandee entered the Army in July, 1956, and received basic training at Ft. Ord, Calif. He attended Ashland High school.

IN GERMANY

Specialist Third Class Dan R. Goin, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Goin, Phoenix, is a member of a tank platoon in the Army's 57th battalion's company B in a Bad Kreuznach, Germany. He entered the Army in December, 1954, and previously was stationed at Ft. Hood, Tex.

TO GERMANY

They include Norman R. Otton, whose wife, Patricia, lives at 399 Morton st., Ashland; Carl E. Christian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Christian, Eagle Point; and Richard A. Dittmanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dittmanson, 602 North Riverside ave., Medford.

Driller Strikes Oil Near Izee Last Week

Izee — (U.P.) — An official of the Seneca Oil company confirmed Saturday that an oil shale strike had been made near Izee earlier this week by a Grant county wildcat oil driller.

W. J. Griffith, president of the company, cautioned, however, that the well is not yet producing and that its potential capacity has not been determined.

Frank Kendall, the driller, reported that he struck oil shale in a test drilling and tests of the shale indicated the strike to be "very good."

He said the strike was the first ever reported in Oregon and that further geological tests "promised a good sized" oil field in the locality.

Senator Asks Study On Ban of Gillnetting

Washington — (U.P.) — Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) Saturday asked the Senate Commerce committee to look into the possible need for federal laws to ban gillnet fishing for salmon in the Pacific ocean off the West Coast.

The Oregon senator, in a letter to Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.) committee chairman, said offshore gillnetting "threatens the very existence" of salmon runs in coastal streams.

Oregon, Washington and California are considering state legislation to outlaw offshore gillnetting, but Neuberger said there might be aspects of the problem which could not be met by state laws.
