

Modern Design New Trend in Church Buildings

By LOUIS CASSELS

Washington—(U.P.)—After a record $775 million was spent during 1956 for new and enlarged churches, synagogues, Sunday school buildings, and other religious edifices, government experts predict 1957 will bring the biggest church building boom in history.

The church building boom is the concrete-and-steel expression of an equally phenomenal increase in church membership. The latest figures compiled by the Yearbook of American Churches mostly for the calendar year 1955 showed church membership at an all-time high of more than 100 million, an increase of more than 50 per cent since 1940.

Sunday school enrollment also has been climbing rapidly, from 30 million in 1950 to 39 million in 1955. The tidal wave of children, particularly in suburban congregations, has been a main source of the pressure on churches to expand their physical facilities.

A large majority of the new churches to be built in 1957 will go up in suburban areas. The upsurge in church membership has been predominantly concentrated in the suburbs, while many downtown and rural churches have been struggling for existence.

Another characteristic which many of the new crop of churches will have in common is modern design. Until a few years ago, the bald, bold lines of contemporary architecture were rarely seen in houses of worship. Traditional styles—mainly gothic, colonial and Georgian—were widely regarded as the only "appropriate" architecture for churches.

Now the trend is running strongly toward modern design, both because of the construction economics which it usually offers, and also because of a growing conviction that churches should speak in the language of their age, architecturally as well as otherwise.

Annual Dinner Set For February 2 At Church of Brethren

The annual "ground hog" dinner of the Church of the Brethren will be held again this year on the evening of Ground Hog day, Saturday, Feb. 2, at 6 p.m. The event is sponsored by the women of the church and the public is invited.

A special price is made each year to family groups.

The dinner, held each year on Ground Hog day, is a special event of the church and a sausage menu is served. The church is hopeful that special guests of the evening will be the Leewenburgh family, a dutch family being sponsored by the church. The expected arrival date being Jan. 31.

EVENING SERVICES

The evening service at the First Presbyterian church for adults and young people will be held at 7 p.m. in Fellowship hall. The Freshman Fellowship will conduct the worship and the Rev. John O.
