

Seven of the nine women who recently were given service award pins at Rogue Valley Memorial hospital are shown above with the Rt. Rev. Benjamin D. Dagwell, Portland, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Oregon and chairman of the hospital board of directors. The bishop made the presentation at the annual meeting of the auxiliary. Each woman has given at least 100 hours of service. Front row, left to right, are Mrs. Elwood

B. Hedberg, Mrs. V. Ward Hammond, Mrs. Martin E. Sands, Mrs. Shelby M. Tuttle, Miss Jane Snedcor, and Bishop Dagwell. Behind them, examining one of the certificates given to 48 additional auxiliary members, are Mrs. John P. Moffat and Mrs. Otto J. Frohnmayer. Pins were also awarded to Mrs. Ralph Norris and Mrs. Claude E. McIntyre who were unable to attend the meeting.

Hospital Auxiliary Officers Elected

Mrs. George Pitts was elected president of Rogue Valley Memorial Hospital auxiliary at the annual meeting of the group last Friday afternoon in the hospital penthouse. Other officers elected for the current year are Mrs. Edward P. Barnett, vice president; Mrs. John Winton, secretary; and Mrs. C. Elwood Hedberg who will serve her second term as treasurer.

The new officers have appointed Mrs. Claude C. McIntyre chairman of the groups working in the hospital, and Mrs. Glenn Bessonette will head the auxiliary staff services. Individual groups met and elected leaders as follows: sewing, Mrs. John P. Moffat; flower arranging, Mrs. B. L. Lageson; hospitality cart, Mrs. John Price; and surgery supplies, Mrs. Grace Collins.

Mrs. Bessonette announced reappointment of Mrs. Jack Sanborn who will have charge of youth groups which provide holiday tray favors for hospital patients; Mrs. Roberta Daniels, radio and television; and Mrs. Elwood B. Hedberg, newspaper publicity.

Miss B. J. Larsen, hospital administrator, addressed the members and introduced Bishop Benjamin D. Dagwell, Portland, president of the Rogue Valley Memorial Hospital board of directors. The bishop stated that the board wished to give recognition to auxiliary members who have performed notable service for the hospital, in accordance with the recommendation of the National Hospital association.

Pins denoting at least 100 hours of voluntary service were given to Mrs. Shelby M. Tuttle, Mrs. V. Ward Hammond, Mrs. John P. Moffat, Miss Jane Snedcor, Mrs. Otto J. Frohnmayer, Mrs. Martin E. Sands, Mrs. Claude E. McIntyre, Mrs. Ralph Norris and Mrs. Elwood B. Hedberg.

Mrs. Tuttle, who has served as president of the auxiliary since its organization in September, 1954, was given a special past president's pin.

Certificates were presented to 48 additional women who have given "faithful service in behalf of the hospital." Bishop Dagwell was assisted in the presentation by the Rev. George R. V. Bolsler, vice president of the hospital board, and rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church in Medford.

Mrs. Tuttle, who presided at the meeting, announced that the auxiliary board has ordered a two-way radio communication unit to be kept at the hospital and used in the event of disaster anywhere in the area. The unit was ordered in response to a request by Dr. J. C. Luce, medical director for Jackson County civil defense, and involves an expenditure of $300, part of which will be repaid by the federal and state civil defense agencies.

Additional volunteer workers are needed for a stenographic pool being organized by the auxiliary, Mrs. Tuttle added. These women will be called on occasionally to assist the hospital staff in preparing mimeographed correspondence and other work. Anyone interested in joining any of the auxiliary groups is asked to contact the new president, Mrs. Pitts, NO-4-2202 or the vice president, Mrs. Barnett, 2-9086.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Women Dominate Styles for Men. Says Consultant

By UNITED PRESS

Women dominate men's styles as well as their own, says Mrs. Edith Heckman, a men's fashion consultant. Mrs. Heckman, who does out style advice in the men's clothing department at Hess Brothers, Allentown, Pa., cited a couple of examples of this feminine influence on what males wear.

"When women were sporting . . . wide-padded shoulders and long suit jackets a decade ago, so were the men," she said. "Now that women have turned to soft, rounded shoulders and a more natural look, the men have followed suit."

Mrs. Heckman has found that most women, if they have the final say, want their men in conservative clothes. But sometimes, she added, the women are not the boss. She told of one couple who got into a first-class hassle about purchase of an expensive cashmere coat. The husband wanted the cashmere. His wife more budget-minded, wanted him to choose something less costly.

"We'll finish this argument at home," said the husband. He walked out with the cashmere.

Designer Cell Chapman says that present world tension probably will usher in an era of "sex appeal" clothes, a la Jean Harlow.

"I look for form-fitting silhouettes, shimmering and clinging fabrics, bright colors, and lots of glitter," said the designer. "We are in a 'peace in our time' period, and women's clothes are bound to reflect the restless, tense and yet determinedly hopeful outlook."

Some of the new nightgowns look more like ball gowns. They are that fancy. Lingerie designers incorporate such evening gown features as floating panels, drap and color contrast to give this undercover apparel the look of a formal. One gown, in nylon tricot, features a panel which can be draped over the shoulders as a stole.

Knitwear Comes In Prison Stripes; Stockings Grey

By UNITED PRESS

All that's missing is the number. A new collection of Alamac knit sportswear features tapered pants, skirts and shirts in bold prison stripes of black and white, or red and white. The manufacturer also features a cotton jersey skirt, in multi-color stripes, which can be worn also as a beach cape. Secret of its versatility is a solid color ribbing at the top. The ribbing serves as a belt when the garment is worn as a skirt, or as neckline when worn as a cape.

Chic Parisian women are wearing the palest of grey stockings for dress-up occasions. It's just part of the overall accent on grey for midday's legs, says one fashion observer, who adds that a greenish, iridescent grey also is featured for cocktail wear.

Grey promises to be a leading color for handbags, come spring. The Leather Industries of America said other popular tones include the beige family and such off-beat shades as curry, saffron, mustard or ochre.
