11 Crewmen Jump From Patrol Bomber

Winslow, Ariz.— (U.P.) — Only one airman was injured when 11 crew members of a Navy patrol bomber parachuted to safety seconds before their plane crashed and burned in a snow storm, it was reported today.

The two-engine P2V "Neptune" crashed about 25 miles east of here Sunday night while on a flight from Los Alamitos, Calif., air station to Hutchinson, Kan., when it developed engine trouble. Icy conditions from the storm also were believed to have hampered the flight of the Navy bomber.

Navajo county sheriff's deputies reported that the 11 crew members all were found alive, but that one man was suffering from an apparent broken leg. There was no immediate identification of the crew members.

The "mountain" of Douglas fir and West Coast hemlock chips at Port Townsend is really a range— or a mesa with humps and peaks on wide plateaus which fleets of dump trucks have built up to a height of 60 feet and more.

The editor of "Pulp and Paper," Albert W. Wilson, reports estimates of 80,000 units of chips in storage — an amount of wood equivalent to 30,000,000 board feet of logs — or 80,000 cords of pulpwood. He writes:

"Two ferry boats and an evergreen wilderness highway bring you to Crown Zellerbach's Port Townsend kraft pulp and paper mill . . . When you roll down the hill to the mill at tidewater, you see a sight which is not duplicated anywhere else in the pulp and paper world. Here to greet you is a million-dollar, man-made mountain of wood chips . . ."

With the Crown Zellerbach mill producing 425 tons a day of kraft board, kraft wrapping and kraft bag papers, the storage piles of 80,000 units of chips would keep the plant running for three months. Refined bag manufacturing has been added to the operation.

Sawmill Leftovers

The mountain of wood chips at Port Townsend, fattened by daily barges of chips from the big Pope and Talbot mill at Port Gamble, and by shipments of chips from 25 other sawmills, represents industrial forest conservation at its best in the North Pacific world of today.

Editor Wilson of "Pulp and Paper" gives this picture of Western Washington forest conservation in progress:

"Port Townsend is running . . . . 99.7 per cent on imported chips from sawmill 'waste' on an annual basis. In Ocean Falls, B. C., St. Helens, Oregon, and Elk Falls, B. C., at least 50 per cent of the production in each mill is from sawmill chips.

"At Camas, Wash., more than 30 per cent is made from this material. Obviously, a large proportion of the paper now being produced by Crown Zellerbach Corporation is a product of wood leftovers, slabs, edgings, trim that used to be burned."

The Magic Market

"For all this production, not a single tree has to be cut that wasn't already felled for some other purpose. Now that Port Townsend is almost wholly supplied by sawlog leftovers, it is getting wood from prime logs; it is also getting more sapwood. Both factors are important in upgrading chip quality."

At all points of woodpulp and paper production on the Olympic Peninsula, farm woodland owners are provided with markets for their pulpwood crops. So tree farming is given a money incentive, even as utilization is advanced in sawmills and plywood plants and on all logging operations. Permanent pulp markets encourage investments by forest owners, public and private, large and small, in long-term tree growing projects. Increasing forest payrolls impress the forest-using public with the need to stop fire on recreation trails.

This is conservation of the highest order, within Theodore Roosevelt's terms of "wise use" of resources.

Stassen Sees Herter As More Help to GOP

Washington—(U.P.)—Harold E. Stassen said Sunday he believes Republicans could have captured control of the Senate and House if Gov. Christian A. Herter had been the GOP vice presidential candidate instead of Richard M. Nixon.

Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, also said Herter's name on the ticket would have won more governorships and local elections for the GOP.

Stassen led an unsuccessful drive to dump Nixon for Herter in 1956.

He refused to speculate on the possibility of a race between Nixon and Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination.

Neuberger Raps State Jobless Fund

Washington— (U.P.) —Oregon's unemployment compensation fund was described yesterday as "one of the five worst in the country," by Sen. Richard L. Neuberger.

The junior Oregon senator said he had been informed by Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell that the fund has reached a "perilous condition."

Neuberger laid blame for the fund's present status on recent state administrations and termed the decline in the reserve fund from which unemployment checks come as "the result of an unemployment tax structure which has yielded less in income than was paid in benefits in seven of the last eight years."

Neuberger said the situation should be given immediate study, right at the start of Gov. Robert Holmes' administration so that voters in the future will know that he is in no way responsible for the situation.

The senator urged the state legislature, now in session, to pass remedial legislation and adjust rate schedules "consistent with the drain upon the fund."

Mitchell's report came in response to a request made by Neuberger. The senator had asked the report during a study of what he termed "the economic crisis confronting many sections of my state."
