

District Rating Is Explained By Superintendent

Eagle Point—Glenn Hale, superintendent of schools, spoke at the January 22 meeting of Eagle Point Elementary Parent-Teacher association. Mr. Hale explained that Eagle Point School District 9 will become a first class district July 1. Under the law the district will now be eligible to be removed, by a vote of the people, from the Jackson County Rural School Board under which it has been operating as a second class district.

Thursday, January 31, a special election will be held from 2 to 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium for the purpose of voting on the removal question. Mr. Hale emphasized that this does not have any effect on athletic competition. The school will compete with the same schools in the 4-2 division. It does mean that tax money from the district will all remain in the district, he said, whereas under the Rural School board it was under a tax money equalization program.

Mrs. Harry Hanscom reported that the health committee working with the Jackson County Health Association, had given 462 Salk vaccine shots January 16.

David Harrison, safety chairman, presented a film on safety in the home, and explained the school safety patrol system.

Cesar Muzzoli presented the Eagle Point accordion band students in a program. Mrs. Hazel Atkins, third grade room received the penny drill room count. Mothers of pupils in the fourth grade served refreshments.

Student Speaks For Zonta Club

Clubs which make it possible for young people to learn about their government through programs such as Girl's State are providing a great service said Mrs. Robert Ayres, (Mildred Weaver), Medford High school senior, in a talk to Zonta club Thursday. Mrs. Ayres, whose expenses to Girl's State in Salem last year were paid by the Zonta club, said delegates learned about the functioning of government from the county to state level. The girls were elected as representatives and senators, then presented, passed or vetoed several bills. Mrs. Paul Patterson, wife of the late Governor Patterson, was extremely helpful in explaining state government procedures, the speaker said. In touring the state capital building, Mrs. Ayres told the club she was particularly impressed with the senate.

Mrs. Oletha Olson, service chairman of Zonta, gave a final report on the Christmas gifts of food, toys and clothing for a large family and said the club will continue to aid the family by supplementing the children's milk requirements.

Bacteriostat Age Next in America

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Correspondent

New York — (UP) — Americans, who already claim the world record for cleanliness, are about to go ourselves one better. Dawning before us is the "bacteriostat age," in which chemistry takes over to surround us with germ retarders.

This means, say a couple of leaders in the manufacture of bacteriostats, that much of our clothing will have finishes which prevent perspiration odor, and can take repeated washings and still be germ retarding.

Baby's toys will be sanitary, despite repeated chewing and tossing on the floor. Even the paint on the walls, the rugs on the floor will be doing their part to make life one of sanitary bliss.

Lawrence Iason, president of Sanitized Sales company, said he foresees the day when paper, leather, plastics, rubber and just about every fabric including the synthetics will be bacteriostatic.

This means they will be given antiseptic finishes during the manufacturing process, to inhibit the growth of bacteria and other micro-organisms which cause odor, mildew or discoloration.

"Within a year," said Iason, "every person in the country will come into contact with materials which have been sanitized."

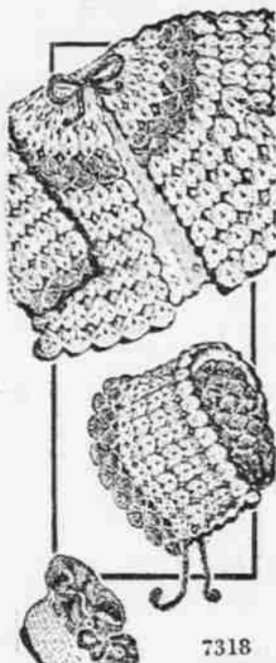

But, he explained, we will be aware of such finishes only because of the label. He said the chemicals used are colorless, non-inflammable, and will not affect the finish, texture or color of any material. The federal government also has okayed use of the term "nontoxic and non-irritating," he said.

Bear Creek was originally Stuart creek and should still be so, since it was named in honor of Colonel Stuart, he said.

The name Medford cannot be definitely determined, the speaker said, but added that J. A. Loring, an early pioneer, believed that it was derived from its location between Bear and Jackson creek — namely "middle ford."

Carter, delegates from Crater Lake chapter elected are Mrs. Edward C. Root, Mrs. R. E. Green, Mrs. M. M. Morris, Mrs. Ray K. Bailey, Mrs. C. O. Lovejoy and Mrs. J. L. Houck.
