

Hungarian Puppet Premier Declares Fight Not Over

Vienna—(U.P.)—Puppet Premier Janos Kadar admitted widespread anti-Communist hostility among Hungarians today and warned the "fight for power" in the East European satellite is not yet over.

Western observers feared Kadar's remarks indicated a further tightening of the Communist yoke on Hungary and the possible acceleration of the terror practices on the Red police-state.

Speech Excerpts Broadcast
Budapest radio broadcast excerpts of a speech made by Kadar at a meeting of the Hungarian Socialist Communist Workers Party organization in a district of Budapest.

The Premier, who was forced on Hungarian people by Soviet guns, said the October freedom-from-Moscow uprising was a "fight for power in Hungary which still goes on."

"Our main task is to strengthen the unity of the working class," he said. "Therefore we must cooperate with the former Social Democrats, and establish, together with them, a united workers front," Kadar said.

'Many Mistakes' Cited
Kadar said the Stalinist regime of Matyas Rakosi made "many mistakes." But he urged Hungarians not to listen to the "enemy who is trying to make them bigger than they were."

Observers here said Kadar's speech was an open admission of Communist weakness in Hungary. They said Kadar practically announced the failure of his campaign to establish a strong new Communist Party to replace the organization virtually wiped out during the revolt.

Willamette Observes 115th Anniversary

Salem—(U.P.)—The oldest university west of Missouri, Willamette, celebrates its 115th anniversary tomorrow.

Willamette, a Methodist sponsored institution, had its beginning in 1834 when Jason Lee founded a mission school for Indian children.

On Feb. 1, 1842, a board of trustees was named and a constitution adopted for a new school, The Oregon Institute, for white children.

From a beginning with one faculty member and five students, the university today has more than 1100 students enrolled and a faculty of 100.

Eugene, Salem Talk Transit Troubles

Salem—(U.P.)—City officials of Eugene and Salem were slated to confer here today on the mounting financial difficulties which have beset City Transit Lines, operators of bus service in both cities.

Carl Wendt, manager of the line here, said that recent curtailment of Sunday and night schedules in both cities has not solved the transit system's problems.

Some 20 officials of the cities were scheduled to attend the meeting.

Defense Airs Case At The Dalles Trial

The Dalles—(U.P.)—The defense started presenting its case here today in the second-degree murder trial of 20-year-old Eugene Calvin Hatch of Yakima, Wash.

The youth is accused of the knife slaying of Walter Freeborn, elderly Great Falls, Mont., salesman while the two were parked here overnight in Freeborn's house trailer last year.

The state rested its case late yesterday after Circuit Judge Malcolm Wilkinson ruled that two controversial statements signed by the youth at the time of his arrest were admissible as evidence in the case.
