Young Farmers Plan To Give Scholarship

The Jackson County Young Farmers group has announced it will present a $195 college scholarship this year to a boy in the county who will have graduated from high school by this June, and who plans to study agriculture in college.

Recipient of the scholarship need not be a 1957 high school graduate, but must have a high school diploma, it was explained. The award will be presented on such basis as the boy's financial need and desire to follow a career in agriculture.

Funds Raised
The Young Farmers have raised funds for the scholarship through such activities as a food booth, which the group sponsored at the county fair.

At a meeting Monday night, members heard LeRoy Ogbenbacher, Applegate, describe a low-water bridge he has just finished building.

The bridge, he said, is designed to prevent destruction by high water. It stands four feet above normal water stage and is mounted on 18-inch beams sealed in concrete.

6 Inches Higher
Downstream end of the bridge is six inches higher than the upstream end. He explained that the downstream flow water exerts downward pressure on the bridge to prevent buoyancy of debris or force of the stream current from tearing out the beams when the bridge is covered with water.

This design, he said, is used for bridges over South American rivers, where flash floods are common and bridge destruction had been extensive prior to use of this type of construction.

Student Speaks
Also participating in the program was Robert Lichti, Crater High school Future Farmers of America chapter member, speak on "Urea, The New Artificial Protein."

Lichti won the Crater High FFA speaking contest last month and will compete in the Rogue-Umpqua district contest in Roseburg on Feb. 18.

Much of Nation Doused by Rain

By UNITED PRESS
Rain doused much of the nation and fog lingered over the eastern sections of the country today.

The wet weather pattered across a swath of land from the Mississippi Valley eastward through the Ohio valley and Tennessee to the Atlantic Coast. Thunderstorms crackled over the Southern Plains and ranged as far east as the Mississippi Valley. Occasional showers dampened the Northern and Central Pacific Coast, also.

Misty air loitered over an area that extended to the East Coast from Northern Texas to Northern Illinois.

A chunk of cold air swept from the Northern Plains into the Northern Great Lakes region, and sent snow flurries swirling over the lakes states. The Northern Rockies and parts of the Central Plateau were also visited by flurries.

Snow fell across Idaho, eastward through Montana and into North Dakota Wednesday, but amounts were not heavy. Temperatures climbed as much as 15 degrees higher than the previous day's reading in many spots from the Great Lakes to Northern New England. Early today the temperatures averaged in the 30s in those areas. Night-time weather reached the 70-degree mark in Florida, but halted in the 60's elsewhere along the Gulf Coast region.

CJ Residents Seek Lower Electric Rates

Cave Junction—In an effort to get lower electric rates, 75 consumers residing in Cave Junction have petitioned the mayor and city council to refuse extension of California Oregon Power company's franchise for a longer term than one year.

It was said if the council acts favorably on the petition the company's present franchise, which expires in a few months, will not be renewed for a longer period until its rates are adjusted to correspond with those of other southern Oregon communities.

The Democratic club of Illinois Valley held a public meeting Monday to discuss electric rates in the valley as a whole. Ken Priest, public relations man for Coos-Curry Electric co-op, was principle speaker.

The incorporated limits of Cave Junction comprises only a small portion of the population of this area. It is estimated that approximately 300 reside within the limits while more than 1,500 live on the outskirts of town.

Prosecution Nearing End in Bridges Case
San Rafael, Calif.—(U.P.)—District Attorney William O. Westrich neared the end of his case today in the trial of two Southern California seamen accused of assaulting longshore leader Harry Bridges in a Sausalito restaurant.

Wednesday, Sally Stanford, well-known Bay Area nightlife figure, testified that she heard a disturbance in the vicinity of the men's room of her restaurant last Sept. 21.

She said she rushed there in time to see Fred Reppine, 35, and Donald C. Hansen, 23, both of San Pedro, kicking the longshore leader.

Later both Hansen and Reppine took the stand and admitted brawling with Bridges, but insisted that they did not recognize him as the leader of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

Speidel's pending appointment as successor to Gen. Marcel Carpentier of France had been reported unofficially for some weeks. He is the first German to hold a high military post in NATO.

German General Named Central Europe Leader
Paris—(U.P.)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization organization announced today the official appointment of West German Lt. Gen. Hans Speidel as commander of the allied land forces in Central Europe.

Speidel's pending appointment as successor to Gen. Marcel Carpentier of France had been reported unofficially for some weeks. He is the first German to hold a high military post in NATO.

Lewis Bright Entered In Speech Contest
Salem—Lewis Bright of Medford, a junior at Willamette university majoring in speech and drama, is the university's entrant in the annual state Experimental Speaking contest Feb. 14 at Oregon State college.

The contest will take the form of a television speech on the subject of a great orator of the contestant's choice. Bright has selected Robert Ingersoll, famed lecturer and orator of the 19th century.

Other colleges and universities participating in the contest will be Lewis and Clark, Linfield, George Fox, Portland State, Northwest Christian, Oregon State, University of Portland and University of Oregon.

Newsprint Price Increase Announced
San Francisco—(U.P.)—Crown Zellerbach Corp. announced today it is increasing the price of newsprint $4 a ton effective March 1.

Vice President C. E. Young said the increase would bring the price of newsprint sold by the corporation, principal supplier of consumers in the West, to $135 a ton.

The increase followed similar price hikes by the U.S. International Paper Co. and several Canadian companies.

Young said it was necessary to raise the price because of increased costs of labor, wood, fuel, transportation and other materials.

CHILDREN TRAPPED IN FLAMING HOUSE—Intense heat and flames turned back neighbors and firemen attempting to rescue four small children from this house during a flash fire that completely consumed the structure in Hayward, Calif. Their mother, Mrs. Marie Riller, had gone next door (right), which is also burning, to borrow a cigarette. A faulty gas pipe leading to the kitchen stove, the only source of heat, was blamed.

Morse Introduces School Aid Bill

Washington—(U.P.)—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) introduced a bill today which would provide $1 billion annually in aid for school districts "without any strings attached."

Morse offered the bill as an alternative to the administration's bill which proposes a four-year, $2.2 billion program of federal aid for school construction. He described the administration plan as "too little and too late."

Under his plan, Morse said, school districts could use their federal aid "as needed for salaries, maintenance, books or new facilities" eliminating "any possibility of federal control."

Former Rep. Velde Named in Divorce Suit
Las Vegas—(U.P.)—Former Rep. Harold Velde (R-Ill.) has been sued for divorce by his wife, Dolores, on the ground of mental cruelty.

Mrs. Velde, 40, filed suit for divorce Wednesday. The Veldes were married Dec. 8, 1945 at Baltimore and separated last October when she came here.

Velde, 46, served four terms in the House before deciding not to seek reelection last year. He was chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee in 1953-54.

Southern Pacific Sells American Airline Tickets
San Francisco—(U.P.)—American Airlines passengers in six West and Southwest states will be able to buy their tickets at Southern Pacific stations next week under a plan announced by the two firms Wednesday.

The service will start Feb. 12 in more than 200 towns in Arizona, California, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon and Texas where the airline does not have offices.

Eighty-Five Herefords Due For Sale Here on March 14

Forty-five bulls and 40 heifers have been selected for auction at the annual Cal-Ore Hereford sale scheduled for March 14 at the Jackson county fairgrounds, according to Earle Jossy, county agriculture agent.

Jossy and John Landers, livestock specialist for Oregon State college, inspected the animals in Klamath, Josephine, Siskiyou and Clatsop counties last week. Polled Herefords.

Jossy said one-third of the animals to be auctioned at the sale will be polled Herefords. He added that a number of congenes for the Oregon Polled Hereford association sale, which will not be held this year, have been consigned to the Cal-Ore sale. He said this will assure a greater than usual number of high quality animals at the sale.

The Herefords will be shown on March 13, the day preceding the sale. John Horton of the Horton Hereford ranch near Klamath Falls will be judge at the show. Ellis White of Ontario will be auctioneer at the sale.

During the sale a $200 purebred heifer calf will be presented to a 4-H club member or a Future of America who is present and accompanied by a parent or guardian. Other special prizes are also planned. Jossy said.

Use of Machines Factor in Mastitis

Improper use of milking machines is a primary cause of mastitis among livestock, according to Dr. O. W. Schalm, professor of veterinary medicine at the University of California agriculture college, Davis, Calif.

Dr. Schalm spoke to about 60 Jackson and Josephine county dairymen at a meeting Monday in Jerome Prairie, west of Grants Pass. His topic was "Mastitis in Dairy Cattle."

Dr. Schalm recommended use of small diameter rubber liners for teat cups on milking machines. He also urged dairymen to remove the machines as soon as milking is completed.

Attending the meeting from Jackson county were Dr. E. M. Hanway, Central Point veterinarian; Keith Hockersmith, Central Point, field man for the Jackson county range co-op; Victor Birdseye, Medford; Glenn Birdseye, Rogue River; Aubrey Wisdom, Medford; and Earle Jossy, Eagle Point county agriculture agent.

Grange Notes

GRANGE COUNTY CONFERENCE
At the County Conference to be held Saturday, Feb. 9, in the Central Point Grange hall there will be group meetings of the Pomona officers with the subordinate Grange officers. State officers also will be present and floor work will be demonstrated.

Cash prizes are being offered by both Pomona and State Granges for attendance of officers from the individual granges, as was done last year.

Prizes in the Champion Grange contest, details of which were recently mailed to all Grange Masters in the county, will be announced at the meeting. Any questions concerning the contest will be gladly answered by the Pomona officers. It is important that all attend this conference to get the new year started well.

All ladies attending are to bring sandwiches or cookies. Members of all granges are invited, whether officers or not.

Newspaper Delivery Men Vote To End Strike
New York—(U.P.)—Newspaper delivery men voted Wednesday night to end a six-day strike against 31 wholesale distributors that partially disrupted deliveries of newspapers and magazines in New York City and its suburbs.

The strike ended when members of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union (independent) voted by hand to accept a $9 weekly wage-welfare package—the identical offer rejected by the union last week, thus touching off the strike.
