Holmes Proclaims 'Muster Days' for National Guard

Governor Robert D. Holmes has proclaimed Feb. 22 to 24 as "National Guard Muster Days" and urged Oregon residents to assist National Guardsmen in enlisting new members into the Guard.

All Oregon National Guard units will participate in the second annual nationwide recruiting drive, according to Maj. Gen. Thomas E. Rilea, Oregon's adjutant general.

Purpose of the campaign, Rilea said, is to fill National Guard ranks with eligible young men who are willing to take the six months active duty for training as proposed by the department of defense starting April 1.

Arrangements have been made with Sixth Army officials permitting Oregon Guardsmen to take the first eight weeks of basic training together in two "Oregon companies" of 150 men each who would report for training at Ford Ord, Calif., as an organization, he said.

Rilea said the first Oregon company is scheduled to leave for Ford Ord in March for training. A second Oregon company will leave shortly after school is out in June, he said.

Rilea said incentives now available to men enlisting in the National Guard include: The six months training will not be mandatory for those who enlist prior to April 1; men up to 26-years-old are eligible for six months training and when training is complete may be deferred by selective service as long as they attend army drill and summer camp; and automatic reduction in the total amount of ready reserve service required upon completion of six months active duty training ranging from five to six years. Previously ready reserve requirements totaled eight years.

Last year's "Muster Days" netted the Oregon National Guard more than 1,034 new enlistments, placing the state second highest in the nation in total strength gains, according to Rilea.

Stock List Meets Support

New York—(U.P.)—Stocks met support again today at the same levels where it developed in five periods of 1956.

Prices came back in all sections. Some issues managed to rise above the previous close. Oils joined the recovery despite a government move to investigate alleged antitrust violations by oil companies in raising prices.

House bill 319 proposes a 4 per cent tax on production of minerals taken from the soil or water in Oregon, and House bill 214 proposes a 12 1/2 per cent severance tax on any timber sold from newly patented claims.

A committee composed of Le-Rue Morris, Bob Morton, Henry G. Schnack, Bruce J. Manley and W. L. Coombs was appointed to study House bill 319 and contact other mining organizations.

Monthly Reports
Under the proposed bill, producers of oil, gas, sand, gravel, rock, agate, and all other minerals must file a monthly report which would include description of the property, the county in which the product was produced, the gross market of each product, the kind and grade of each, the amount saved, to whom any product was sold and the sales price, the market value at the time and point of production, and the names of producers and the proportional share of each, and any other information which "the commission shall deem necessary to determine the market value of any product produced, the amount of tax and the liability for the tax."

The bill also provides that every producer file a return semi-annually showing gross yield and net proceeds from each product.

Mining council members expressed the opinion that mineral development was dependent upon a favorable political climate, and that the bill as drawn will virtually eliminate mineral development in Oregon.

Rearing of Child Leads To Shootings

Portland—(U.P.)—A disagreement over the rearing of a two-year-old boy apparently led to the murder suicide death of two Portland women Wednesday.

Killed in the dispute were Mrs. Pearl Johnson, about 50, and her 24-year-old daughter-in-law, Mrs. Douglas L. Johnson. Police discovered the bodies of the two women in the basement of the elder woman's home. Both had been shot with a .38-caliber pistol.

Officers said the older woman apparently shot her daughter-in-law, then turned the gun on herself. In the interim she had telephoned a relative.

Notes found in the home indicated Mrs. Johnson was unhappy with the way her daughter-in-law was rearing her two-year-old son.
