State Department Stops Ballet Tour

San Francisco — (U.P.) — San Francisco ballet lovers are fighting mad at the State department and they want President Eisenhower to know about it.

Mrs. William S. Bayless, president of the San Francisco Ballet guild, said she'd go to the state's congressional delegation, and to President Eisenhower, if necessary, to get the situation corrected.

The State department cancelled a successful around the world tour of the San Francisco Ballet because the company was $60,000 short of traveling funds, as the result of an error.

The State department is sponsoring the tour under its cultural exchange program, but has refused to make up the shortage.

The 30-member company, now in Singapore, was told to cut the tour off after completing its performances in Colombo, Ceylon, February 25. The tour was scheduled to include India, Pakistan, Iran and Greenland.

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher sent a telegram to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Saturday asking for a solution to the dilemma. But Sunday Mrs. Bayless said the mayor had done all he could, so she leveled her sights even higher.

"I am sure we will try to reach the President and California's two senators and our congressmen," she said.

She called the episode a "black eye" in State department relations with other countries.

"We make commitments and don't keep them," she added.

Luncheon Benefits Eagle Point PTA; Events Announced

Eagle Point—A dessert luncheon and card party to benefit the Eagle Point Elementary Parent-Teacher association was served by Mrs. Harold Jaffrey and Mrs. Jack Love, February 4 at the home of Mrs. Jaffrey, Camp White.

Decorations and dessert were in the valentine motif. Five tables of bridge and canasta were in play. Mrs. Jack Mitchell, Medford, held the high bridge score and Mrs. Ted Nicholson, Camp White, high canasta score. Mrs. Ralph Puffin won another prize.

The mothers' discussion group of Eagle Point Elementary PTA will meet Tuesday, February 12, at 1:30 p.m. in Darrell Copeland's room. Discussion on the films, "Frustrating Fours and Fascinating Fives," and "Food as Children See It" will be led by Mrs. Harold Hanscom.

Eagle Point Elementary PTA is sponsoring recreation for adults Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the elementary school gymnasium. Men and women interested in volleyball may join the group Thursday, February 14.

Nurses Needed For Two Courses

Two training courses are being offered to nurses who wish to volunteer for work with the Red Cross bloodmobile. It was announced today. Mrs. Loree Phillips, nurse recruiter for the blood bank, is in charge of plans to supply local additional trained help in this program.

The first class will be given at the Red Cross office Tuesday, February 12, from 1 to 5 p.m. The class on medical history taken from donors, will prepare nurses for the bloodmobile visit February 13.

The next class, to be held at a later date, will teach venipuncture technique, which is said to be essential for civil defense as well as bloodmobile work.

The classes will be conducted by an instructor from the Red Cross regional office in Portland. Sacred Heart hospital and the Camp White hospital each plan to send a staff nurse to take the classes as their contribution to the civil defense preparedness program.

Two Women Join Talent Gardeners

Talent — Two new members were accepted by Talent Garden club at the last meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Glen Mosser. Mrs. Charles Holdridge and Mrs. John Spangler were hostesses for dessert luncheon.

The new members are Mrs. C. S. Barrett and Mrs. George Johnson. Plans for helping beautify the grounds at Camp White were discussed. Mrs. A. C. Lewis of Phoenix presented a program on driftwood. She exhibited many pieces.

Next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Leon Lockwood.

Guild Supper

St. Catherine's guild will hold a valentine buffet supper tonight in the Guild hall of St. Mark's Episcopal church, with husbands of members as guests. Supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Walter T. Tomlin is general chairman.

Frenchman Advises On Perfume

By GAY PAULEY United Press Correspondent New York—(U.P.)—Too many American women are turning up their noses at perfume, says one leader in the toilet goods industry.

A little more splash-on would improve our come-on, said Pierre Harang.

"Look who buys most of the perfume in this country," said Harang. "Men! Doesn't that indicate that they want women to wear it!"

"The feminine gender the world over lives on the lifts it gets out of life. In this country, women have not learned the lift, the sense of well-being, that perfume gives."

The French born Harang makes perfume, as you might suspect.

A perfumer for nearly 33 years, he is president of the Toilet Goods association, an officer of the Fragrance foundation, both trade groups and is a vice-president and director of Houbigant, Inc., the world's oldest active manufacturer of perfumes and kindred products.

A Little Lilac Widespread use of perfume in this country began after World War I, said Harang. "Doughboys by the tens of thousands brought perfume home from France. Up until then, it was considered ladylike to wear a splash of lilac water, nothing more."

Today the toilet goods industry is a billion dollar one, "but perfume sales still aren't up the way they should be," said Harang. He estimated that 10 per cent of the total spent on toilet goods is on perfume. In 1955, we spent $1,192,200,000 on toiletries, he said. Last year's sales are running 10 per cent higher, although final figures aren't in.

Harang said one factor in the general increase is the number of women at work, a record total of nearly 23 million, according to government estimates.

Presumably the working woman spends more on pampering.

"I'd like to see what we call the housewife doing more of the same," says the perfumer. "She needs the lift more than anybody. The woman who doesn't primp up a bit is apt to lose her man. Right?"

Now if we all are ready to start smelling heady, here are some suggestions from Harang. First, choose a perfume. This, he said, can be done by trial and error because a good perfume will not smell the same way on any two wearers. So, sample until you find a scent which draws compliments, said Harang.

Apply where you too can enjoy the odor. "How can a woman smell perfume, when she dabs it behind her ears?" So apply at pulse points, wrist, throat, etc. "Never use clothing," said Harang. "The dye in the fabric can alter or kill the scent."

Don't hoard perfume, once it's open. Harang said it deteriorates.

"And," he advised, "don't overapply." Like makeup, perfume never should be overwhelming.

To Hold Meeting

Eagle Point — Eagle Point Home Extension unit will meet Thursday, February 14, at 10:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Don Kimmel, 119 North "B" street.

The lesson "Buying and Use of Foam Rubber" will be led by Mrs. Robert Bitterling and Mrs. Edwin Hayes.

All interested in the project are invited to attend and are reminded to take table service. Child care will be at the home of Mrs. Edna Cunningham, Brophy road, as usual.

WCTU Group Ponders Shift of Students

Corvallis — (U.P.) — Plans to reduce the enrollment of the WCTU Children's Farm Home near here by sending seventh and eighth grade students to Corvallis public schools are being considered by the Farm Home board.

The State Department of Education and the WCTU board of directors have recommended the move.

The change would trim the Farm Home enrollment by about 40, leaving about 70 students in the school. Some 40 high school students already are being sent to Corvallis.

A supersonic wind tunnel costs about $1.5 million.

SCOUT'S BIRTHDAY PRESENTS FOR IKE—Eagle scouts, selected from all parts of the nation, call on President Eisenhower to present their annual report in connection with the Scout's 47th birthday. Truman Resting In Florida Keys

Islamorada, Fla.—(U.P.)—Former President Harry S. Truman basked today in the sunshine and friendly informality of the Florida Keys, reluctant to discuss politics with reporters.

The ex-President and his wife were driven to this small tourist fishing center late Sunday after their arrival by train from Miami.

Some 2,000 persons welcomed the Trumans in Miami and the couple lingered to exchange greetings for about 15 minutes.

Mr. Truman said it was "overwhelming" for an "old has-been" to receive such a welcome, but members of the crowd shouted, "You'll never be a has-been, Harry."

Mr. Truman noted the 76-degree temperature and joked "it was so foggy" at home in Independence, Mo., that "I hit my head."

"But as you know," he added, "my head is pretty hard."

He referred to a gash in his scalp he suffered in a fall last week.

Nurses to Meet

District 4, Oregon State Nurses' association, will hear a talk by Dr. E. V. Meyerding at a meeting set for Tuesday, February 12. It will be held at 8 p.m. at Sacred Heart hospital.

Campfire Girls

Ayuzunta Group Recently the Ayuzunta group had a South Seas meeting to offset the local cold weather. James Fredenberg, outdoor sponsor for the group, gave a short talk on life on some of the Pacific islands. He illustrated his talk with maps, pictures, and native jewelry and items obtained in the islands.

Last Saturday Christy Aillingham, Linda Medcalf, Treva Toenniges and Ann Younger went on a hike and cook-out. They were accompanied by their guardian and outdoor sponsor.

The group will participate in all birthday month activities including the annual dinner, window display and a hike and cook-out in observance of Edith M. Kempthorne day.

A MATCH—Fredericka Sigrist, 17, of Nassau gets a light from Gregg Juarez, 34-year-old New York decorator. Dominican authorities refused them a marriage license but Juarez says they were married anyhow. Fredericka at 21 will inherit $20,000,000 estate of her father, a British designer of jet airplane equipment.

Governor Addresses Collegiate Leaders

Salem — (U.P.) — Collegiate student leaders as well as faculty members have "responsibility for maintaining free atmosphere of our schools so that we can continue to challenge ideas, discover facts and test opinions without fear" Gov. Robert D. Holmes said here Saturday night.

The governor's remarks came in a speech to Oregon collegiate leaders at a banquet closing their annual Salem conference.

Gov. Holmes said students are "frequently torn by the need to conform to whatever the popular attitude of the day was, and the instinct to rebel and to assert their own opinions."

"The danger is that we will conform too much, fearful of adverse public opinion, fearful of new ideas, new ways and unknown paths. Yet our distinction as a nation is that we have continuously evolved by trying new things," the governor said.

Neuberger Asks Labor Resurvey

Washington — (U.P.) — Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) asked the Labor Department yesterday for an immediate resurvey of Oregon unemployment conditions and said Portland should be classified as a distressed area.

He challenged the labor department classification of Portland as an area of "about average unemployment."

This classification, Neuberger said, is a barrier against efforts by Oregon businessmen to obtain preferential status in bidding on government contracts.

Federal regulations on letting government contracts provide special consideration for areas with a labor surplus.

Neuberger asked the labor department to "reclassify" Portland and outlying areas "as warranted by the facts." He said he has been advised that the current unemployment rate is only one-tenth of one per cent higher than it was several years ago when Portland was placed in the distressed unemployment category.
