The Medical Roundup

by Walter Alvarez Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

TREATMENT OF EXTENSIVE CANCER OF THE SKIN - I was just reading a remarkable article by Dr. Isadore Lampe, of the Alice Crocker Lloyd Radiation Therapy Center, at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Alvarez who came in with big, foul ulcerating cancers of the face - most of them so bad that one wonders how today any human being with a little intelligence could have let himself go until he got into such a state.

Dr. Lampe said also that most cancers of the neck of the womb that he sees are so far advanced that they cannot well be removed surgically.

As I looked at these terrible pictures of face cancers I realized that many of the people had probably gotten into such a state because they had wasted time with a cancer quack.

At a recent big conference on viruses, Dr. Jonas Salk pointed out that many of the puzzling illnesses of childhood are probably due to some almost undetectable infection of the brain with a polio or other virus that likes to live in nervous tissue.

Years ago, for two weeks following a strenuous walking and climbing trip through the California Sierras, I had what is called a foot slap on one side. The muscles on the front of one leg, alongside the shin bone, were so weak that with each step the foot on that side came down slap onto the sidewalk.
