Around Hollywood

Hollywood—(U.P.)—This year's Oscar nominations had several tangles, and one history-making one came when Bowery Boys movie won an Academy award bid because of a title confusion.

Nobody laughed harder than Huntz Hall when writers Ed Berns and Elwood Ullman were listed as Oscar nominees for "High Society" in the "best original motion picture story" category.

The 14,000 movie industry voters apparently thought they were voting for the MGM musical with Grace Kelly, Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra.

But that "High Society" was not eligible for that category since it had been written from

Remake Considered

"We are thinking of remaking our 'High Society' and calling it 'The Philadelphia Story,'" he quipped. "I just hope MGM made as much money from their 'High Society' as we did from ours."

Hall is finishing another Bowery Boys epic, "Spook Chasers." "I've just seen the rushes and I think we have another Academy Award nominee here," he cried.

Bridges' Attackers Get 30-Day Sentences

San Rafael, Calif. — (U.P.) — Two seamen found guilty of assault in the beating of longshore leader Harry Bridges have received sentences of 30 days.

The seamen were Fred Reppine, 35, and Donald C. Hansen, 23. They were found guilty of beating Bridges up in the washroom of Sally Stanford's Valhalla restaurant in Sausalito last September.

Before imposing sentence Superior Judge Thomas F. Keating said it was a "commonplace police court fight."

"Ordinarily, there would be a fine and a few days in jail," he said.

However, the judge noted that both men had "something of a record" and took into account the county probation officer's recommendation against probation.
