

Around Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY United Press Correspondent

Hollywood — (U.P.) — Vikki Dougan sighed today she simply can't understand why she's been

Alene Mosby

She took off her coat and turned her back to me.

"See?" she demanded. "What's wrong with that?"

With any other person this might be dull, but when Vikki turned her back it was downright electrifying.

Vikki has been described as the girl most likely to get a cold her sacralia. While Jayne, Marilyn, Mamie and other sweater girls display frontal charms, Vikki started a fashion revolution with gowns cut so low in back that they're not only backless but almost seatless.

Daring Dresses Blasted

One gossip columnist blasted the 22-year-old New Yorker and another announced she was starting a petition to make Vikki burn her daring dresses.

"I don't think I'm bad or evil," pouted the actress as she sat with her sacralia exposed to the breeze. "I don't want to be arrested or stoned and that's what I expect next!"

She already has been pelted by one barb from senior glamour girl Zsa Zsa Gabor. Quoth the Hungarian: "What some girls won't do for publicity—"

"People in glass dresses should not throw stones," replied Vikki sweetly.

"Furthermore," she added, "Zsa Zsa will hike up her front cleavage five inches I'll hike up my back cleavage 1/4 of an inch, and we'll be even."

Actress Possesses Poise

What makes Vikki's strange garb stranger is that she's not the busty pin-up type. The actress, who made a memorable mark as the receptionist in "The Great Man," is a former high fashion model with a cultural, almost English accent plus poise and intelligence.

After "The Great Man" she was signed by John Wayne's producing company, Batjac (she calls it Back-Jac). Wayne is overseas and can't be reached for comment on what his young employee is up, or down, to.

"I was thinking of some publicity gimmick—you need some kind of break to get started here—and I didn't want to pose in the nude," explained the actress. "Many actresses do and it's shocking to me."

"I thought of a dress cut very low in the back, to the point of no return. This is much more chic than anything that's been done in the way of bosom display."

TALE OF A HAT

Detroit — (U.P.) — Shirley Komer, 32, sent her brown suede coat to the dyer to be dyed pink and sent along a pink suede hat to give the dyer the idea of the shade she wanted. The dyer instead dyed the hat brown instead. Mrs. Komer sent it back and asked that it be dyed pink. The hat was sent to a New York dyer specialist and was lost in damages.

State Accepts Land For Bandon Airport

Portland — (U.P.) — An offer of a plot of land for the site of an airport at Bandon was accepted yesterday by the State Board of Aeronautics.

Officials said a turf runway 300 by 2600 feet will be built and if traffic warrants, the runway will be surfaced later.

The board announced that federal matching funds for paving the runway at the Hermiston airport have been requested. The facility was recently deeded to the state by the city.

Federal matching funds for the creation of airports at John Day, Nehalem and Seaside have also been requested, the board said.

Missionary To Stay in Red China

Hong Kong — (U.P.) — American missionary Paul A. Mackensen, released Tuesday from a Chinese prison, said today by telephone from Shanghai he intends to stay in Communist China.

The Chinese announced Mackensen's release Thursday, exactly five years after the Philadelphia Lutheran was arrested in Tsingtao and sentenced to five years in prison.

He was one of 10 Americans held prisoner by the Chinese. "I am not planning to leave China immediately," Mackensen told United Press in a telephone conversation from Shanghai. "I am trying to find work in Shanghai."

The Philadelphian said he did not know what kind of work he could find, but he said the Reds in releasing him gave him the impression he was "free to live in China as I wish."

Father Fulgence Gross, a Franciscan from Omaha, Neb., is due to follow Mackensen out of China this month. He was arrested in Tsingtao March 29, 1951.

Abortive Bank Robbery Attempt Nets 12 Years

Portland — (U.P.) — Frank Jones, former resident of Pittsburgh, Pa., who was convicted of the abortive attempt to hold-up the Hollywood branch of the Benjamin Franklin Savings & Loan Association here last October, was sentenced to 12 years in prison yesterday.

At the time of the attempted holdup, Jones had threatened bank employees with a bolt which he kept hidden in a pocket to simulate a pistol. A bank appraiser and a customer overpowered him and held him for police.
