The Medical Roundup by Walter Alvarez

Sight Without Glasses People, and especially aging people, who have read Aldous Huxley's book on avoiding glasses by taking eye exercises ask me about this. I can say that I have read it so many times that I have written it with a knowledge of the structure of the eye could possibly have written it.

Persons who need strong glasses generally have some deformity of the eyeball or of the front window of the eye, and I cannot imagine this being corrected by any kind of exercising of muscles in or around the eyeball.

Parents of very brilliant children who are having trouble in conforming could get help from a couple of booklets recently published by Porter Sargent, of 11 Beacon St., Boston, 8 Mass.

I have asked some of the leading ophthalmologists (eye specialists) in the United States what they thought of these much touted exercises, and all of them said that, so far as they could see, the idea was stupid.

Problems of The Bright Child Many people fail to realize that the very bright child and his parents can have problems. Sometimes the child does not do well in the schoolroom because there he is bored by the slow pace of teaching that is geared to the needs of the children who learn slowly.

Grants Pass Man Files Suit Here F. G. Isham, Grants Pass, has filed a complaint in the Jackson county circuit court against Clarence A. Parsley, Sardine Creek rd., Gold Hill, affiliated with the Old Oregon Museum on Sardine Creek rd.

In the complaint Isham seeks immediate and exclusive possession of $1,000 worth of relics he charges Parsley with possessing and wrongfully detaining.

Among the items are a human skull, cannon ball, 23 Indian pestles and axes, 10 old planes, a bull whip, a hair rope, a goat skull, a whiskey flask, 19 pistols, a neck yoke for a human, a pair of leg irons, two fossil clams and one whale vertebrae.

In addition to recovery of the items or $1,000 if the items can not be delivered, Isham asks judgment against the defendant for costs and disbursements of the court action.

Attorneys for the plaintiff are Baldersee and Calvert of Grants Pass.
