Medford Teacher Attends Meeting

Mrs. Maxine (Paul R.) Smith, Madrona lane, Medford teacher and president of the Department of Classroom Teachers, Oregon Education association, left last night by plane for Great Falls, Mont., to attend a northwest regional conference of classroom teachers. Almost 600 teachers are expected to attend the meeting, which opened this morning and will continue through Saturday.

Speakers will include David C. Guhl, Connellsville, Pa., president of the Department of Classroom Teachers, National Education association, and Miss Margaret Stevenson, Washington, D.C., executive secretary.

Also attending from Oregon will be Miss Matilda Gilles, Salem, president of the Department of Elementary School Principals, National Education association. She will speak at one of the luncheon meetings.

Mrs. Smith will preside at a unit workshop, and will lead discussion at a workshop on merit rating. Other workshops will stress improvement of instruction. Theme of the convention will follow the classroom teachers theme of the year which is "the classroom teacher is the key to an educated people," and among the speakers will be lawyers, ministers and others who will define the term "an educated person."

Mrs. Smith will return Sunday and will leave again Wednesday for Portland with the Jackson county delegation to the annual convention of Oregon Education association, held each year during spring vacation.

Paste wax rubbed on window grooves will prevent windows from sticking damp ether. And wax on exposed sash cords will save wear and tear.

Prize That Reputation!

The most valuable thing a girl can have in the marriage market, yet the most easily lost and most difficult to be regained, is a good reputation. A reputation is not necessarily what the girl is, but rather what the world thinks she is: her letter of social recommendation to future "buyers." As such, it is indeed a valuable asset in the marriage market.

Ruth has always been a model girl. A dutiful daughter, a pleasant companion, a good pal, a faithful friend, intelligent and warmly human. Everyone likes to be with her. She has always followed convention carefully, never getting into questionable situations or being seen with questionable companions. A safe girl. A potentially good wife. A person of fine reputation. An individual a man can feel secure about marrying.

Ginney, on the other hand, has gotten around a bit more, seen more of the bright lights, dared more situations and more people. In fact, she has turned up several times in gossip concerning night clubs, hotels, and cocktails. With a few more episodes she will have a "reputation." Is that what you want to marry, Son? Do you think she will be a steady and secure wife and mother? Of course, such questions are distressingly old-fashioned, but they are worth considering.

Boots is a well-known easy-mark. She wanted to know what life was about—and they say she found out, in adolescence. She doesn't have many girl friends, and the "nice fellows" don't date her. She has, you see, a "reputation."

Joyce has always been what her small town calls a "good girl." The night of the beach party, she and George somehow became separated from the other guests in the homeward trek. With motor trouble and losing their way, they did not get home until 4 a.m. The neighbor across the street, awake with a sick child, saw them slip up on Joyce's porch and kiss, just before the milkman clattered by.

Old Mrs. Hughes, who never sleeps, saw them stand over long in the shadow of the rose trellis, and Mr. Phipps, investigating his dog's barking, watched Joyce fumble for her door key. By morning, Joyce had the beginning of a "reputation."

Ironically, a man who dates promiscuously sows his wild oats—but demands a girl with a clean bill of sale. The only way to avoid having a "reputation" is to avoid all situations and all people, all conduct and all behavior which might lead to a reputation. Life can be fun, full of happiness and pleasure, even with conventional and public-approved conduct!

Council of Blind To Discuss Bills, Inadequate Aid

Legislation affecting the blind of Oregon will be discussed at a meeting of Jackson Council of the Blind to be held Sunday, March 10, at 2 p.m. in St. Mark's Guild hall, Fifth street at Oakdale avenue.

It is pointed out that Oregon Council of the Blind has caused a number of bills to be introduced in the present session of the Oregon legislature. The bills include HB 402 which broadens the base of Oregon Commission for the Blind, and adds two lay members; HB 403 which would provide readers and a subsistence fund for blind college students; HB 454 and HB 404, companion bills, which would provide social security for workers in Oregon industries for the blind; HB 438 which provides preference for the blind as operators of vending stands, snack bars and cafeterias in state, county and municipal buildings.

Also introduced is a bill, not yet numbered, based on a "model" Nevada bill and covering a number of features which it is thought will "raise the self-respect, dignity and standard of living of the blind. One part of the bill would raise assistance to the blind, and it is pointed out that at present the allotment for food for the blind is but $32 per person per month, and that clothing and rent allotments are entirely inadequate under present prices.

Treat your family to this easy cobbler. Heat a No. 2½ can cling peach slices with ¼ cup brown sugar and 1½ tablespoons cornstarch. Turn into baking dish with a package of oven ready cinnamon biscuits. Sprinkle with sugar and bake half an hour in a hot oven.

Serve this colorful refreshing soup instead of a salad with tonight's dinner. Add a little of the new moisture free instant minced onion to tomato bouillon while heating it. Ladle into bowls and top with diced Calavo avocado.

Schweitzer Film Producer To Be On Radio Sunday

Eugene Istomin will be piano soloist with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony in a broadcast conducted by Dimitri Mitropoulos, Sunday, March 10 at 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m. (PST) over KYJC-CBS radio.

Jerome Hill, producer and director of the film "Albert Schweitzer" will be interviewed by James Fassett. They will discuss his experience in making the film in Schweitzer's birthplace, Gunsbach in Alsace and the newly issued Columbia records of Schweitzer playing on the Gunsbach organ.

The broadcast will also feature the first American radio performance of the "Dramatic Overture" by Gunther Schuller. This work, written in 1952, was first performed during the Darmstadt Festival of 1954.

The composer, son of one of the Philharmonic musicians, has described the work as a "French" Overture and disclaims allusions to any specific subject.

Mr. Istomin will be heard in a performance of the Beethoven Emperor "Concerto, No. 5 in E flat major."

Mr. Mitropoulos will open the broadcast program with the Bach "Suite No. 3 in D major."

Singers Jo Stafford, Frank Parker and Richard Hayes, and "The Four Lads" vocal quartet, will be featured guests with Percy Faith and the orchestra and chorus on KYJC-CBS radio's "The Woolworth Hour" Sunday, March 10 at 1-2 p.m. (PST).

Dance

A square dance will be held at Moose hall Saturday, March 9, beginning at 8:30 p.m. The dance is sponsored by the Double H club and is open to all square dancers. Potluck refreshments will be served. Fran Cronin will call.

Cadillac

Relaxing... Across America!

Behind them are the majestic mountain roadways of Southern California and the picturesque desert drive through Arizona.

And ahead lie the broad highways of Texas... the scenic roads that wind through Oklahoma and Missouri... and the great Midwestern turnpikes that lead to the Eastern Seaboard.

What's it like to spend the better part of a week in a 1957 Cadillac?

Well, first of all, there is the marvelous restfulness a Cadillac provides. The car is so incredibly smooth and quiet and comfortable that even the longest journey becomes an occasion for glorious relaxation.

And for the lucky gentleman in the driver's seat, there is the added reward of Cadillac's brilliant new performance.

In fact, the car is so nimble and eager, so responsive and alert that day's end will usually find them well beyond their morning's destination!

And then there will be the many other Cadillac virtues to enhance the pleasure of their journey...

... its vast areas of vision to give them the full panorama of America's great beauty and grandeur

... its extraordinary safety and dependability to add to their peace of mind

... and its remarkable economy of operation to remind them how practical their odyssey is.

So there they are—seeing our wonderful land from the finest vantage point on the American road: through the windshield of a 1957 Cadillac!

Of course, you don't have to travel 5,000 miles in this newest "car of cars" to realize why its owners call it "the greatest of all Cadillacs".

The evidence is waiting in our showroom now—and an hour at the wheel will tell you the whole story.
