Measure Would Lend Assistance To Fight Delinquency

Washington — A bill to carry out the President's recommendation for Federal assistance to help combat juvenile delinquency has been submitted to Congress by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The bill would authorize a five-year program of Federal grants to states for strengthening state and local programs to control juvenile delinquency. It also would authorize grants for demonstrations and studies, and for training of personnel in this field.

For the first year's operation in fiscal year 1958, the bill would authorize an appropriation of $3 million. For each of the four succeeding fiscal years, it would authorize appropriations of up to $9 million.

High Priority
Similar legislation was recommended by the President in 1955 and 1956.

In submitting new draft legislation to Congress, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Marion B. Folsom said: "We continue to regard this legislation as having a high priority."

In the period 1948 to 1956, Folsom said, the number of cases in juvenile courts increased 70 per cent, whereas the number of children 10 through 17 years of age increased only 16 per cent.

For the grants to states, the proposed legislation would authorize an appropriation of $2 million for the next fiscal year and up to $5 million annually for the ensuing four years.

Cowlitz Bill Killed By Washington House

Olympia—(U.P.)—The Washington House has killed the so-called Cowlitz dam bill.

The bill, which would have permitted the City of Tacoma to continue construction of two dams on the Cowlitz river, died in the House just 15 minutes before the deadline to consider other than tax and appropriation bills.

The Cowlitz bill actually was a sick thing after the House yesterday cut the heart out of it by removing the emergency clause and requiring Tacoma to pay for any fish killed because of the dam.

But the Tacoma delegation did salvage one morsel. The House passed, 67-32, a measure, removing from the law the prohibition against interfering with navigation on a river. This was a companion to the Cowlitz bill.

John Day Memorial Gets 'Do Pass' Vote

Salem — (U.P.) — A memorial calling on Congress to construct the John Day dam on the Columbia river was voted out of the State and Federal Affairs Committee of the Oregon Senate yesterday with a "do pass" recommendation.

The memorial calls on Congress to appropriate funds to start construction on the proposed dam between The Dalles and McNary dams in Oregon.

An amendment by Sen. Warrent Gill, Lebanon, was turned down.

FISH FLOUNDERS FLIERS

Bad Axe, Mich.—(U.P.)—Friends of Bob McCrea and Bill McCarthy think there was something fishy about their recent trip to Saginaw Bay. The two men said their catch was so heavy when they flew up to do some ice fishing that they had to taxi their light plane for almost a mile before they could get it into the air.

About 55 per cent of American families own their homes now as compared with 44 per cent before World War II.

Back Stairs: Ike's Health and the Press

United Press White House Writer

Washington — (U.P.) — Back stairs at the White House: For the ardent supporters of the President who think too much is made of his health in print and on the air, there is this added note: If the chief executive goes to a hospital for an examination as he did last Tuesday, the newspapers and broadcasters cannot be expected to ease up on the story.

Such happenings as the hospital visit, his projected trip to Florida, his coughing in public and appearing before cameras with cotton stuffing visible in one ear serve to keep the state of Mr. Eisenhower's health before the public.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty summed up the situation rather succinctly the other day when a reporter observed that it was unusual for a person suffering from a cold to undergo two X-ray examinations within a month.

"The average fellow doesn't have that sort of examination," the reporter said to Hagerty. "We're not dealing with the average fellow," he replied. "This is the President of the United States."

Mrs. Eisenhower will be off in a couple of days to spend two weeks at the Gettysburg farm. She plans to stay there until the President returns from Bermuda March 24. He may go up to Gettysburg shortly thereafter to look over his acreage.

The President had his choice of scores of plush Florida homes in which to spend a brief pre-Bermuda holiday. The offers really rolled in once it was known that he had Florida under consideration. Many invitations came from old friends, many from people he did not know.

Economist Roger Babson, for example, offered his estate, Chapin Gardens, outside Lake Wales in Central Florida. Chapin Gardens has the distinction of being 235 feet above sea level, which in Florida is virtually mountainous.

Members of Mr. Eisenhower's staff seem to be developing an increasingly sporty taste in automobiles. In the reserved White House parking spaces on West Executive ave. one day this week, there were cars manufactured in Sweden, France, Great Britain and Germany.

And last week, a smaller model Rolls Royce was spotted in the parking area two days in a row.

Bermuda is peaceful and law-abiding, but photographers going there to cover the Anglo-American conferences this month have been instructed to submit serial numbers of cameras and lenses to the Bermudan government in advance. It was explained that this was a protective step for the lensmen in case something happened to their cameras.

Milwaukee, Wis.—(U.P.)—Axle Pavich, a collector for a vending machine company, told police Wednesday someone stole $2,000 in quarters he had collected. The loot apparently was too heavy for the thieves because they also took Pavich's truck.
