Star Roster Completed For Pro Trip

Los Angeles — The roster for the major league all-stars was complete today as the signed contracts of the final three National Basketball association players were returned. It was announced here by tour coordinator Bob Fowler.

The all-stars will battle Boston with its outstanding lineup, which includes NBA Player of the Year Bob Cousy and rookie of the Year Tom Heinsohn, in a far western tour which comes to nearby Oregon State college's Gill Coliseum on April 20.

Philadelphia Warrior Neil Johnston, Fort Wayne Piston Bob Houbregs and New York Knickerbocker Carl Braun are the new players. They join previously announced George Yardley, Togo Palazzi, Dolph Schayes, Mel Hutchins, Dick McGuire and Lou Tsioropoulos. In Johnston, the All-Stars gain a 6-8, three-time NBA scoring champion. He led the loop in 1953, 1954 and 1955 with point totals of 1564, 1759 and 1631, respectively. He was a solid all-loop pick last year and currently boasts the best shooting percentage of 45. He scored at a 23.2 clip.

Houbregs, another tall cager at 6-7, is well-known for his amazing hook shot. He's a former University of Washington All-American and is among the NBA's top three shooters, hitting on 43 percent of his shots.

With the addition of Braun, 6-5, the All-Stars gain New York's classy guard combination. He and McGuire are recognized throughout the NBA as first rate ball handlers and "feeders". Braun gained national fame while at Colgate University.

In addition to Cousy and Heinsohn, the Boston roster includes other great Celtics, who easily won the NBA's Eastern division and are currently in the playoff championships. Among these are Bill Russell, Bill Sharman, Jack Nichols and Jim Loscutoff.

While the 17 game tour will provide cage fans with an outstanding attraction, it will also provide NBA officials with western reaction to professional basketball. It's no secret that the NBA is interested in obtaining western franchises.

Ducks Have 6 Games in California

Davis, Calif. (U.P.)—The University of Oregon opened its 1957 baseball season yesterday with a 3-1 win over the Cal Aggies but it may prove a costly one.

University of Oregon, Eugene—Oregon's baseball club is opening its 1957 season this week with a six-game sweep through northern California.

Coach Don Kirsch's Webfoots, hampered by a long stretch of bad weather in early workouts, were expected to find tough going against the California nines. The Ducks were idle last week because of winter term final exams. Their pre-conference sweep against the Cal Aggies, University of California, San Jose State and Stanford university is being done during spring vacation.

The rugged competition should be helpful to the Ducks in getting set for the Northern division race as Coach Kirsch experiments with a number of combinations in an attempt to rebuild his infield. The loss of John Keller at shortstop and Dick Schlosstein at first base has punched a big hole in the Oregon inner defense and any Webfoot pennant hopes are based on the success of a rapid rebuilding job.

Ron Dodge, a talented catcher, is being given a shot at the first base job with Jim Rice, a sophomore. The exceptional strength behind the plate with veteran Tom Bowen and rookies Ellis Olsen and Len Read, in addition to Dodge, has given the Duck skipper a chance to shift his forces.

A basketball letterman, Wimp Hastings, appears to have the edge at second base and the talented sophomore at that spot last spring, Jim Pifer, has been moved to shortstop. Ken Bond, a regular last year, is again at third base, but faces stiff competition.

Maddox Back In the outfield the Ducks are apparently in good shape with all-league Terry Maddox back in left field and Jim Pingree returning in right field. Larry Hughes, a hard hitting sophomore, may have the inside track in center as the replacement for Jerry Ross, but must beat out letterman George Simpson and Jerry Urness.

Oregon's pitching staff will also be made up of veterans, although they have suffered in the early workouts from the lack of good outside practice conditions. Don Lane, all-conference last year as a sophomore, and Ron Lehl will be the left handers on the staff and veterans Stan Dmochowsky, Ron Whittaker, Denny Olsen, and Don Delbon plus sophomore Jon Englund and Rollie Heath will all make the trip to battle it out for the top five or six positions.

In addition to the above players, the travel squad includes Tim Berg and Roy Nishioka as spare infielders and Leroy Phelps as an extra outfielder. The squad will return here next week end for the remaining games on the pre-conference schedule then will go after its fourth pennant in the last five years when the Northern division season opens in mid-April with a home and home series with Oregon State.

Hockey

Montreal (U.P.)—Right Wing Gordie Howe, equally at home scoring or setting up his Detroit teammates, headed for his fifth National Hockey league scoring title today with only three games left to play.

In games played through Sunday, statistics showed Howe with 84 points on 42 goals and 42 assists. This gave him a two-point lead over linemate Ted Lindsay and a three-point bulge over center Jean Beliveau of the Montreal Canadiens, last year's top scorer.

New York (U.P.)—Fred Glover of the Cleveland Barons today held a five-point lead in the race for the American Hockey league scoring title.

Glover, held to a single point for the second straight week, had a total of 93 points and, with only three games remaining, seems a safe bet to win his first AHL scoring title. Willie Marshall of Hershey remained the only serious threat to Glover with 88 points.

Hollywood Has Veterans, Strong Pitching for 1957

(Following is the first in a series of stories on Pacific Coast league teams in spring training.)

By ALEX KAHN United Press Sports Writer Anaheim, Calif. (U.P.)—A strong pitching staff on a team well seasoned with veterans leads rookie Manager Clyde King to predict that the Hollywood Stars should "at least" do as well as they did last season when the Twink's finished fourth.

Still becoming acquainted with his players, King was cautious in discussing individuals but as a former ace relief hurler for the Brooklyn Dodgers he said he likes what he has seen of his pitchers headed by the veteran Ben Wade, who was King's teammate at Brooklyn.

"If our pitchers come up to their performances of last season, that should be our strongest department," King said as he gazed on his team at La Palma Park here.

Three of our pitchers who are working with Pittsburgh but belong to us should be right in there with Wade, Bennie Dan-

Although Berrios is rated No. 3 among contenders, one notch above Costa, betting was at "even money" for their nationally televised and broadcast fight over NBC.
