A plain rug or one with an unobtrusive pattern helps make a room seem larger, if the rug covers most of the floor. And when draperies match the wall color or are a little lighter shade, the same larger look results.

New Membership Policy Set By Rogue Girl Scout Council

A new membership policy for Rogue Valley Area Girl Scout council was voted at the spring meeting of the council held Wednesday in Ashland at Bellevue Grange hall. Representatives from Grants Pass, Medford, Ashland and Western Siskiyou county attended and took part in the business session.

The council voted to have a delegate membership, in an effort to eliminate the necessity for busy people to attend so many meetings. Each neighborhood association selects a delegate to represent the neighborhood at the council meetings. All active, registered Girl Scout adults are members of neighborhood associations, and through neighborhood meetings are able to voice their opinions about matters affecting them; they will send the delegate to council meetings informed of their point of view. Later the delegate will report back to her neighborhood on the actions taken at the council.

Other business was the election of Mrs. Richard Finch as second vice president, and Mrs. T. R. Lytle as a delegate to the national convention, revision of the constitution and by-laws of the council was also accomplished. The equipment agency for Jackson county and Western Siskiyou county, the J. C. Penney company in Medford, presented a display of items available, and gave a brief explanation of policy.

A report of the troop camp site committee was given by the chairman, Mrs. Ben Spaulding.

With regard to the new troop campsite at Grayback, she asked that names suitable for the Girl Scout section of the camping area there be submitted. She announced that she would present a cash award to the person submitting the name chosen.

Luncheon was served by the Home Economics club of Bellevue Grange. Mrs. Richard Gray introduced Mrs. T. M. Deeter, district chairman for Western Siskiyou, who in turn introduced ten representatives from that district. Entertainment during the meeting was provided by singing, led by Mrs. William Baker; A Cuban dance by 16 girls of the Latter Day Saints church; and a skit by Girl Scout leaders of the Ashland district.

A film showing the Juliette Low birthplace, in Atlanta, Ga., both before and after the restoration, was shown at the meeting; a tape recording of the dedication ceremony was also played. There is guest space at the birthplace home that Girl Scout delegates may use while in the area. Mrs. Charles Barnes and Mrs. William Baker were in charge of the program.

An award was given Mrs. A. R. Smith as an outstanding leader of the Ashland district. Numeral guards were presented to eligible registered adults by Mrs. Max Leischner.

A report was given on the success of the United Medford Crusade as Girl Scouts is one of the agencies receiving UMC funds.

At the close of the meeting it was announced that special awards were to be presented to Mrs. Michele T. Rossi, retired president, and to Mrs. Kenneth Denman, retired treasurer, in appreciation of their long and faithful service to Girl Scouting.

The awards were in the form of a bronze statuette of a Girl Scout and each was suitably inscribed.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Paul Riedel of Grace Lutheran church, Ashland. The flag ceremony was given by Girl Scouts from Bellview school.
