Woman's Body Almost Devoured by Dogs

Ionia, Mich.—(U.P.)—The body of an elderly woman recluse was found Sunday almost devoured by the pack of 10 dogs she kept in her hillside shack on the city's outskirts.

Police said Mrs. Edna Palmer, 66, apparently became ill a few days ago and took to her bed where she died. Her body was discovered by a neighbor, Fred Martinies, who went to Mrs. Palmer's house to investigate when he did not see the woman for four days.

Martinies notified police. The officers had to shoot two of the dogs before they could force their way into the house. The rest of the pack fled into the countryside.

Police said the dogs were shut in the house, unable to get out when the woman died. They said the animals evidently became ravenous and attacked the body.

The Medical Roundup

Girls Had Better Get German Measles

Back in 1941, a very remarkable man—an eye specialist in Australia — Dr. Norman M. Gregg, following a hunch, made a careful study which showed that many of the infants who were brought to him with cataracts and other defects of the eye were born of mothers who, in the first one or two months of pregnancy, had suffered from German measles. All over the world his observations have now been confirmed. Dr. Theodore H Ingalls, of Harvard University, after making a study of 147 cases, says that German measles in the first three months of pregnancy apparently was responsible for many still-births and an equal number of severely deformed and crippled children.

Dr Alvarez

To show what can happen; one boy with very poor vision, has a badly malformed jaw, he has to have a hearing-aid because of deafness, and he has had to have an operation for a congenital deformity of his heart.

Now, Dr. Ingalls says every little girl in the land ought to have German measles, even if her mother has to take her around through the neighborhood to visit other children with this disease! She should have it in childhood so that, in later years, she cannot get it during a pregnancy. Great efforts will soon be made to isolate the virus of German measles so that all little girls can be given an immunizing "shot," something like that of the Salk polio vaccine

Cancer on the Decline

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians now report that for the last 10 years there has been a downward trend in cancer death rates among women in middle life. Among the company's millions of holders of industrial policies, the mortality from all types of cancer has dropped by 13 per cent for women between the ages of 45 and 64. Very hopeful is the fact that the death-rate for cancer of the womb has dropped by one-third.

Unfortunately, the cancer death-rate for men has risen a bit. This is due mainly to cancer of the lungs, the mouth, the stomach and the urinary organs. Much of this mortality appears to be due to the heavy smoking of cigarettes.

A New Book About Babies

"A Baby's First Year," by Drs. Benjamin Spock and John Reinhart, with photographs by Wayne Miller, is a delightful little 50-cent booklet (Pocket Books Inc.) which will doubtless now be read by millions of mothers. It shows the many phases of an infant's life. On one of the pages is a picture of a baby girl reaching up to touch her mother's face, and it says, "The baby loves the look of her face, the sound of her voice, the feel of her skin, probably her footstep and her fragrance.

"She loves her mother for her dependability as feeder and comforter." This love in babies develops because they feel loved by their parents. It's actually the foundation for all later personality, character, human warmth and devotion (as we learn sadly from the children who were never loved).

Search Starts for Missing Prospector

Salem — (U.P.) — A search has been launched for a 76 - year-old prospector, reported missing from his isolated cabin in the North Santiam area for several weeks.

Marion county officers said that Gus Walgren was reported to have last been seen some nine weeks ago. C. S. Botsford, a former Reed college professor, said he took the elderly man into Portland at that time.

S. K. Ely, Stayton, a friend of the missing man, was the first person to discover him missing from his cabin. Officers visited the location Friday but said they were unable to find any trace of Walgren or determine how long he had been absent from the cabin.

What happens when you drink?

Alcohol hits the blood stream faster when you drink it with soda. Yes, alcohol relaxes tension but it also lowers skills. (You can't do things as well but feel you can!) What is the permanent effect on your body?

In April Reader's Digest read the undiluted truth about alcohol by a top scientific authority.
