CONTAINER EXPLODES—Fire Chief Gordon Barker and Robert Wright, owner of Medford Cleaners, 34 North Holly st., examine the gallon water-proofing compound container which exploded late yesterday afternoon. O. M. DeHeart, an employee of the firm, suffered first degree burns to the arms and hands. A fire in the cleaning plant which resulted from the explosion, was confined to a small area near the entrance. Barker said the container was confiscated by the department, and that Fire Marshal Truman Nelson is working to determine the contents of the compound. The compound was the first purchased by the firm since it was made available recently, Wright said. DeHeart started to lobster the cover when the can exploded, firemen said. Barker said DeHeart told firemen he noticed the container bulging before he attempted to open it. DeHeart was treated at a local clinic.

Blizzard Moves Into East as Rescue Men Continue Activity

By UNITED PRESS
The remnants of a four-day snowstorm swept into the East today, while in the West, rescue crews worked around the clock to free travelers and entire communities still isolated by the paralyzing fury of the blizzard. Forecasters said the storm was largely spent, although it still packed enough wallop to dump two to five inches of snow in northern Illinois and Indiana, central and southern Michigan and southern Wisconsin during the night and today. A United Press tally since the spring storm started Friday night showed at least 34 persons dead in weather-caused mishaps in 10 states. The toll included nine killed in Illinois, six in Texas, five in Oklahoma, three each in Kansas, Nebraska and Indiana, two in Missouri, and one each in New Mexico and Ohio. Drifts 30 Feet Deep
The giant blizzard, described as the worst in history in some western states, buried parts of the Southwest under 30 feet of drifts and more than two feet of drought-causing snow in the Nebraska and Iowa corn country. An estimated 7,500 travelers were stranded by the storm, but most of them were free or out of danger today. Six passenger trains were marooned at the height of the storm, and passengers had to be evacuated from four of them. The last two trains reached by rescue crews Monday night were the Union Pacific's City of St. Louis and the Rock Island's Golden State Limited. Rescuers broke through towering drifts to reach the City of St. Louis and school buses took 256 passengers to Winona, Kan. Passengers were removed earlier from two Santa Fe trains near Dodge City, Kan. Another crew pushed through to the Rock Island's "Golden State Limited."

Ike Shakes Up Military Command

Washington—(U.P.)—President Eisenhower in a major shakeup of the nation's military command today nominated the Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, to be chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Twining will assume his new post this summer to succeed Adm. Arthur W. Radford. It will be the first time an airman has held the top military post. The President also nominated Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles to be deputy secretary of defense. Many persons here believe Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson will resign later this year and that Quarles then will succeed him. The nominations were two in a series of top level shifts announced for the Department of Defense. The President also nominated Undersecretary of Air James H. Douglas to be secretary, succeeding Quarles. Gen. Thomas D. White to be Air Force chief of staff, succeeding Twining. Adm. Arleigh A. Burke for reappointment to a second two-year term as chief of naval operations.

Varieties Approach Pink Bud Stage

Early pear varieties are approaching the pink bud stage in Jackson county, C. B. Cordy, county horticulture agent, said today. Bud development is about 10 days ahead of last year's development, he noted. Last year's development was considered slightly behind schedule. Cordy said it is too early to predict the time of blossoming. Warm weather will speed up blossoming and cold weather will tend to retard it. There has been no need for orchard heating yet this season, Cordy stated. Apricots and almonds have reached the full bloom stage and are slightly ahead of schedule this year. Peaches are in the full pink bud stage.

'Key District' Bill Gets Approval of Senate Committee

Action Scheduled On Floor Friday

Salem—(U.P.)—The Senate Education Committee, after a spirited debate between its three members from Multnomah county and its four "upstate" members, voted by a 4-3 margin late yesterday to pass out Senate bill 64, the so-called key district bill, with a "do pass" recommendation. The Multnomah county members, Sens. Rudie Wilhelm Jr., Jean Lewis and Ward Cook, accused the upstate members of "railroading the bill through committee."

ISRAEL READY TO ASK WITHDRAWAL OF UNEF

Hamarskjold Said Unable To Reach Agreement
No Major Concessions Obtained From Nasser
By UNITED PRESS
Israel is ready to demand the withdrawal of the UN Emergency Force from the Middle East because Israeli leaders feel its presence threatens Israel's ability to defend itself, Jerusalem dispatches indicated today. The strong Israeli stand against the UNEF, and especially against stationing UNEF troops inside Israel, was viewed in Cairo as a major reason for UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's inability to reach a firm agreement with Egypt on the future of the UNEF.

Flood Control Group Reviews History for Four New Directors

New directors of the Rogue Basin Flood Control and Water Resources association were introduced last night at a meeting in the county courthouse auditorium. They included Jennings Pierce, W. D. Woodcock, Chester Wendt and C. O. Mystrom. William Jess, president of the association, gave a history of the group, describing its purposes and functions. Reports were also given on progress during the past year and meetings with government agencies. Representatives of the association attended senate interior and public works committee flood control hearings in Medford, Army engineers hearings in Grants Pass, as well as meetings of the bureau of reclamation, fish and Wildlife commission, game commission, weather bureau and other agencies. Jess also read a letter from U.S. Rep. Charles Porter, expressing the representative's willingness to support the organization on a bill proposing a flood control and reclamation program for the Rogue river basin. The new directors also expressed willingness to support the program. Kenneth L. Hicks, new editor of the Grants Pass Courier, was present and spoke briefly to the group. Outlines Committee
Jess outlined four committees of the association and named members. They included the membership committee, H. L. Gebhardt, chairman; M. L. Benhardt, W. D. Woodcock and M. H. Williams; legislative committee, Josephine County Judge R. A. Lathrop, chairman, Fay I. Bristol, Chester Wendt and Jackson County Judge Rodney Keating; finance committee, A. A. Walker, chairman, C. L. Eaker, C. O. Mystrom and J. E. Bartlett; and public relations, Jennings Pierce, chairman, W. F. Norwood, Wally P. Martin and Francis Krouse. Next meeting will be held Monday, April 22, in the Gold Hill city hall.

Sheridan Appeals To Civil Service

Salem—(U.P.)—Thomas Sheridan, who was fired last week as assistant administrator of the Oregon Liquor Control Commission, has appealed to the Civil Service Commission. A. I. Bernstein, Sheridan's attorney, wrote the commission asking for a hearing. He also wrote to the OLCC asking for a bill of particulars in connection with the firing. Civil Service Administrator Charles Terry said a date for hearing would be set as soon as possible, probably in mid-April.

Medford Youths Hurt In Canyonville Crash

Two Medford youths, both aged about 15, were reported in critical condition in a Canyonville hospital this morning after the car they were operating collided with a truck on Highway 99 about 3 1/2 miles north of Canyonville, Medford police reported today. Injured were James DeWeed, 628 Palm st., Medford, and Malone Pankie, 606 West Fourth st., Medford, police said. Both boys were identified as students at McLoughlin Junior High school. DeWeed was knocked unconscious for four or five hours by the crash, it was reported. Both boys suffered head injuries and other injuries that were not determined by this morning, police said. The car the two youths were operating was reported stolen Friday night from the Dean and Taylor Pontiac company car lot at Sixth and Grape st., officers reported.

Teamsters Union Boss Relies on Fifth Amendment

AFL-CIO President Summons Council

Washington—(U.P.)—Teamsters boss Dave Beck refused on grounds of possible self incrimination today to answer charges that he "may have misappropriated" $320,000 in union funds. The portly chief of the nation's largest union refused on constitutional grounds to give his personal records to the Senate Rackets Committee. He also refused for the same reasons to answer questions about his financial dealings with the union. Response From AFL-CIO
In a loud, high-pitched voice Beck said, with no sign of embarrassment, that letting the committee look into his records might "very definitely" tend to incriminate him. Beck's use of the Fifth Amendment's protection in defiance of the committee drew a quick response from the AFL-CIO with which the Teamsters Union is affiliated. AFL-CIO President George Mealy summoned the federation's 29-member Executive Council, to which Beck belongs, to an extraordinary meeting here Friday. The AFL-CIO recently declared in a policy statement that no union official who invokes the Fifth Amendment is fit to serve and should be ousted. Beck Won't Resign
In the course of his defiance of the committee, Beck shouted that he has no intention of resigning. He also asserted that he is not bound by the AFL-CIO's code of ethics and "I am totally opposed to it."
