

Ingrid Bergman, Kirk Douglas or Yul Brynner Favorites for Oscars

Hollywood—UP—Entrants in the world-renewed Oscar derby cross the finish line tonight with Ingrid Bergman and Kirk Douglas or Yul Brynner rates favorite to win the closest, hardest-to-predict race in many years. Hollywoodites usually pick winners beforehand, but this year the contenders appear so equal that columnists and critics have been coming out with different predictions. For a change, virtually every winner.

Miss Bergman has been picked by most armchair guessers to win not only for her performance in "Anastasia" but for her climb back to almost frantic popularity after a seven-year exile over her unorthodox personal life.

Others believe the 1,770 Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science members overlooked sentiment and voted Deborah Kerr as Oscar for "The King and I" or newcomer Carroll Baker for "Baby Doll."

Brynner Picked by Some Brynner was selected by many guessers to take the best male acting honors for repeating his stage role in "The King and I." But Douglas, portraying the mad artist Vincent Van Gogh in "Lust for Life," was an equal favorite Douglas won the New York Film Critics' acting award and also has conducted a spirited election campaign with full-page ads in the motion picture trade papers.

Other nominees for the top honors are Katherine Hepburn, Nancy Kelly, the late James Dean, Rock Hudson and Laurence Olivier.

Many columnists picked Eileen Heckert of "The Bad Seed" and Anthony Quinn of "Lust for Life" to win the supporting Oscars. Others supported Robert Stack and Dorothy Malone of "Written on the Wind," who also appeared in many campaign ads in the trade publications. Mickey Rooney was another prospect for his comeback in "The Bold and the Brave."

Other supporting nominees are Don Murray, Tony Perkins, Mildred Dunnock, Mercedes Mc-

Cambridge and Patty McCormack.

The best picture Oscar appears to lean heavily in the direction of "Around the World in 80 Days." However, the fact that the Michael Todd production is more of a "show" than movie may throw the Oscar to "Giant."

The rest of the competition is "Friendly Persuasion," "The King and I" and "The Ten Commandments."

The Oscar event, the biggest of the award ceremonies, will be telecast and broadcast by NBC with Jerry Lewis as master-of-ceremonies.

There'll be the usual bleachers and searchlights for the fans, plus as large a press contingent as covers the atomic tests.

$2,111 Circuit Court Suit Filed in County

Lester Adams, 3230 North Pacific highway, has filed a $2,111 suit in circuit court here against the owners of the Bar Low ranch, Eagle Point, according to records in the county clerk's office.

Defendants in the suit are Dr. L. Paul Walker, 408 South Oakdale ave., Medford, Jens Lerbach, Seaside, and Dr. Orval Eaton, Astoria.

Adams claims in the complaint that he performed $4,611 worth of services for the defendants between March 21, 1956, and May 3, 1956, and stated the work was done at the request of the defendants.

He states in the complaint that the defendants have paid him only $2,500 of the total amount due. He seeks $2,111 plus 6 per cent per annum interest from May 3, 1956, until paid in addition to costs and disbursements of the legal action. James Main, Medford attorney, is representing Adams.

Is That So?

Along with readers who want to know more about how to keep spring flowers such as azaleas, gladioli ("and it is true they should be cut during the heat of the day?"), daffodils, sweet peas, violets, a correspondent inquires: "I do like to use vegetables in bouquets but in a warm room, most vegetables give off strong odors, to put it mildly. Anything you can suggest will be appreciated."

Vegetables: To deal with the more odoriferous problems first, I agree that rhubarb, turnips, kale, cabbage and broccoli do about half in flower. Do not sprinkle water on them. Recut stems under water at the length you wish to use them in your arrangement. In your overnight conditioning water, add about four teaspoons of sugar to every quart. Or, if alcohol is more easily available, add one teaspoon to the quart.

Daffodils: Cut blossoms when they are newly opened. (To have long stems, some prefer to pull the stems from the bulbs, but this kills the bulb. Also avoid cutting much foliage if you value your bulbs).

Before conditioning, split through the base of the white stem to the green part or cut off the white portion at base of stems unless length is needed. Squeeze some of the juice from the stem. To check any further flow, hold the cut ends under warm water for a couple of minutes. Condition overnight with stems in at least three inches of cold water above the cut or the split in the white stems.

Azaleas: As you cut your azalea blossoms, look toward pruning or shaping your plant. Cut when two or three florets are completely open in each cluster. Split the woody stems. Then char the ends or hold them for a minute or more in boiling water.

Condition overnight in cold water. To provide humidity and hasten bud opening spray foliage and flowers with a fine mist of cold water.

After the meeting we went outside and worked on a tractor. We learned the importance of clean air and were shown the proper way to service the air-cleaner and pre-cleaner. Also we learned the function of the carburetor and the proper way to service it. After this we practiced driving and backing.

Present at this meeting were two new members and our assistant leader Walter Toots. Refreshments were served after the meeting by Mrs. Frink.

Our next meeting will be held at the leader's home on Beall lane, on April 20 at 1:30 p.m.

DODGE PowerGiants

Most Power of the Low-Priced 3!

Everybody agrees . . . the main reason for buying a truck is to haul a payload. That being the case, doesn't it make sense to get the truck that's powered and built to carry the most in its weight class? Of course it does! That's why so many truck owners are switching to Dodge.

Dodge gives you the most powerful V-8's of the low-priced three, ranging from 204-hp. pick-ups to 232-hp. tandems. And Dodge trucks are built especially tough to handle bigger loads. For instance, Dodge pick-ups can haul up to one-third more than other competitive makes.

Dodge makes hauling these bigger loads easier, too. Shorter turning radius lets you needle in and out of tough traffic spots in a jiffy. Power steering is available on most models, and the extra convenience of a push-button transmission* can be yours only with Dodge.

Think it over. After all, it's just plain good business to get the most for your money . . . and your dealer can prove the most truck for your money is Dodge.

*Available in all low-tonnage and Forward-Control models.

Actual Payload Capacity 1825 lbs.	Actual Payload Capacity 1400 lbs.	Actual Payload Capacity 1500 lbs.

Facts prove the Dodge D100 pick-up beats both competitive low-priced models in payload. Model compared is a Dodge 6, 100 pick-up, 7 1/2-foot body. In larger pick-ups the Dodge lead is even greater.
