Shrimp Souffle Makes Lenten Season Entree

Shrimp souffle makes an excellent Lenten season entree. For the souffle use 2 tablespoons butter, melted; 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup extra rich milk; 4 egg yolks, beaten; 1 cup flaked shrimp (6 ounce can); ¼ teaspoon dry mustard; ½ cup finely chopped celery; 1 teaspoon lemon juice; ½ teaspoon salt; pepper to taste and four egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Method: Melt butter, blend in flour to form a paste. Add milk and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in egg yolks, cool. Add shrimp, dry mustard, celery, lemon juice, salt and pepper. Fold in egg whites. Pour mixture into buttered casserole and set in pan filled with 1-inch of warm water. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes. Serve with regular mushroom sauce or mushroom soup, which has been thinned to sauce consistency. Serves 4.

Washington PTA Hears Director Talk on Defense

"We have about one year of grace to prepare for civil defense," General Joseph Hicks, Jackson county civil defense director, told Washington Parent-Teacher association members Thursday evening.

"Right now we are ahead of the Russians in development of nuclear weapons but within one to two years the Russians should equal us," General Hicks added. He stated that the great danger period would come at that time.

"The great race for development of the intercontinental missile promises to upset all concepts of warfare for here there is a weapon for which there is no defense," he declared.

The general pointed out that Medford would play a great part in handling evacuees from the Portland area should war come and traced the present plans for handling emergency situations here. He brought out the need for 200 additional volunteers for the civil defense organization in Jackson county. A film on civil defense was shown.

Election of officers for next school year was held with Mrs. Paul Fuller as president. Mrs. Kenneth Blair was elected vice president; Mrs. Albert Piche, secretary and Mrs. Dora Mae Shepard, treasurer. Retiring officers are Mrs. John Hartsook, president; Mrs. Victor Seeberger, vice president; Mrs. Howard Blew, secretary and Mrs. Roy Gilbertson, treasurer.

The school orchestra played. The fourth grade mothers served refreshments and Mrs. Clark's fourth grade won room count for most parents in attendance.

New Yorker Said First Woman Head Of Exchange Firm

By MARY PRIME United Press Correspondent New York — (U.P.) — Mrs. Charles Ulrick Bay, who "was terrible in math," has become the first woman to head a New York Exchange member firm.

Mrs. Bay, wife of the late U.S. Ambassador to Norway, is board chairman and president of the 92-year-old brokerage firm of A. M. Kidder and Co.

Mrs. Bay said she plans to be in the office every day to oversee the company's enterprises, from real estate to oil.

"But I'm not planning a one-woman show," she said. "I will try to carry on my husband's plans—expanding westward and encouraging young people to enter business."

Tall, attractive Mrs. Bay hasn't had any formal training for her position. "I was terrible in math," she said, "but I think I know enough about the business. I was thrown into top-level thinking by my husband." The late ambassador always shared his business interests with her.

This enterprising woman expected a hostile reaction to her decision to take over. But she said, "Everyone has been so cordial and enthusiastic." Her lawyer did try to discourage her, but as she puts it, "I did the one thing my heart told me to do, and this is what happened."

Iowa-born Josephine Bay believed a woman is at a disadvantage in business. "We were brought up to think it isn't nice for women to talk about money," she said. "But they have it, so they should know what it's all about."

She pointed out that women should be well qualified for big business careers because they usually learn early the important art of money management and how to make financial decisions. "The less money a family has, the more the wife has to decide on finances," she said.

Josephine Bay is rearing three adopted Norwegian children, two boys and a girl, ranging in age from seven to 12. She collects cook books and china, likes to cook, sail and play golf.

PITY HIS LEGS Chicago — (U.P.) — Charles Adams has fallen victim to the extra equipment on cars at the auto agency where he works. Adams rides to work on a bicycle equipped with a radio, three bells, rear view mirrors, speedometer, saddle bags, flags, fox tails, sunvisor, canopy with green fringe and a 150-pound buggy attachment.

Monday Program To Feature Mass

Portland—Climaxing the regular symphony series Monday night, April 8, at the auditorium will be Bach's magnificent "B Minor Mass," especially appropriate for the Easter season. Bach's exalting music will be a joint offering of the Portland Symphony orchestra under conductor Theodore Bloomfield, and the 200-voice Portland Symphonic choir, of which C. Robert Zimmerman is conductor.

Four outstanding soloists, chosen for their wide experience in the concert field, will sing the beautiful solo and duet passages which abound in the Mass. Because of its length, the concert will begin at 8 p.m.

Soloists include Anne Kathrens, soprano; David O. Johnson, baritone, auditioned with sixteen local singers; and Katherine Hilgenberg, contralto, and James Schwabacher, tenor, soloists with the San Francisco Opera company.

Tickets may be obtained at the J. K. Gill box-office.
