Easter Finery Fashion Show Given by Sojourners' Club

Easter finery, vacation and party clothes for both men and women were modeled for more than 80 Sojourner club members and their guests at a buffet dinner in the Pioneer room of the Johnson Hotel, Friday evening, March 29.

The show was given by Town and Country Dress shop of Eagle Point, with hats, bags and shoes provided by Hadley's, co-ordinating shoes for each ensemble by Burelson's Shoe Salon and men's clothes and accessories by Barker's store.

Models were Mrs. H. A. McCullough, Mrs. Harry Barker, Mrs. M. H. Parsons, Mrs. T. J. Williams, Miss Lynn Williams, Mrs. Barbara Nelson, Mrs. John W. Wilson, Mrs. R. W. Billingsley, Mrs. Roy Stein, Mrs. Donald Madden, Mrs. A. B. Davis, Mrs. Joan Holmes, Richard Schuchard, A. B. Davis, George Lovelace and Wilson Smith.

Mrs. Gene F. Chamberlain, commentator, said the ensemble look for 1957 is more imaginative and fashionable than ever. Shown were soft sheaths with matching fully-lined dusters and the functional sweater dress that gives the cover-up look for daytime and street wear, yet is ready for dinner and an evening of dancing upon removing the sweater. She emphasized that the one piece knit will always be a part of every woman's wardrobe.

Lace, ruffles, and braid combine with either sheaths, or full skirts to contribute to the new soft feminine look. Also featured were several metallic hand-painted pure-silk dinner and after five fashions by Shaheen of Honolulu. One number from this group was a gorgeous hand-painted TV pajama set modeled by Mrs. M. H. Parsons.

Receiving special attention from the audience was Mrs. Charlotte McCullough, 82 years of age, who modeled half-sizes for the mature figure. A high fashion swim suit of yellow sharkskin lastex with jeweled and gold braid trim was worn by Miss Lynn Williams and a black negligee ensemble in-duster style and of Chinese influence shown by Mrs. A. B. Davis.

Mrs. Williams modeled a high fashion, pure silk metallic taffeta formal; the simple sheath silhouette was given a large full bow as back treatment.

Men's fashions included both dress and sport attire. Drawing everyone's attention was a cotton plaid dinner jacket with satin striped trousers and black tassel loafer shoes worn by Wilson Smith.

The three-season suit modeled by George Lovenborg had the new three-button coat and featured patch pockets with flaps. Providing entertainment during intermission was "Uncle Rick" Schuchard while wearing the latest in golf clothes for men, plaid Bermuda shorts, knit sport shirt, and nylon stretch knee-sock.

Lusk Plano company furnished an organ which Mrs. Schuchard played during the show.

The room was decorated with spring flowers and followed the Easter theme. Chairman for the event was Mrs. Floyd Robertson, co-chairman Mrs. Jim Winslow, with Mrs. M. H. Parsons as model chairman.

Welcomed into the club as a new member was Mrs. E. E. Fields.

Special awards were won by Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Parsons and Owen Ludwick.

The next meeting of Sojourners will be held at the Pythian hall, Thursday, March 11 at 12:30 p.m. All women residing in Medford or vicinity for less than two years are invited to attend and become members.

Bridge, pinocle and canasta are played during the afternoon.

Potluck refreshments will be served, and coffee and punch will be furnished by the class.

Doug Fosbury, caller for the Y Knot Twirlers Square Dance club which meets at the Y, was instructor for the beginners course.
