Need Baby Contest Entries

By HELEN BOTTEL

Cave Junction—A last call for young kings and queens for the Lion's club baby contest was made this week by contest chairman J. M. Bunch. Five more pairs are needed in order that their pictures may appear in all leading stores in the valley.

Each little boy and girl couple will be sponsored by a business house, where votes may be made in the form of money contributions to the Lion-sponsored summer recreation program.

Awards will be made at the last performance of "Skimming Low," to be presented here April 26 and 27.

Mrs. Gordon Leonard is to take pictures of the youngsters at 7 p.m. Monday, April 8, at Evergreen school. Parents should register with Mr. Bunch before that date.

Four valleyites plan to meet the ship Coral Sea when it docks at Tacoma, Wash., April 12, after making a trip around the Horn. On it are James A. Atkins, seaman 2nd class, and Chester Junior Gilliam, Me 3, both of whom plan to make the service their career.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Akins, James' parents, Mrs. Nettie So-well, Chester's mother, and his bride, the former LaVerne Greenough, will all leave around April 10 for Washington. The Akins have not seen their son in six of the nine years he has spent in the Navy.

Mrs. Vera Simpson left Wednesday for her home in Santa Monica, after visiting her two daughters, Mrs. Frankie Kaufman in Cave Junction and Mrs. Winnifred Mulvey in Grants Pass. She made the trip especially to attend the Eastern Star ceremonies Tuesday night.

When Mr. and Mrs. George Mulvey were installed as worthy patron and worthy patron of Western Star Chapter No. 64.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Saffer returned Sunday from Klamath, Ore., where they visited Mrs. Saffer's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Todd. Mrs. Todd is recovering from major surgery.

The Saffers are only recently back from a seven week's trip to the middle east, where they visited relatives and friends in Denver, Emporia, Kan., Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma Texas and Central California.

Another serious operation in the family called them to Well-ton, Okla., where they found Mrs. Saffer's sister, Lucy Clark, on the way to recovery. In Modesto, Calif., they discovered their daughter, Mrs. J. L. Howard had recently undergone surgery. The Howards are former residents of the valley.

In Emporia, the Saffers said, water was so scarce that house-wives were rationed to once-a-day dish washing.

Blue Star Mothers will meet Tuesday, April 9 at the home of Mrs. C. Y. Arnold in Cave Junction.

The meeting is to begin at 1:30 p.m. Refreshments are planned by the hostess.

The Saddle Bums met April 1 at the Van Johnson home in Kerby for a potluck supper. Introduced as a visitor was Mrs. Fay Arrants, while Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were officially welcomed as new members.

Plans for rides and short pack trips were made. The club is expecting the Chetco Wranglers to participate in a gymkhana at the new riding grounds in Kerby this spring.

The grounds, started last year, are now being readied for use. Blasting has been done by Ike Daugherty, and Mrs. Daugherty, who is a prospective mother, has cleared off brush for a barbecue area and kitchen. Picnic tables have been constructed and LaVerne Sauer plans to do the final levelling of the arena. Cecil Slack has donated lumber from his Harvest Mills for construction work.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will again be hosts at the next potluck dinner meeting, April 13.

Nine-year-old Glenda McDonald celebrated her birthday Saturday at a party given by her mother, Mrs. Vester McDonald at their Elk creek home near O'Brien.

Pink rose buds decorated the white frosted sheet cake which was served with ice cream and punch.

Assisting Mrs. McDonald with arrangements were Mrs. Robert Crose and Mrs. Vester Cogburn. Guests were Barbara and Leah Stephens, Linda Lou, Robin and Markie Kirk, Donna Cogburn, Richard, Carole and Roger Felton, R. J. Richard and Robert Cross, Barbara Ann and Michael McDonald of Kerby, Richard Lemm, Rosemary Michels, Connie Orton, Harvey and Dennis Peery, Linda Rose Campbell, Jerry Fish and Vern McDonald. Sending gifts but unable to attend were Linda Gilmore, Roger Cross and Mildred Michels.

Another nine-year-old was honored at a birthday party last Friday, when schoolmates gathered at the home of Vicki Sherier of Cave Junction.

Vicki's mother, Mrs. Luther Sherier Jr. served ice cream and cake and planned a number of games for the party which started at 3:30 p.m.

Guests included Judy Stowe, Bobby Steimer, Mike Mann, David Larson, Debbie and Eddie Lesnowicz, Linda Tanya Hilger, Johnnie Deaton, Kathy Hussey, Christie Lesnowicz, Billy Culbertson, Kathy Liss, Galen Allen, Billy Shellabarger, Tommy and Geri Sherier.

Ralph Burns, high school vocational agriculture instructor, finished up the remaining oral work for his master's degree at Oregon State college, Corvallis, last Saturday. He will receive his degree at ceremonies to be held at the college in June.

In Portland from Tuesday

until Sunday were Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Collman, who brought home with them, the doctor's mother, Dr. P. J. Collman, and Mrs. Collman's sister-in-law, Mrs. W. C. Hawk, both of Portland.

Dr. Collman, now retired, will stay in Cave Junction several weeks. Mrs. Hawk will leave this week to visit her mother in Medford.

Members of the Illinois Valley Garden club who decorated the chapel at Camp White for last Sunday's services were president Mrs. James Payne, Mrs. Chris Wendt and Mrs. Robert Oliphant.

Garden clubs all over southern Oregon take turns performing this service for the disabled veterans.

At the Josephine county Farm Bureau meeting Monday evening, March 25, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loosley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Smith and Keith Nelson, from the Illinois valley Farm Bureau.

Mrs. Smith is legislative chairman for the local group. Nelson was the official representative from the valley and Loosley holds a state office.

Close to $100 was raised Saturday at the Illinois Valley Garden club plant and candy sale, held in spite of poor weather, in front of the Ivy theater.

In charge of the plant sale committee was Mrs. John Smith, who was assisted by Mrs. George Webb and Mrs. Floyd Wells. Mrs. Marian DuBurke made arrangements for the candy sale.

A little green oasis at the north side of the playground at Evergreen school is in the making. For shade, the teachers have planted Douglas firs and cedar, while children are putting in daffodils and other plants and seeds.

In Evergreen's fourth grade room, children are making a real life study of nutrition. Two chinchillas, loaned by Mrs. Gilbert Clayton, will be fed proper food in one cage, and a poor diet in the other over a period of two months. Charts and records will show progress or lack of progress. Mrs. Dave Wilson hastens to assure her class that the soft little animals won't be allowed to starve.

The Illinois Valley HEU will meet April 9 at St. Matthias church. "Good weight for good health" will be the topic for discussion.

Because of an emergency major operation, Mrs. Hugh White's sister, Mrs. Fayne Hull was unable to make her scheduled visit to Cave Junction. Mrs. White received word last week that Mrs. Hull is recuperating and she and her husband will come up from Los Angeles later this spring.

Mrs. White's surgery at Josephine General hospital was postponed until Friday.

Tom Duncan of Cave Junction saw his cousin, Clarence Milburn for the first time in over 30 years Thursday when Mr. Milburn stopped in for lunch at the Duncan home. The Caldwell, Bob R.—My working wife resents doing housework. Lillian R.—I can't live up to the standard set by his first wife.

Bob R.—I was a widower until recently, when I married a divorcee in her early 30s. I have two children—16 and 14 years old. My wife and I both work and the children are quite independent. Their mother trained them to take care of their own things and cooperate around the house.

There is really very little for my wife to do, yet she seems to resent doing the little there is. She says a working woman should not be required to do housework. Yet I am a working man and put in far more hours than she does at her 9 to 5 job, and when I come home I do much of the heavy cleaning.

My first wife was thrifty and efficient, a wonderful homemaker and manager. She never complained about the amount of work there was to do. Maybe I expect too much, but I can't help feeling disappointed that Lillian shows so little interest in our home.

Lillian R.—Of course, I could never expect to live up to the standard set by Bob's first wife. Evidently she was the world's most perfect woman. Just the same, Bob should realize that she had nothing to do but to take care of the home.

In my first marriage I didn't have to work and I had some domestic help as well. My husband didn't expect me to prepare big family dinners as Bob does. We went out to dine on Sundays and sometimes during the week too.

My hours may not be long, but my job is a hard one. I ar-

Visiting the Hugh Whites at the Illinois Valley Ranger Station Saturday were Mrs. White's niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stanley of Arcata, Calif.

MEDFORD (OREGON) MAIL TRIBUNE—THREE

Company Purchases Jacksonville Land

The City Sanitation Service company, 209 West Main st., Medford, recently purchased about 300 acres from Heber Bowser about one mile southwest of Jacksonville near Bellingham lane, according to Tony Boitano, coowner of the company.

Boitano said the sanitation company is now selling timber on the acreage and will continue to market it until the area is cleared. In about five years, when the timber has been exhausted, the company may use the area for possible "investment purposes," he said.

Boitano added the company tentatively is planning residences and possible other buildings on the site. The sanitation company at this time is not planning to construct a waste disposal plant in the area, according to Boitano.

The sanitation company now uses disposal facilities at Camp White, he said.
