Postal Official Believes Congress Will Give Money

Summerfield Said Not Bluffing on Cut

Washington— (U.P.) —Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield feels "very confident" that Congress will meet his demands for an extra $47 million to head off drastic cuts in postal services.

He said he is "not bluffing" about his order sent to post offices across the country to begin cutting down on mail deliveries and to keep their windows closed on Saturdays, beginning April 13.

Summerfield said he has been assured that if the House acts on his request this week, the Senate Appropriations committee and the full Senate are set to move swiftly on it.

Wants Full Amount

The postal chief said that he would not settle for any less than his full request for $47 million.

He threatened the cuts after a House Appropriations subcommittee last week cut his request to $17. But he postponed them for a week—they were to have gone into effect last Saturday—after the full committee agreed to take up the matter next Friday.

Failed to Act on Time

Summerfield said the present crisis was brought on because the appropriations committee failed to act in time. He said he had told Congress in January that his department needed $53 million to tide it over until July 1 because of mounting mail demands.

He was reminded that the Budget bureau did not pass along his request until mid-March. He replied that the bureau had a "little too much hope" that postal expenses would drop and that it delayed longer than he wanted.

Regatta Visitor Dies in Motel Here

A 26-year-old Brookings, man, who was to participate in the Western Speedboat association regatta at Emigrant lake Sunday, died in a local motel Saturday night, according to city police.

Death of Donald Lee Vaughn, proprietor of the Highway market, Brookings, was apparently from natural causes, according to County Coroner Carlos Morris.

Vaughn's death was reported to city police about 12:40 a.m. Sunday by Thomas Ralph Dent, Brookings, who was staying with him at Pulver's motel, 1237 North Riverside ave., Medford. Both were in Medford to participate in the regatta, police said.

Dent told police Vaughn went to bed earlier Saturday evening after complaining of feeling sick, officers reported. Vaughn's body is being taken to Crescent City, Calif., today by Conger-Morris funeral home for services and interment.

Salem—(U.P.)—Former Interior Secretary Douglas McKay returned to the state Senate for a visit today.

McKay, who was a state senator before he became governor of Oregon, walked with a cane. He had been using crutches for several weeks following a broken kneecap suffered in a fall at his home while carrying luggage from his car.

Washington — (U.P.) — Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton is reported "progressing satisfactorily" at the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center.

JUDGE RAWLES MOORE
Held Post Since 1950

District Judge Rawles Moore Dies Here After Stroke

District Judge R les Moore, 69, Old Stage rd., Central Point, died at Rogue Valley hospital early today after a sudden illness.

Judge Moore, who has held that position since its establishment in 1950, suffered a stroke at his home about 9:15 a.m. Sunday.

Born Jan. 2, 1888 in Dyersbury county, Tennessee, he studied law at George Washington university in Washington, D. C. He grew up in Princeton, Ky., and was married there on June 28, 1913. He and his wife, Harvey Amoss Moore, came to Jackson county in 1917.

Judge Moore established a private law practice in Medford after his arrival here and was elected Jackson county district attorney in 1921. He held that office until 1923, then returned to private law practice. He was elected district judge in 1950 and started his term on Jan. 2, 1951. He was reelected without opposition in the 1956 general election.

In Organizations

Judge Moore was a member of the Oregon and Jackson County Bar associations, the Democratic party, the Medford Elks lodge and the Rogue Valley Country club. While attending George Washington university, he was affiliated with Delta Tau Delta social fraternity.

Survivors include his wife; one son, David A. Moore, a petroleum geologist living at Casper, Wyo.; and two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth R. Beebe, Table Rock rd., Medford, and Mrs. Harvey D. Field Jr., 1525 Terrace drive, Medford.

Funeral arrangements at the Chapel Mortuary are pending arrival of his son. The family has requested that in lieu of flowers, those desiring to do so send contributions to the heart society.

Reminder Issued On Tree Planting

Residents planting trees were reminded today to plant them at least five feet from the water service line running underground from the street to the house.

Robert Lee, city water superintendent, said roots of trees planted too close to water lines eventually block or otherwise damage the lines.

The Medford city council recently adopted an ordinance allowing trees to be planted in some sections of Medford. Planting of trees is still prohibited in most areas of the city.

Lee also said the Hawk water line, running on Wabash ave. from Stevens to Spring sts., will be turned off between 8:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. Tuesday. Water service will be discontinued temporarily while fire hydrants are installed on Wabash ave. and Spring st., he said.

Dulles Would Make Foreign Aid Part Of Defense Budge

Revolving Fund for Economic Aid Loans

Washington — (U.P.) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles proposed today that foreign military aid be made a part of the defense budget in the future.

Dulles also recommended that a $750 million revolving fund be set up to handle foreign economic aid on a loan basis.

The secretary, in testimony, before a special Senate Foreign Aid committee, proposed further that so-called "defense support" —indirect military aid—be authorized on a continuing basis. Congress would appropriate money for it annually as it does with other continuing programs.

Administration's Answer

Dulles' recommendations were viewed as the administration's answer to warnings that the foreign aid program is in real trouble among congressmen unless the administration comes up with a new approach.

The proposed switch of military aid to the defense budget would reduce the size of the foreign assistance bill. But the cut would be added to defense appropriations.

The special Senate committee is making an overall long range study of U. S. aid programs overseas. President Eisenhower has not yet formally submitted this year's $4,400,000,000 aid program to Congress. He is expected to do so later this month.

Long Range Fund

Dulles recommended that a long range economic development fund be set up after the fiscal year starting July 1. He said it "might come to reach $750 million a year."

The secretary of state opposed, however, suggestions that the foreign aid program be removed from the International Cooperation Administration and placed under the State Department. He said good administration "does not require throwing into the Department of State heavy operating responsibilities."

Unless there is a change in the "international climate," Dulles said, direct military aid spending will "need to continue for some years at a level close to the present." Military aid now runs close to $3 billion a year.

Cardinal Segura, Noted Spanish Prelate, Dies

Madrid —(U.P.)— Pedro Cardinal Segura, Spain's most controversial prelate, died early Monday at the age of 76. He had warred alike on Protestants and politicians but he died "forgiving everybody and asking forgiveness of everybody."

Segura's long and tumultuous clerical life was marked by open clashes with Generalissimo Francisco Franco whom he constantly snubbed, and by differences with others of Catholic church until he dropped from public life in 1954.

Heart Weakened

The cardinal, Archbishop of Sevilla, had been suffering for months from a kidney ailment, but his heart and blood circulation system also were weakened. Death had been expected for the past 48 hours and he received the last sacraments on Saturday morning and took communion Sunday.

During his career Pedro Cardinal Segura y Saenz, archbishop Cardinal of Segura, gained an international reputation as a bitter enemy of protestantism in Spain where catholicism is the state religion, and as an equally bitter opponent of Franco's regime.

His clashes with the Spanish chief of state were numerous, and he extended his opposition to international accords which he felt would strengthen Franco's position in Spain. Spain's 1953 agreement to provide military bases for the United States drew his fire because he said it would propogate the spread of protestantism.

Tornado Hits Rural Mississippi; Heavy Snow Falls in Plains Area

U.S. Offers To Mothball Weapons In Disarming Step

Major Powers Would Follow Under Plan

London —(U.P.)— The United States conditionally offered today to join the other major powers in mothballing 25 per cent of conventional weapons as a first big step toward world disarmament.

The condition is that a trial cut of 10 per cent in armaments and additional reductions in military manpower first prove in practice that international disarmament will work.

Put Before Subcommittee

U.S. Delegate Harold Stassen put the new proposal before the United Nations five-power disarmament subcommittee at its 99th session in four years of work.

Stassen already had proposed last month that Russia, the United States, Britain, France and Canada start the ball rolling toward disarmament by agreeing to put 10 per cent of all non-nuclear weapons in mothballs at "disarmament depots" which U.N. observers would guard.

The condition is that a trial cut of 10 per cent in armaments and additional reductions in military manpower first prove in practice that international disarmament will work.

At the same time, according to this first step, the United States and Russia would trim their military manpower to 2.5 million men apiece, with Britain and France cutting to a maximum figure of 750,000 men.

Stassen added the new proposal today that if this test stage works out, another 15 per cent of weapons be put in mothballs under international control.

This would add up to an overall cutback of 25 per cent.

More Homemade Bombs Reported

Discovery of three more homemade bombs was reported by Medford residents Sunday, bringing the total to five such bombs found in Medford since last Tuesday, according to Medford police.

Dorothy L. Brown, 1007 Reddy st., Medford, reported to officers Sunday someone had thrown a burning homemade bomb into her back yard. The object was made of red plastic and wrapped in black friction tape and white heavy string, police said.

Two of the bombs, made out of empty shot-gun shells and wrapped in black friction tape, were found in the street near 315 Haven st., by Robert Dorig, 10, of 308 Haven st., Medford, according to police. Officers said the bombs were filled with white powder and had six-inch fuses.

Police Chief Charles Champlin said the bombs discovered Sunday were not dangerous. They are believed to be the work of several small boys, Champlin said. He urged residents to immediately report any other such instances to the police department.

Dooley's Income Tax Plans Gain Support

Salem—(U.P.)—Gov. Robert D. Holmes today backed up a tax program advocated by House Speaker Pat Dooley.

But the governor said there would likely be some changes made by the legislature in the program.

Dooley, a Democrat, last week said he favored increasing taxes on incomes of about $4,000 to $10,000 to finance a budget of $265 million and at the same time make up for removal of the 45 per cent surtax on incomes.

The governor, at a news conference, also announced that it would be up to the newly-appointed State Fair commission what to do about the courtesy resignation submitted last week by Fair Director Leo Spitzbart. Spitzbart told Chairman John H. Travis, Hood River, that he would be glad to remain as director until April 15.

Commenting on the progress of his legislative program, the governor said he was well satisfied with Joint Ways and Means committee action on a proposed state development commission. The committee last Friday recommended a budget of $286,900 to set up a state department of planning and development to replace the Oregon Development commission.

First Orchard Heating Necessary

Low temperatures Sunday morning forced most Rogue valley fruit growers to heat their orchards for the first time this season.

Temperatures dropped to about 25 degrees in some areas, according to C. B. Cordy, county horticulture agent.

Some fruit growers heated their orchards Monday morning, but heating was not as general as on Sunday morning.

The county agent said a few dead buds resulted from low temperatures Sunday. Majority of the dead buds were in apricot and peach trees, he said. Cordy stressed that this damage would not be sufficient to reduce the overall crop.

Appointments to donate blood may be made by telephoning the Bloodmobile office, Medford 3-3813. Red Cross officials stressed that drop-in donors will be accepted tomorrow at the Bloodmobile.

Eldred R. Colver, an employee of the firm, notified state police of the theft. It was previously reported that $600 worth of Series E savings bonds and a large check were in the safe, but they were later found by garage employees.

According to sheriff's deputies, who were called into the case by state police, the blank checks were personalized checks on the Skeeters and Skeeters garage account.

Owners of the firm are Charles L. and R. O. Skeeters, both of Talent.

Queen Elizabeth Arrives in Paris

Paris — (U.P.) — Queen Elizabeth arrived today to begin an April in Paris visit that inspired the warmest welcome the French have given any royal figure since they guillotined their own Queen Marie Antoinette.

The Queen and her husband, Prince Philip, flew in from London, and they found all Paris decked in Britain's national colors.

A huge Union Jack flew from the Eiffel Tower, dominating the sunlit city. Smaller British flags fluttered from every city bus, and bunting in the British colors festooned lampposts and store fronts.

Elizabeth is the first reigning British Queen who has visited France in 102 years.

Many Ohio Schools Forced To Close Because of Snow

Denver Records Lowest Temperature

By UNITED PRESS

A twister ripped a rural Mississippi community in Dixie's "tornado alley" Monday and storm clouds dumped heavy, wet snow on the Midwest and East.

The tornado cut a swath four miles long and a quarter of a mile wide near Tupelo, Miss. It destroyed one home, on barn and a machine shop and damaged other homes. Most residents had taken refuge in storm cellars and no one was reported injured.

Many Schools Closed

A belt of heavy snow fell from Illinois to New York state, and the storm forced many schools to close in Northern Ohio.

The snow piled 10 inches deep in Toledo, Ohio, and there was eight inches at Goshen, Ind., six inches in Central Illinois and three inches at Erie, Pa.

The Rockies and Western plains states dug out from under as much as a foot of snow left by the third spring snowstorm to hit the area in as many weeks.

Weather Cold

Winter refused to give ground to spring. The mercury fell to seven degrees blow zero at Fargle, Colo., and Denver thermometers registered a frigid nine above, a all time record low for April 8. It was 5 above at Cheyene, Wyo., equalling a low set in 1875.

Freezing temperatures were predicted as far south as Tennessee tonight.

The storm swept into Kansas and the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles during the night after dumping an average of one foot of new snow in much of Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska. Leadville, Colo., with 36 inches of snow on the ground, had the heaviest accumulation.

Gusts up to 50 miles per hour whipped the snow into giant drifts at Liberal and Jetmore, Kan. The strong winds ripped dust clouds across southeastern New Mexico.

Oregon State Fair Budget Gets Approval

Salem —(U.P.) — The Oregon Senate today passed and sent to the governor, House bill 45, providing a budget of $976,000 in the next biennium for the Oregon State Fair.

Sen. Daniel A. Thiele, Astoria Democrat, said a ways and means subcommittee had examined the budget thoroughly and found it sound and said the State Fair has more than paid its way for years under excellent management. Leo Spitzhart is manager of the state fair.

Sen. Walter J. Pearson, Portland Democrat, said he thought the Ways and Means Committee should pare the budgets of all so-called self-sustaining agencies, including the State Fair, as closely as possible and put the rest of the money in the general fund as one step toward solving the state's over-all tax problem. The bill passed with only six dissenting votes.

Vessel To Sail Despite Warning Of Destruction

Salvage Ships Remove Last Canal Obstacle

By UNITED PRESS

Israeli officials said today they would go ahead with plans to send a test ship through the Suez Canal despite a Cairo warning that any such ship would be "destroyed on the spot."

The Egyptian warning was printed in the Cairo weekly Akhbar Elyom and was directed at Israeli ships seeking to use either the Suez Canal or the Gulf of Aqaba.

Last Obstacle Removed

United Nations salvage vessels removed the Egyptian frigate Abukir, the last obstacle blocking the Suez Canal, from the harbor at Port Suez Monday and started towing it northward toward the Great Bitter Lakes.

Israel still was celebrating the arrival of an American tanker at Eilat this week end, the first American vessel to sail through the Strait of Tiran since Egypt imposed a blockade in 1948.

Cargo of Oil

The tanker, the 10,000-ton Kern Hills with 16,000 tons of oil, passed through the straits without incident and began unloading its oil at Israel's new port of Eilat while the nation celebrated.

The Cairo French language newspaper La Bourse Egyptienne warned the United States and Britain that such moves as bringing in tankers for Israel could endanger their oil supplies.

It said the U.S. tanker deal could not have been concluded without Washington's knowledge and that Washington was "thus engaging in a policy whose consequences can easily be predicted."

It said the oil for Israel could have come only from Iran or other Persian Gulf Arab states and that the two western powers had "better reckon with the views of the oil producing countries of the Middle East."

Israel Demands Rights

Israeli officials expressed cautious hope the passage of the tanker would lead the Arabs to relax their economic boycott but they proceeded with plans to develop the port city and to build a pipeline to bypass the Suez Canal.

Gideon Rafael, Foreign Ministry counsellor and recently special adviser to the U.N. delegation, confirmed that Israel "would of course send a ship through" the canal. He said it was Israel's right which would be used as a matter of course.

Dynamite Explosion Breaks School Windows

Eugene — (U.P.) — Police Monday were checking out leads in a dynamite explosion which shattered 52 windows in the Dunne School here early Sunday.

The blast, which police said was reported about 2 a.m., blew a hole five inches deep and about two feet wide in a gravel parking lot adjacent to the school.

Authorities said the explosion was believed the work of pranksters.

Neuberger Defends Ike's Helicopter Transportation

Washington—(U.P.) — A Democratic senator has sprung to the defense of President Eisenhower for planning to use helicopter transportation.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) scolded critics who have complained about the cost of helicopters, automobiles and other White House expenses.

He labelled such complaints "mere demagoguery."

Protests Received

Neuberger, who previously has twitted Eisenhower about high speed presidential motorcades and for trying to shoo squirrels from his putting green on the White House lawn, said he has been receiving protests about the President's transportation to his golf club.

"Do people expect Mr. Eisenhower to take a trolley car when he decides to play a round of golf?" he asked in a weekly newsletter to constituents.

Neuberger blamed "irresponsible political statements about the $72 billion budget" for complaints he has been receiving about Eisenhower's personal expenses.

Not Used for Golf

These complaints, he said, are "tantamount to some hard pressed British taxpayer grumbling over the royal family. If the throne were totally abolished, taxes in England still would be astronomically high."

Eisenhower has never gone to Burning Tree Golf Course by helicopter and became visibly angry when a reporter recently asked him about it. He denied that two recently secured $60,000 helicopters were procured for that purpose.

3,000 Metal Tradesmen Go On Strike in Portland Area

Portland — (U.P.) — Three-thousand metal trades workers went on strike today after wage negotiations broke down.

A. E. Bird, secretary of the Metal Trades Council, said boilermakers, machinists, electricians, laborers, operating engineers, painters, warehousemen and automotive engineers were called off the job.

Bird said the two-year general contract expired next year and that the dispute was over wages on which talks reopened this year.

The union sought a 10-per cent across the board increase as well as a one-year wage agreement in place of the two-year wage pact which expired April 1. Bird said the wage hike asked would range from 20 to 30 cents an hour, depending upon job classification.

Last week some 1800 metal workers struck in Seattle in a similar dispute.

Ready for Long Strike

Bird said if the strike is a long one ". . . and we figured it might be—we are ready."

An employer spokesman said employers would meet this afternoon to discuss developments. "We may have an important announcement following our meeting," he said.
