

Flower Exhibit Held at Meeting Of Garden Club

A display of daffodils by Frank Hall, Rogue River, proved to be the highlight of the spring flower exhibit at the last meeting of Medford Garden club at the Pythian hall. Also shown were camellias, Anemones, hoop petticoat daffodils, apple blossoms, Christmas rose, spirea and flowering quincy. Included in the array of blossoms were some of the wild flowers currently in bloom, including lamb tongue, wild bill and wild iris.

Guest speaker was Dr. L. G. Gantner, who talked on "Insect Pests and their Control." Dr. Gantner said "insects affect almost every phase of our economy; not all pests are injurious to plants and vegetation, and one should be able to recognize the beneficial ones from the harmful. In order to control pests you should know their habits. Plants grow constantly and must therefore be sprayed often to keep the new growth from being harmed by insects. Liquid spray lasts longer on foliage than the dust spray. There are any number of good sprays on the market today and used constantly and correctly, can control the amount of pest infection in the community."

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. G. A. Galbraith and Mrs. R. H. Peterson. The tea table centerpiece was of primroses and a arrangement of quince blossoms and spirea decorated the speakers platform. Mrs. A. G. McMillin and Mrs. J. W. Ostrander poured.

Announcement was made for the Plant Sale to be held April 26 at the Fehl building. All plants contributed are to be in a container and labeled. A "white elephant" sale will also be held where vases, planters and other articles may be purchased.

Lauran Bacall Back in New York

BY GAY PAULEY
United Press Correspondent

New York—(U.P.)—Lauran Bacall is a girl with a strong chin. Today it's held a little higher than usual as she moves back into the public eye, a widow at 32, but not a woman feeling sorry for herself.

"I'm not weeping on anybody's shoulder," she said. "Or on my own. That's a little hard to do anyway. Ever try it?"

She said she is determined not to live in the past. "Oh, I will never forget," she said. "God knows I was luckier than almost anybody." She was talking of her 11-year marriage to actor Humphrey Bogart, who died January 14 of cancer.

"But the children have their life ahead of them. And I'm a girl. I'm alive. I am not going into a nunnery."

Would she ever remarry? "I haven't thought about that," she said. "I'm just trying to muddle through right now."

Miss Bacall came to New York, her home town, to see family and friends, to show her two children, Stephen, 8, and Leslie, 4, the wonders of the big city, and to help promote her new picture, "Designing Woman." The movie was completed before Bogart died, but release was delayed.

The actress, said she has no intention of retiring.

"Name one good reason why I should" she said. "And who can afford to anyway?"

"My blood goes through my veins better when I work. But I don't want to work just for the sake of work. You're apt to be shoved into things you don't want to do."

"I feel this is the moment in my career to take a deep breath. Up to now, I've been doing the smart whips and cracks stuff. I want to do higher class pictures."

"I don't think I'm a deathless talent, but I do think I have some ability to offer. I would like to see it used best."

All Pieces Match In Sports Togs

By United Press

A summer sports wardrobe that matches—from shorts to skimmers—is a style at the top of the popularity scale. Designers match colors, or stripes or embroidery to shorts, blouses, calf-skimmers, bermudas, skirts and jackets. No matter what you wear, it matches.

A new favorite for the lady-like sportswoman is pleated shorts. Looking like a ballet dancer, the wearer tops panties with a permanent pleated skirt just the length of shorts.

Designers blame the black-and-white stage settings of "My Fair Lady" for the black-and-white look this summer. One complements the other with no color accent. The effect—in checks, stripes, plaids and plains—is starting.

Appliques give a designer look to gay prints in summer cottons. A gathered skirt of bright printed watermelon rinds on cotton goes with a dark blouse that carries a cut-out of the print applied to a pocket. A blouse atop a nautical flag skirt sails into fashion with twin flags on the collar.

Women's Association Has Meeting Today

Phoenix—Women's association of Phoenix Presbyterian church met today at the church to make final preparations for a rummage sale to be held April 12 at the Eagles hall in Medford. In addition they cleaned the church in preparation for Easter and a public dinner to be served.

The association also plans a ham dinner April 26.

India has about 8000 public hospitals and about 92,000 registered doctors, according to late figures.

Gold Hill Group To Hold Meeting

Gold Hill—Officers of the ladies' auxiliary to Gold Hill post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announce that a meeting will be held Friday, April 12, in the IOOF hall at 8 p.m. This will be a business meeting for members only and not a social gathering as previously announced.

The post will meet the same evening.

Applegate PTA Sets Date For "Spring Fling"

Applegate—The annual "Spring Fling" of Applegate Parent-Teacher association will be a barbecue dinner, plant sale and free movies. The dinner will be served between 6 and 8 p.m. Saturday, April 13 in the Applegate school cafeteria. The dinner menu will feature barbecued pork.

Plants will be on sale in the gymnasium where movies will be shown at 8 p.m.

The pre-school clinic for children who will enter Applegate school for the first time in September will be held in the Music room at 1 p.m. Wednesday, April 17. This will include a free health examination, immunization shots and any booster shots needed.

Men's Taste Best Says Sally Victor

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Correspondent
New York—(U.P.)—When it comes to buying a spring bonnet, let the man in your life have the last word for a change.

Mrs. Sally Victor said that if women paid more attention to masculine advice, there would be fewer outlandish hats in the Easter parade.

"Men for the most part have better taste than women," said Mrs. Victor, who makes the hats worn by the nation's first lady.

Does Mrs. Eisenhower listen to the President?

"She certainly does," said the milliner. "I don't know of any hat he's turned thumbs down on completely. But she gets the same glow as any other woman when complimented on what she's wearing."

Men like women in feminine hats, she said. "I don't mean fussy," she added, "but soft in line and color. Men don't like those stiff, wired-looking sailors, for instance."

Mrs. Victor said that despite all the warnings, the Easter parade will be cluttered with hat mistakes. She listed some of the inevitable buying errors.

"The biggest is buying a hat because a friend likes it," she said.

Another is the woman's insisting on a certain color because "someone told her when she was 16 the shade was flattering, and she's been featuring it ever since. Women forget that skin tone hair color change from those sweet-16 days."

Perfect Average Made by Student

Eugene—A total of 338 University students earning a 3.5 or higher grade point average during the winter term have been named to the honor roll.

All "A's," or a perfect 4.00 grade point average, were earned by 53 students. One of these was Miss Nancy McKeown, Medford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. McKeown, 109 South Orange street.

On the honor roll from Medford are Thomas J. Carey, Jr., junior in premedics, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Carey, 325 South Holly street; Miss Carolyn Clogston, sophomore in liberal arts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Clogston, 2138 West Main street; Terry G. Sherwood, junior in journalism, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sherwood, 1020 Jasper avenue; Fred C. Stammen, senior in business administration, and Miss McKeown, freshmen in pre-nursing.

United Nations experts put China's present population at about 625 million.
