

Ashland Woman to Preside Over AAUW Region Meet

National officials, state leaders and members representing four states will participate in the first divisional-regional meeting of the American Association of University Women opening today in Baker, Ore., according to Mrs. C. D. Winston, North Pacific regional vice president, Ashland, and Mrs. R. Willard Duncan, Oregon division president from Klamath Falls. The combination state-regional meeting closes Saturday.

Convention keynoter will be Dr. Anna L. Rose Hawkes, national president, Orleans, Vt., and Dr. Elmo Stevenson, president, Southern Oregon college, Ashland, will address the convention Friday morning.

Members of national committees who will participate in discussions are Dr. Marion Cox, by-laws committee member and president of the Washington division from Seattle; Dr. Marion Spector, international relations, Seattle; Dr. Sara Vinke, fellow-ship funds, Bozeman, Mont.; Dr. Martha Springer, standards and recognition of Colleges and Universities, Salem, Ore.; Mrs. Carl Brandenfels, chairman of the 75th anniversary national convention and Oregon division treasurer from St. Helens and Mrs. Robert Y. Thornton, arts, Salem.

Also assisting will be Mrs. Donald Morebeck, president of the Idaho division from Kellogg; Mrs. R. R. Renne, vice president of the Montana division; and Mrs. E. H. Grahm, Moscow, Ida., who has been named secretary for the regional conference.

Dr. Stevenson will speak on the President's San Francisco Conference on "Education Beyond High School," to which he was a delegate.

The one-day Oregon Division convention agenda today will include election of officers, formulation of a legislative program and designation of state fellowship funds.

The slate of nominees for the 1957-59 term includes: Miss Maurine Lober, Portland, president; Mrs. Carl Brandenfels, St. Helens, vice president; Mrs. Gerald Whitney, Pendleton, treasurer; Mrs. R. Norman Hukari, Hood River, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Every, Corvallis, recording secretary.

Mrs. William Niskanen, Bend, chairman of the state fellowship committee, will report on the fund which is expected to exceed last year's $6,000. She will recommend for a vote the designation of funds to the million dollar endowment fund of the national association or for expenditure in 1957-58 for fellowships.

Mrs. Winston will call the regional conference to order Friday morning for delegates from Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Alaska.

The two-day session will include discussions on "Issues of the Future"—economic, social and cultural issues of the world, and "Issues of Program Development and Administration" of AAUW—as they relate to the broader issues.

Expected to arouse considerable discussion are: Present consideration of the discontinuance of future associate members (current associates would be retained); proposed administrative changes which would abolish the legislative committee and assign legislative activity to various related subject committees; and suggested recommendations for creation of new committees, including a program development committee.

"The purpose of the discussions," Mrs. Winston said, "is to give a better understanding to delegates who will vote on these issues at the national convention in Boston June 23-27, and to enable them to gain a consensus of opinion of the general membership."

Mrs. Frances A. Willett, immediate past president of the Medford branch, is serving on the floor activity committee for the convention.

Howard Maple Named Oregon Fair Manager

Salem—(U.P.)—Howard Maple, well known former coach and athlete, has been named manager of the Oregon State Fair, according to Fair Commission Chairman Jack Travis.

Maple succeeds Leo Spitzbart, who resigned. Maple more recently has been manager of the Coos county Chamber of Commerce.

He formerly owned a sporting goods store here and was athletic coach at Willamette university. He played professional baseball following his graduation from Oregon State in 1929. Maple also was once a member of the Salem city council.

He plans to take over complete management June 1.

Tow Target Leaves Plane, Hits House

Fort Walton Beach, Fla.—(U.P.)—A "Red Bird" tow target broke from an F89 Scorpion jet from Eglin Air Force base late Wednesday and struck a home, almost demolishing the dwelling and slightly injuring a housewife.

Authorities said the target, a miniature plane with a 20-foot wingspread, broke from its tow cable at 15,000 feet and slammed into the $15,000 home at Mary Esther, Fla., near here.

Mrs. R. E. Smith, about 25, was treated at the Eglin base hospital for shock and for cuts from flying glass. Then she and her husband were given quarters at Eglin because their home was too badly damaged to occupy.

Invalid Mother Stops Son's Theft Attempt

Detroit—An invalid mother hobbled into Detroit Recorder's court on crutches Wednesday to swear out a burglary warrant against her son.

Mrs. Emile Zakrzewski, 65, charged her son, Alexander, 46, broke down the front door of her house while she was in bed March 22 and tried to make off with $300 she had hidden in a box under the bed.

She said she hit him with a blackjack as he stooped down to pick up the box and he fled empty handed. The woman told police her son, who is being sought, gave her the blackjack for protection eight months ago.
