

Pear Control Group Elected at Meeting

Election of grower and handler members of the winter pear control committee was held recently in Medford under the auspices of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Members of the Fruit Growers league who were elected as representatives are Paul Culbertson, grower member, David Lowry, first alternate, and Stephen Nye, second alternate. Representatives of the Medford Pear Shippers association elected to the control committee are Dick Grey, handler member, Joe Naumes, first alternate, and Harold Holmes, second alternate. Those elected will serve on the committee for one year. The committee is comprised of representatives of the major winter pear producing areas of the west coast and serves to advise the USDA on marketing problems of the industry.

High School Seniors Plan to Visit OSC

Corvallis—Twelve high school seniors from the Medford area will visit Oregon State college this week end for a preview of college educational opportunities. The week end is designed to give graduating seniors a chance to explore career possibilities in various fields of study and to talk with staff members about academic requirements. Special social and sports events also are planned to acquaint students with campus activities. Seniors are housed in student living organizations. The week end, known as "Beaver Preview" at OSC, is part of a program conducted by all state system schools.

Students planning to attend include Jim Miller, Dennis Patton, Patrick Clifford, Karl Douglas Cummings, David Espey Salie Greaser, and Howard Harper, all of Medford; Bruce Murnett and Jerry E. Golden, of Gold Hill; Gary DeGarmo and Max B. Frederick, of Central Point; and Fred Greene of Eagle Point.

EARLY CATCH

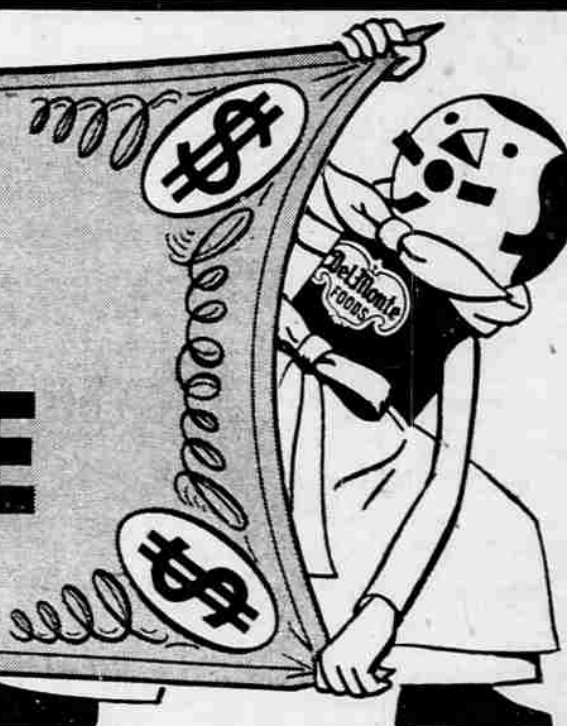

East Hartford, Conn.—(U.P.)—During the first hour of his first patrol, a rookie state policeman, Joseph Letitia, halted a motorist who turned out to be a car thief.
