He Must Like To Walk

Editor's note: Aline Mosby is on vacation. Today Natalie Wood, one of 1957's brightest new stars and also one of Hollywood's busiest dates, discusses her romantic future.

Written for the United Press

Hollywood—(U.P.)—Everybody asks me what kind of a guy I'd like to marry, but I figure it's about time I said something about the kind of a guy I wouldn't want to marry.

First of all, I don't intend to marry anyone who's not in the entertainment profession. I can just see myself married to an accountant, for instance. I'd come home at night, full of news about the studio and actors and actresses, and his mind would be full of figures, the numerical kind. I need someone who will have the same interests as I. Long Walks Enjoyed

Then I won't marry a man who is steady in his ways. This may sound strange to you. But that's the way I feel. I believe that for the next 10 years I'll be moving around a lot. I like to take long walks on the beach at crazy hours of the morning and do odd things. I don't want a man whose only desire in life is to come home, eat supper, watch television and then go to bed.

I won't marry a man who's sickeningly rich, or conversely poverty-stricken. The first variety would be content to live on his money and the second type would be content to live on my money.

Compromise Necessary

The man who grows all the time is not for me. Nor is the man who thinks that he has to dominate the household. I feel that marriage is a compromise and anyone who can't see my side of life once in a while is not the kind of person with whom I want to spend the rest of my life.

After reading what I have just written I'll probably be eating my words. Yes, I can just see it now: The man I'll marry will probably have all the characteristics that I don't want in a man. And, ironically, we'll probably live happily ever after!

$50,535 Suit Filed In Circuit Court

Harry L. Cook, 1204 West Main st., Medford, is seeking $50,535 damages in a suit filed in circuit court last week against R. A. and Edna C. Skinner, doing business as Skinner's Garage, 143 South Riverside ave.

The suit was filed as the result of an accident occurring on Feb. 3, 1956 at a car lot owned by the defendants. According to the complaint, Cook was walking on the car lot toward his car, which had been left at the garage for servicing, when he slipped on some ice and fell.

He states in the complaint that he received miscellaneous injuries, including a left hip fracture, post-traumatic concussion, contusions and abrasions, and that the accident resulted in permanent injuries.

Cook charges the defendants with four counts of negligence in connection with the accident, including failure to remove ice on the premises failure to use ashes, salt or other suitable substance for covering the ice and failure to warn the plaintiff of danger in walking on the lot.

Cook asks a jury trial, $5,535.68 special damages and $45,000 general damages, as well as costs and disbursements for the court action. He is represented by the Portland law firm of Poole and Farris.

Welfare Budget

Set at $32,136,274

Portland—(U.P.)—The State Public Welfare Commission Friday adopted a budget of $32,136,274 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958.

Of the total, $5,827,382 will come from the counties, $13,597,275 from the state and $12,711,617 from the federal government.

Although welfare appropriations have not yet been made by the Legislature, the estimated budget was adopted today because law requires that counties must be billed for their share not later than May 1.
