HORNBROOK Scout Gets Eagle Award

By MRS. H. H. CHAPMAN
Hornbrook—At the Boy Scout Court of Honor held Wednesday evening at the Grange hall, Bob Paine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loran Paine, was awarded his Eagle Scout badge.

He thus becomes a member of the exclusive group of the "1 in 100" Scouts who earn this award. Bob also receives merit badges in personal fitness, citizenship, community, journalism, bird study and nature study.

Dick Lamb of Medford, Field Executive of the Crater Lake Area Council, presiding as judge of the court, gave a talk on the value of scouting, and also related some anecdotes involving Bob during the several years he has served on the staff at Camp McLaughlin.

L. Everett Jeter, former scoutmaster of the local troop, served as clerk of the court, and the Rev. Lewis Manning, pastor of the Hornbrook Methodist church gave the invocation.

Preceding the presentation of awards, Lamb presented the Cub Charter to Rev. Manning for the Methodist church for sponsoring the cub pack, and the Scout Charter to Loran Paine. Awarded the rank of tenderfoot scout were Earl Henley, Mike Turnbow, and Billy Mura.

Those advanced to the rank of first class were Conrad Overstrom, Loren Cummins, Loran Paine Jr., Carl Williams Jr., and Benny Crawford. Mike Barnum received merit badges in farm mechanics, sportsmanship, surveying and dairying. Lamb commended the Hornbrook troop on the fact that, although a small troop, there are now three Eagle scouts in its membership. The other two are Mike Barnum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Barnum, and Ray Moffett, son of Mrs. Wayne Cummins.

Ray is now in the Air Force and stationed in Italy. Eagle scout Bob Paine gave the benediction, and the court was adjourned.

The Contract Bridge club met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Lester Nye. After a desert luncheon, members playing were Mrs. Bertha Bradley, who held high score, Mrs. David Holland, Mrs. Duane Hamner, Mrs. Laura Swinnerton, Mrs. Fred Mills, and Mrs. Grace Quigley. Placing second was Mrs. Kay Kettlewell, a guest player.

The Music club held their regular monthly meeting on Saturday at the studio of their teacher, Mrs. Paul Greene. Attending the meeting were Penny Barnum, Betty Dilley, and Dan Metzen from Hornbrook, Robert Lee and his mother, from Montague, and from Hills Robert Laustalot, Marsha Simmen, David Simmen, Paula Eastman and Pat Fox.

Following the reading of the class paper, "Keyboard Junior," a question and answer period was held in which Marsha Simmen and Pat Fox won first prizes, and Paula Eastman and Penny Barnum, second. The scrapbooks which the pupils have been working on for the past year are to be turned in at the May meeting to be judged with prizes to be awarded at the recital in June.

Mr. O. G. (Dad) Tyler observed his 87th birthday on May 1. Among those who called on him during the day were two daughters-in-law and a grandson, Mrs. Albert Wedin and son Mike, and Mrs. Grace Quigley and her three grandchildren, Dan, Mary, and Jimmy Metzen, and Mrs. Lester Nye, who baked a birthday cake for him. Mr. and Mrs. Tyler celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary last November. They were married in Hornbrook and have made their home here ever since.

ILLINOIS VALLEY New Time Fools Schedules

By HELEN BOTTEL

Cave Junction—Daylight saving time this week caused considerable changes in the lives of Oregonians who live close to the California border.

Mail on the Crescent City rural route is picked up and delivered almost an hour earlier each morning and afternoon, making it not only tough on mailmen Ed Holland who must hurry up his day to meet bay area schedules, but on others who are faced with a daily mail deadline.

At the Redwood Inspection station, just across the state line, the problem is solved by setting the outside clock (for California bound tourists) on fast time, but leaving the office clock (seen mostly by local people) on Oregon time. Doubly confused are those who live across the border in California but do their trading and schooling in Oregon. Those folks mainly ignore the California rule and worry along without that extra hour of daylight.

Three new boys have enrolled at the Boys Farm Home and School at Bridgeview, and another is expected Sunday, bringing the total of Mrs. Leta James "adopted family" to 30.

The boys are from Eureka, Woodburn and Portland.

Color slides of minerals, rocks and different varieties of gem materials were shown by Sophia Bunch at Illinois Valley Mineral Hobbies club meeting Tuesday evening at the Earl James home in Bridgeview.

Hostesses were Leta James and Irene Skinner.

The next meeting is planned for June 4 at the Ivan Burr home in Selma.

Completing their requirements for second class badge, members of Girl Scout Troops 82 and 29 visited O'Brien school Tuesday afternoon, where Mrs. Don Orton showed them slides on England and gave a talk on her native land. Study of foreign lands is included in the International Friendship requirement for second class rank.

At the monthly parent-son meeting for Pack 20, held Friday at Kerby school, Cub Scouts carried out the Castaway theme in various games and events.

Forming in teams, the boys fished for old shoes and played "steal the bacon," following the flag ceremony which opened the program.

Future plans for Pack 20 include a junior fire school at the Illinois Valley Ranger station, May 11, beginning at 9:30 a.m. Boys are asked to bring a sack lunch to the all-day field trip, held in connection with Fire Prevention month. Fire fighting equipment will be demonstrated by U.S. Forest Service personnel.

Pre-schoolers' day at O'Brien school is set for Friday, May 17, at 2 p.m. Parents are asked to bring their beginning first-graders to the get-acquainted session, which will also include a mothers' tea and program.

Mrs. Marth Woolley, public health nurse will be on hand to explain requirements for physical examinations.

Mrs. Carol Bullard and Mrs. Eileen Orton, O'Brien teachers, are in charge of arrangements, and will be assisted by PTA mothers.

Out this week from the various schools are order blanks for identification tags sent by the local American Legion Auxiliary as an aid for civil defense. The tags may be purchased in either necklace or bracelet form. Parents are especially urged to buy them for children, who might otherwise be unidentified in case of disaster.

O'Brien's new intermediate Girl Scout troop held its first meeting Monday evening with leaders Phyllis Bowman and Marie Breckenridge in charge. Virginia Stephens was elected patrol leader; Karen Preston, Stephens, scribe and Kathleen Breckenridge, treasurer. Eight members have enrolled in the troop.

Guests at the Paul Glines home this week are Mrs. Gline's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Lewis of Seattle, Wash.

Lewis, now retired, was an instructor at Queen Ann high school in Seattle for many years. He and his wife are now devoting their time to travel.

Representing the Illinois Valley Chamber of Commerce at the hearing on House bill 790 in Salem Wednesday, was M. A. Sprague, owner of Forest Hills Tree Farm in Selma.

The bill, if enacted, would open Rogue river waters to industrial use.

Sprague is working with other lumber men in southern Oregon for the establishment of a pulp mill and hardwood mills in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed DeMersseman announce the arrival of another grandson, born Thursday, April 25 to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edward DeMersseman at Lawrence, Kan. Eddie Jr. has a sister, Loretta Kay. His mother lived at the DeMersseman home on Rockydale road while his father was in the service.

The Missionary Society of Cave Junction Community church not only tied out a comforter during their work-day Wednesday, but prepared three bags of used clothing for foreign missions and fixed up for shipment a box of new home-made garments for an orphanage in Kentucky.

A potluck luncheon was served at noon to the 16 members present. Mr. Guy Dick, newly elected president, took charge of the meeting.

Members of the St. Matthias Guild met Wednesday to make ready for their rummage sale, to be held Saturday, May 5, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Installation of Home Economics Unit officers will be a part of the Homemakers Festival to be held in Grants Pass May 7.

New officers for the local unit are Marjorie Johnson, president; Margaret Meredith, vice-president and Evangeline Broeffle, secretary-treasurer.
