Operation Little Bit

Helps with Good-will Operation Little Bit, a project initiated by Chaplain Frederick W. Brink, senior chaplain of aircraft carrier USS Randolph, netted contributions of 87,000 Italian lira, 28,000 French francs and considerable Turkish lire and Greek drachmas (about $300) from men of the Randolph prior to the return of the ship from the Mediterranean to the United States, recently. The collection was of "little bits" of foreign currency remaining in possession of men of the Randolph before the ship left the Mediterranean.

supported by Adventist churches throughout North America.
Zinke, a graduate of the church's College of Medical Evangelists in Loma Linda, Calif., interned with the U.S.
Public Health Service. He left a private practice in central California to accept mission service in Mexico.

The Christian Reformed church was founded in the United States by a group of Dutch people. They broke away from the Dutch Reformed church but continued to follow the teachings of John Calvin.

The doctor's "flying clinic," a Cessna 180, has become a familiar sight to the isolated natives, and the sick line up to meet him long before his plane's wheels touch the ground of native-built runways. The clinic is
