

INSPECT NEW CHARTER—Officers of the newly-organized Eagle Point Junior Chamber of Commerce, above, look at the club's new charter after it had been presented by former State Jaycee President Monte Montgomery at a charter dinner held at Eagle Point grade school gymnasium Saturday night. About 125 people attended the dinner, including representatives from other Jaycee organizations from throughout the state. The new charter

Girl Scouts

Ceremony Held
Elk-Trail Brownies, Troop 215, under the leadership of Mrs. Loyd Turner, participated in the installation ceremony for the newly elected officers of Elk-Trail Parent-Teacher association at the Elk-Trail school.

After giving the Brownie Promise in unison and singing two songs, a cappella, they presented corsages to the new officers. At the close of the meeting the troop helped to serve refreshments.

Overnight Camp
An "adventure in friendship" overnight camp was held at Bear creek day camp site last week end by three Girl Scout troops from different schools. Troop 158, McLoughlin seventh graders, planned the menu; Troop 17, Hedrick seventh graders, planned the overall program and Campfire and Troop 168, Jacksonville sixth graders, worked out some campcraft projects.

Upon arrival at the campsite the girls had an opening flag ceremony and then pitched their tents, lashed washstands and tables, and gathered wood for the week end fires. Sack lunches were supplemented with roasted wieners and "s'mores". A lively Campfire program of games, songs, skits, and ghost stories was enjoyed in spite of a brief rainy period which caused cancellation of the stargazing hour.

One of the features of the camp out was the mixing of the girls, with three buddy couples assigned for each "Kaper", one couple from each school.

Hotcakes, some cooked on buddy burner tin can stoves, sausage, eggs and cocoa were cooked for breakfast, and hobo stews were made in coffee cans. One group made doughnuts, while another made biscuits in reflector ovens.

Badges being earned by the scouts include adventurer, outdoor cook, campcraft, outdoor safety and conservation. For their conservation project, the girls cleared the weeds from a large trillium patch, and outlined it with rocks in the form of the scout trefoil.

Happiness Pills Said Disservice

Chicago — A noted psychiatrist says some anxiety is a necessity, and doctors who prescribe "happy pills" for its relief are "rendering their patients a disservice."

Dr. Roy J. Grinker, of Michael Reese Hospital, criticized the indiscriminate use of tranquilizing drugs at a panel session on the subject late Monday.

"This is not so much an age of anxiety," Grinker said. "It is rather an age of defense against anxiety."

He said many persons today "flee from any tension producing situation."

"When we as doctors lend ourselves to this neurotic defense against anxiety we are rendering our patients a disservice," he said.

"Frustration and anxiety are necessary for learning, growth and maturity."

Grinker, who heads the Institute for Psychiatric and Psychosomatic Research and training at Michael Reese, said tranquilizers treat only the symptoms of emotional illness.

Their use might actually delay a patient in seeking psychiatric help in finding the cause of a serious emotional problem, he said.
