

Governor Wins Nine Proposals; 10 Others Vetoed by Lawmakers

Salem—Conclusion of the 1957 Oregon legislature saw passage of nine proposals submitted by Gov. Robert Holmes in his inaugural message. The lawmakers rejected 10 other Holmes proposals and accepted another in modified form.

Here is the Governor's score card for his legislative program:

Accepted

- Personal income tax exemptions restored to $600 from $500.
- Full withholding of income taxes.
- Higher corporation income taxes.
- Rejection of a sales tax.
- Increases of academic salaries in the state system of higher education.
- Oregon centennial celebration.
- A new labor conciliation service.
- Submission to the voters of a resolution to abolish capital punishment.

Rejected

- Proposal for a lieutenant governor.
- Annual sessions of legislature.

Caution Urged for Motorists at Tracks

Motorists traveling in the Medford area were reminded today to use "extreme caution" when approaching and crossing Southern Pacific railway crossings.

Police Chief Charles Champlin cited a Oregon motor vehicle law requiring motorists to stop at any railway crossing where a signal is warning of the immediate approach of a train.

Another motor vehicle law requires all motorists to come to a complete stop before crossing railway tracks where ever stop signs are erected, according to Champlin.

The police chief noted there was no law against motorists stopping on railway tracks but he urged motorists to stop either side of them.

Abolition of the board of control.

Single liquor commissioner.

Full time parole board.

Relief for distressed school districts.

Repeal of the relative responsibility law. Terms of the law were relaxed.

Repeal of picketing regulations in labor disputes.

Increase of basic school support to $120. It was increased from $80 to $95.

A construction budget of $14,000,000 for higher education. He was granted $7,000,000.

A request for repeal of the surtax on incomes was granted but the amount of the surtax was incorporated into the income tax law and made permanent.

Salem—A bill to raise the pay of state police won legislative approval Monday night. The increase ranges from $540 a year for privates to $780 for lieutenants and captains.

Salem—The Senate Tuesday passed a House-approved measure to free college campus living groups from paying personal property tax on house furnishings, with retroactive provisions.

Salem—Election of Rep. Wayne Giesy of Monroe as 1959 speaker of the House was urged Tuesday by Rep. Graham Kilham, Portland Republican, who wrote to each of the House's 21 other GOP members. Robert R. Klemens, St. Helens Democratic representative, has announced his candidacy for the speaker's post.

Salem—The 14 other Republicans in the Oregon Senate held a brief "surprise party" for Sen. Warren Gill of Lebanon during a 15-minute recess late Tuesday and presented him with a handsome wrist watch in appreciation for his leadership during the record-long current session of the Legislature. Gill is the 15th Republican member of the Senate.

NEW ROLE—For Rhonda Fleming, well known Hollywood movie star, as she danced and sang her way to rousing applause as she opened first night club engagement in her colorful career at the new Tropicana Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev.

Three Give Right Answers in TV Quiz

New York—A South Carolina housewife, Mrs. Reba Failer, raised her winnings to $8,000 Tuesday night on the television show "64,000 Questions" by correctly naming the horses and years on which jockey Eddie Arcaro won the Kentucky Derby.

A folies girl and a Chinese lawyer also correctly answered their questions in lower categories.

Barbara Hall, 24, of the Ziegfeld Follies, chose Shakespeare as her category and correctly gave the age of Hamlet.

Dominic Koo, 30, of Shanghai, and Coral Gables, Fla., correctly answered four questions on Americana to raise his winnings to $8,000.

Jet Plane Loses Magnesium Flares

Jacksonville, Fla.—The Navy mustered ground parties today to search for a pod of 52 "extremely dangerous" magnesium flares which ripped from the wing of a jet photo plane over central Florida.

"One of these flares would light up Times Square so bright you couldn't even see the lights of Broadway," chief journalist Bob Ohl said at the Jacksonville Naval Air station.

The pod, wherever it lies, may be triggered by the slightest impact or even by a hot sun, Ohl said. He said that the 52 flares would have a total brilliance of more than 2,500,000,000 candle power.

The four-foot, streamlined pod dropped from the wing of an F9F-8P Cougar jet piloted by Lt. (jg) Edward Chorlton Tuesday night about seven miles southwest of Lake George, the Navy said.

Ohl said it was believed unlikely the pod fell near any developed property but said it was feared likely to touch off a fire in the Ocala National forest if triggered by an animal or by the sun.

The pilot intended to release the flares one at a time while photographing the impact zone of a target area at Pinnacle Air Force base, Ohl said. Each flare would light up a five-mile area, he said.

American Science Books On Exhibit in Moscow

Moscow—More than 1,500 American scientific books and journals were on exhibition today at the House of Scientists.

The exhibit, set up by the Soviet Academy of Sciences, includes books sent by 50 publishers and 21 universities and covers such subjects as physics, chemistry, mathematics, astronomy and medicine.

Missile Explodes At Base in Florida

Cocoa Beach, Fla.—A guided missile exploded and burned early today as it was being readied for a test firing at the missile test center at Patrick Air Force Base near here.

A spectacular explosion followed by a huge ball of fire that lit up the sky, shook residents from their sleep. The cause of the blast remained a mystery for hours but the Air Force later confirmed that it was caused by a guided missile, and said there were no injuries.

A spokesman at the base refused to disclose the type of missile involved or details leading to the fire.

Pentagon sources in Washington said the missile, a big one, was not armed. They said the missile was on a test stand being prepared for launching when some fuel spilled and the fire started.

Democrats Abandon Tax-Cutting Bill

Washington—The Democratic high command indicated today it has abandoned plans to push a tax-cutting bill through the House this year.

The hint came shortly after President Eisenhower's news conference. Speaker Sam Rayburn told newsmen the House will proceed with a study of the tax question but that he doubts now that any action will be taken before next year.

But Rayburn held fast to an earlier prediction that income taxes will be reduced, effective next Jan. 1.

It was clear that Rayburn's apparent decision to postpone action until next year was reached before Eisenhower spoke out strongly against a tax cut at his news conference.

It appeared to have been based on a report Tuesday from congressional staff tax experts that federal spending is rising faster than Congress can cut it.
