Veterans Officer Reminds Widows Of Financial Aid

Eligible widows of veterans who die of service-connected cause may receive financial benefits computed on current military pay scales, even if the veterans served when military pay was lower than at present, S. T. Brannock, officer in charge of the Medford VA office, said today.

Brannock stated the Survivor Benefits act, effective Jan. 1, 1957, relates a widow's benefit payments to the pay grade attained by the veteran during his service.

Terms Optional

Brannock said its terms are optional for a widow whose husband died of a service-connected death on or after Jan. 1, 1957, the widow will be eligible to receive compensation only under the new law.

Under the new law, Brannock said, the benefits may be paid to a widow at a monthly rate of $112, plus 12 per cent of the monthly basic pay now being received by a serviceman whose rank and years of service are the same as those of the deceased veteran. Minimum payment is $122.

The military service department, not VA, decides the amount of basic pay in each case, Brannock said.

Pay scales in the military service change from time to time, just as do civilian wages.

Brannock explained that benefits are computed on the present pay scale of the rank attained by the veteran at the time of his death or separation from service to avoid inequities.

The new law provides the same rate of payment for wartime and peacetime service-connected deaths.

New Benefit

Brannock said widows receiving less than the minimum $122 benefit should apply for the new benefit, even though they already are on the VA rolls. Application cards for the new form of payment were mailed last October to 114,000 widows who may be eligible for higher payments under the new law, but three of every five have failed to reply.

If application is made by July 1, 1957, eligible widows may receive the larger payment retroactive to Jan. 1, 1957. With certain exceptions, applications received after July 1, 1957, will be effective as of the date they are received, Brannock emphasized.

Advice about applying for the new benefit is available at the local VA office, 33 North Riverside.

Second Nuclear Shot Postponed in Nevada

Las Vegas, Nev. — The second shot of the current nuclear test series at the Nevada test site was postponed today because of the possibility of wind conditions that would rain fallout on nearby communities.

The Atomic Energy Commission said at its 4 a.m. (PDT) briefing that the second shot, dubbed Franklin, was tentatively scheduled for Friday.

Wind conditions did not move in forecast patterns today according to the AEC announcement. They were described as blowing too much to the southwest with the possibility of a "light but unacceptable" fallout.

Son of Italian Consul Located

New York—The missing 14-year-old son of the Italian consul general in Chicago has been found walking in mid-town New York, the FBI said Wednesday night.

The boy, Vittorio Barattieri, son of Count Ludovico Barattieri, di San Pietri, has been the object of nationwide search since April 16 when he disappeared while on his way to Loyola Academy in Chicago.

His father reported him missing and expressed fear that he might have been kidnapped. The count said his son, nicknamed Toto, might have been suffering from amnesia.

James J. Kelley, special agent in charge of the New York office of the FBI, said the blond boy had been picked up after an unidentified "alert citizen" reported seeing him.

The FBI said Vittorio was in good health and "had just run away from home, he was not kidnapped." He was found walking near West 39th st. and the Avenue of the Americas, in the crowded midtown section of the city.

G-men refused to say where the boy was being held or when he would be reunited with his parents. They also kept secret where Vittorio lived in New York or how he had supported himself.

Nautilus Claims Cruising Record

San Diego, Calif.—America's atomic submarine, the USS Nautilus, today claimed a new underwater cruising record of 3,049 miles.

The atomic age sub arrived here from Panama Wednesday and its skipper wired the Pacific submarine force command in Honolulu:

"Submerged off Panama 22nd at 2337 GMT, surfaced San Diego on 29th 1408 GMT, having completed 3,049 mile transit submerged all the way."

Capt. Eugene P. Wilkinson, Nautilus commander, said that after leaving New London, Conn., the submarine surfaced only for the Panama Canal and was "submerged 4,956 miles out of a total of 5,229." The nuclear-powered sub cruised at between 18 and 20 knots during the run.

Vice Adm. Robert L. Dennison greeted the crew of the Nautilus as thousands of spectators lined the shores of San Diego Bay. Dennison, commander of the Navy's 1st Fleet, will be in charge of war games in which the Nautilus will take part.

"This will be an historic occasion since it will be the first time a Pacific Fleet exercise will include a nuclear-driven vessel," he said.
