Summit Meeting For H-Test Ban Asked by Solon

Washington — U. S. Senate Democratic whip Mike Mansfield Saturday proposed a Big Four summit conference of the United States, Russia, Britain and France to seek a ban on hydrogen bomb tests.

Other senators voiced "go slow" warnings in view of the current London disarmament talks.

Mansfield is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee. He urged that instead of taking up all the problems facing the high level leaders take over."

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) who was never enthusiastic about the 1955 Geneva session, declined to discuss the Mansfield proposal.

Holiday Week End Traffic Toll Passes 200 Mark Saturday

By UNITED PRESS

The depth toll for a four-day week end which began with the Memorial day holiday climbed past the 200-mark Saturday.

Motorists were credited by the National Safety Council with safe and sane driving in an effort to hold the highway slaughter down.

Saturday evening, an accident count by the United Press registered 242 dead in traffic mishaps. Also, 11 were dead in plane crashes, 86 had drowned and 52 others were killed in miscellaneous accidents to bring the overall total to 391.

California Leads

California, with 27 dead, topped the national list of traffic deaths by states. Texas had 20, Ohio 18 and Pennsylvania 16.

During the official holiday period from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Thursday, the United Press counted 99 holiday traffic fatalities. The toll was 24 above the normal 75 for a non-holiday Thursday in May but 21 under the 120 deaths predicted by the council.

Police agencies throughout the nation, however, remained on watch through the long week end in an effort to hold down traffic accidents. Memorial Day "states of emergency" still existed in several states as troopers patrolled highways around the clock.

Small Forest Fire Controlled Saturday

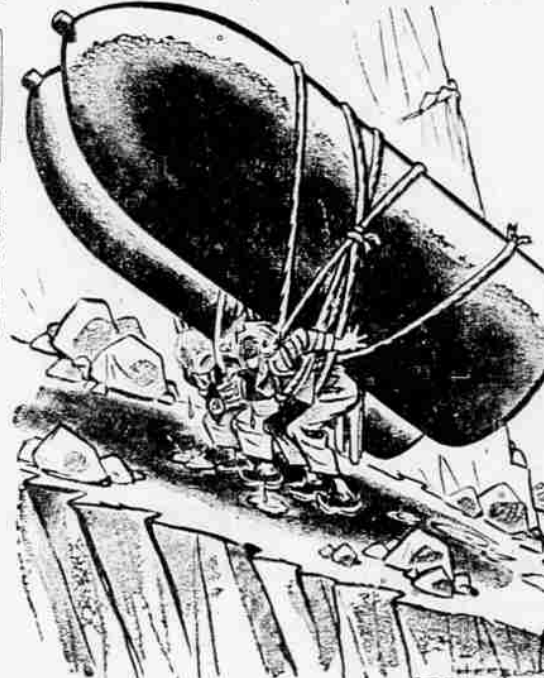

A four-man forest service crew brought a small lightning-caused fire on Collins mountain in the Applegate area, under control Saturday morning.

Forest service officials said the fire apparently started on Thursday and was not discovered until Friday night. The crew reached the scene about 6 p.m. after the fire had spread over almost a quarter-acre.

Supplies of food and water were dropped to fire fighters Friday night and Saturday morning by foresters flying over the area in planes. Officials indicated the crew had little trouble controlling the blaze, although they had some trouble getting to the area.

'Bloodbath' Threatened From Algerian Violence

"As A Matter Of Fact, I'm A Little Tired Myself"

Moslem Massacre Kills 303; Trouble Rising in Tunisia

French President Denounces Atrocities

Algiers, Algeria — U. S. France faces a worsening bloodbath in Algeria and rising anti-French violence in neighboring Tunisia.

Algerian rebels climaxed the massacre of 303 Moslem men and boys in a single village by slaughtering 35 more Moslems in the Wagram district 85 miles southeast of Oran Saturday.

They killed and mutilated 27 laborers at one farm and eight at another. Twenty farm workers were wounded in the raids.

News of the new attacks, following the details of the slaughter of all the males in the village of Melouza, 115 miles southeast of Algiers on the night of May 29-30, raised French indignation to a fever pitch.

In Paris, President Rene Coty made a special radio and TV broadcast to the nation last night to denounce "these atrocities."

He promised that France "would never abandon" the women and girls of Melouza who sought refuge with French troops.

He accused the rebels of killing "5,000 defenseless Moslems" in their two-year-old war against French rule.

"They ignore all human and divine laws," Coty said.

The rebels replied with more attacks.

They burned down the village of Vauban 15 miles east of Oranville on the road to Algiers. There were no casualties. The population had deserted the village three weeks ago.

France also was having troubles in Tunis, which won its independence in 1956 but still has French troops stationed in its territory.

A French soldier was stabbed and seriously wounded in a street in Tunis today.

French troops were ordered to remain in barracks following a shooting incident between Tunisian national guardsmen and French forces in which seven Tunisians were killed and 19 wounded.

Construction of an addition to St. Mary's High school, and plans to build a new high school building in southwest Medford, were announced here Saturday.

Orchards Here Heated Only Five Times During Season

Valley orchards were heated five times during the frost season which ended officially May 31, according to County Horticultural Agent C. B. Cordy. The yearly average is more than 10 firings.

Orchard heating was general and heavy on April 7, when the low temperature of the season, 23 degrees, was recorded. Firing was required again on April 8, 15, 22 and 23.

Bud killing and marking occurred on the 7th and 8th in unheated orchards and considerable marking also occurred on the 15th. The frosts caused no widespread commercial damage, Cordy said, but did reduce a few individual growers' crops in unheated orchards. Frost

Chiang Charges Reds With Inciting Riots; Deplores Violence

Taipei, Formosa — U. S. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, in a nationwide broadcast deploring last week's anti-American riots, Saturday charged that the Chinese Communists have been trying to "stir up mob violence" on Formosa.

Chiang said Nationalist China must stand beside the United States. He gave the first official hint that Communist elements may have been behind the violence that led rioters to sack the U. S. embassy and injure at least 12 Americans on May 24.

The practice of the Chinese Reds, he said, is "to stir up mob violence in an attempt to destroy friendly relations between (Nationalist) China and the various foreign powers."

"Only Hope" Cited

He said the "only hope" of the Reds is to "open a new battlefield of psychological warfare right here in the center of our fortress by instigating mob violence and propagating an anti-American movement."

The 69-year-old Nationalist president said he assumed personal responsibility for the riots which brought "dishonor" to China and warned he would tolerate no more opposition to the United States.

"We must stand on the same side with the United States which is the leader of the Democratic nations," he said. "We cannot permit any opposition to this policy from within or without."

"The lawless acts of May 24 have brought dishonor to the nation," he described the riots as "one of the most shocking and regrettable things to have happened throughout my 50 years" as a Chinese leader.

Admits Fault

"In the first place, I must openly admit that my leadership was at fault," he said. He did not elaborate on this point.

"Today, he added, 'I must make it clear again to our people... We must stand on the same side with the United States which is the leader of the democratic nations, and that we cannot permit any opposition to this policy from within or without.'"

Nationalist troops rushed into Taipei to put down the riots were still on guard as Chiang issued his warning. The riots were sparked by a U. S. court martial acquittal of an American soldier on charges of killing a Chinese peeping tom.
