

PLUNGING TO EDGE of Feather River, two diesel engine units of Western Pacific's California Zephyr are swept from tracks down 150-foot cliff by sudden rock slide. Four crewmen were injured. (International)

Quotes From the News

By UNITED PRESS

New York—Soviet Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, on disarmament:

"We are quite prepared to limit ourselves to some small step instead of going after a comprehensive agreement at once, so that that small step might lead to something bigger."

Washington—Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio) on President Eisenhower's "harmony" visit to eat a box lunch today with Republican House members:

"It's a fine idea. It would have been a lot better idea four months ago."

Lidice, Ill.—Alois Kopecky, president of the Chicago Chapter of the Czechoslovak National Council, in placing a wreath at a monument in this community named for the Nazi-sacked Czechoslovakian village:

"Lidice, U.S.A. will remain a symbol as long as Lidice, Czechoslovakia is not free."

Brussels, Belgium—A palace spokesman, on reports that King Leopold III of Belgium had proposed to Italian Princess Sandra Torlonia and had been rebuffed:

"The king and the princess have never met. This is just one more of a spate of rumors concerning the king."

Calcutta, India—Bari Das Gupta, husband of Sonali Das Gupta, on his wife's alleged romance with Roberto Rossellini:

"I am too disgusted to launch into a protracted legal proceeding and allow the scandal to roll on indefinitely."

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

James Gleason, the justly distinguished disciple of Thespis, is opposed to ending a telephone call by saying "Good Bye." He thinks it is too final and can at times inspire depressing thoughts. The French end a phone call with "Adieu" and the Spanish with "Adios." We should have something similar. I agree with Mr. Gleason. However, all I can think of offhand is to end the call with "So Long." But that's not my final selection. Give me a little time to think it over.

Please Note
A real 100 per cent native of Scotland is a man who wants to be called a Scot, not a Scotchman, never puts milk on his oatmeal, dilutes his whisky only with water and can translate the following: "a daimen icker in a thrave."

Name Known to Fame
The maiden name of George Washington's mother was, as you know, Mary Ball. Considering the comparatively few people having the surname Ball, it is interesting to note the unusual number who have achieved fame. To point out a few examples: There was John Ball, the great British golfer, the first player to win both the British Amateur and Open championships the same year. Then there was the American sculptor, Thomas Ball. Also Ernest Ball, the brilliant composer who wrote "Love Me and the World is Mine," "Mother Machree" and "When Irish Eyes are Smiling." And Neal Ball, Cleveland shortstop, who made the first unassisted triple play in major league history. Then, last but not least, that extremely talented and versatile actress, Lucille Ball.

Woman of Paris
It was Andre Maurois who observed, "The Woman of Paris, feminine though she is, can reason like a man. She has clearness of mind, decision, an astonishing aptitude for administration and the art of making herself respected. On all serious occasions the men of Paris, from the member of the government to the cafe proprietor, say, 'I shall have to consult my wife.'"

Asking questions from clients: Q. What is the widest margin by which a thoroughbred ever won a stake race at a major track in this country? A. Man O' War won the Lawrence Realization stakes at Belmont park in 1920 by 100 lengths! Q. Who was (1) "Bald Jack" Rose, (2) "Yank" Kenny? A. Rose was a New York gambler who came into the spotlight as a witness at the Becker trial. Kenny was a "bouncer" at the Haymarket Dance hall, notorious resort of Manhattan's district known as the "Tenderloin."

Asides
In naming actresses who have had five or more husbands I forgot Hedy Lamarr. She had five. Hedy started her matrimonial career when 16 by marrying a millionaire. . . . Note it said that Jack Haley popularized the song titled "Button Up Your Overcoat." That's wrong. Zelma O'Neal introduced and popularized that song in the musical show titled "Follow Thru."

Passing By
Baron Jan Six, Eminent Hollander. He is a member of one of the Netherlands oldest families. The original Jan Six was burgomaster of Amsterdam, and over 300 years ago, in 1634, was the subject of one of Rembrandt's greatest portraits. The present Baron Six is a man of varied business interest not the least of which is the ownership of a celebrated brewery. Incidentally, the Netherlands is now the world's largest exporter of beer.
