'Schoolmarm' of Year' Says Too Much To-Do Over Reading

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Correspondent
New York — A Missouri teacher, named schoolmarm of the year, says we make too much to do about Johnny's reading problems.
"Johnny CAN read," said Mrs. Mary Field Schwarz. "And we ARE teaching the children the three R's, despite all reports otherwise."
"I suggest that those who criticize in our classrooms and see for themselves."
Mrs. Schwarz, a pretty, au-burn-haired woman of 38 and the mother of a 15-year-old boy, teaches 38 third-graders in Independence, Mo., former President Truman's home town.
Her classroom is a once-condemned church renovated to accommodate the overflow of pupils from Bristol school, Independence.

Her own teaching is in no way unorthodox — "I've never figured out what progressive education is anyway," she said.
"But I do know that with the old-fashioned basics we must provide children with much more. A child's whole horizon is broader today. . . teaching cannot stand still."
"Today's teacher has to be on her toes. Otherwise she'll have the children saying, 'Well, I've seen better than this on TV.'"
The schoolmarm of 1957 believes the teacher shortage and overcrowded classrooms are just two of education's problems.
"Our biggest failure is in neglect of the bright child," said Mrs. Schwarz. "We've done so much to help the retarded, and let the bright ones drift along. Yet they are our future scientists, inventors, writers, leaders."

She shared the 1957 "Teacher of the Year" title with Guy Bizzell, a high school speech and English instructor in Austin, Tex. The award is made each year by the U.S. Office of Education and McCall's magazine, which chooses from nominations by state departments of education. This is the first year teachers have shared it.
Both winners received trips to Washington, where they called on President Eisenhower and Vice-President Nixon. "Mr. Nixon asked me how many children I had and when I answered 38, he just gasped," said Mrs. Schwarz.
Mrs. Schwarz came on to Manhattan for a four-day visit, but left her husband, an electronics engineer, and son to run the house.
"But it's been a big week for my boy too," said Mrs. Schwarz. "He made sergeant in the ROTC."
Mrs. Schwarz, a native Missourian, comes from a family of educators. She is a graduate of the University of Kansas City and holds a master's degree in elementary education from Teachers College, Columbia university.
"Children start learning to read from the time they can focus on symbols," said Mrs. Schwarz. "Some of my third graders have a seventh and eighth grade reading ability."
Elusive Reason
She conceded that some youngsters reach high school still slow with the three R's. "I don't know why," she said. "It may be the child. . . it may be the teacher's faulty methods."

Feminine Writers Produce One-Sixth Of Popular Songs

New York — Broadcast Music Inc., one of the two leading organizations of song writers, says one-sixth of its present affiliated writers are women. Many of these women have had spectacular careers.

Chilton Price author of "Slowpoke," and "You Belong to Me" is the mother of a 19-year-old daughter and once was a concert violinist with the Louisville symphony orchestra.

Dorcas Cochran, who wrote "Again," "I Get Ideas," "Here," and "Suddenly," started her career as a dancer.

Jennie Lou Carson, author of "Let Me Go Lover," has been a carnival sharpshooter, a trick rider, singer and Salvation Army worker.

And Mae Boren Axton, the Tennessee Sunday School teacher who co-authored "Heartbreak Hotel," has directed a congressional campaign for one of her eight brothers.

BMI credits modern inventions for the rise of women into the music-writing field. Conventions in the home give them more time to work on music or lyrics. And the tape recorder makes marketing of a work so much easier.

Birthday Party Planned by Tent

Elta Deuel Hubbs tent, Daughters of Union Veterans, will hold the annual birthday party June 10 at the courthouse auditorium.
At the last meeting a flag was presented to Brownie Troop 117 of Girl Scouts, Central Point. Mrs. Frank Armstrong and Mrs. Howard Anderson are leaders.

A history of the founding of the Daughters of Union Veterans was read by Mrs. George Ware, patriotic instructor, who was in charge of the flag presentation. She introduced Mrs. F. A. Daugherty, department president, who made the presentation. The troop led the flag salute.

A member read a letter written by her grandfather and dated July 5, 1864, while he was in service and just before the battle of Petersburg. She also displayed a miniature of a Civil War cannon.

Lodges to Present Theta Rho Regalia

SHADY COVE Shepherd Elected Principal

By EVALYN P. WATSON

Shady Cove-Trail — Although school is out for the summer a number of items of interest concerning the school have been reported. First, at a meeting held Tuesday night, June 4 at the school, William Shepherd was elected as the new principal. Resignation of Art Hutchison from the school board was accepted to become effective July 1. His resignation is due to the fact that responsibilities of his business would not allow him enough time. The boundary board has recently transferred the properties commonly known as the Ken Oliver and Homer Branson residence from the Elk Trail school district No. 45 to the Shady Cove school district No. 89. On June 17 from 2 until 8 p.m. there will be election of two new directors for the school board, one to serve for a term of four years, one for a term of five years. The newly elected members will take the place of Art Hutchison who has resigned and Ed Learning who has served his term. Learning is running for re-election.

Mrs. Alma Lindquist of Berkeley, Calif., is in Shady Cove next to the Don Harmon residence. She has been spending the past month with children at Tiller and although her plans are indefinite at the present time she may decide to stay at her home in Shady Cove.

Mrs. George Pfeifer of Shady Cove was struck by a car in Medford Tuesday while crossing in a pedestrian lane and received lacerations, bruises and an injured kneecap. She was taken to Rogue Valley hospital where she was expected to be confined for about five days.

Frankie Proctor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Proctor of Shady Cove, was driving toward Shady Cove from Prospect when his car went over the bank near Cascade Gorge in about the same place as the accident which happened there a few days ago. The accident happened about 9 p.m. Tuesday, and the car was demolished but he was not hurt.

Dean Chamberlain of Shady Cove had several stitches taken in his lip for an injury suffered while driving a "cat" for Carl Haggler. A limb struck him across the face cutting his lip.

On Sunday, June 16, the newly built Catholic church in Shady Cove, "Our Lady of Fatima," will be formally dedicated with dedication services to start at 3 p.m. The Most Rev. Edward D. Howard, D.D., Archbishop of Portland, will officiate. At the beginning of the ceremony the church will be locked and empty and the congregation will enter the building after the blessing. Following this a Mass will be offered with Father Vincent Cuniff preaching the sermon. Music for the occasion will be provided by the Marian Choir from St. Mary's High school, Medford. A dinner open to the public will be served in the church hall after the dedication. A special meeting has been called for all members of the Parish on Sunday, June 9, starting at 7 p.m. at the church hall in order that final plans for the dedication service and dinner may be made.

Mrs. William Bishop of Shady Cove underwent major surgery at the Forest Glen hospital in Canyonville and expects to return to her home this week. She is progressing satisfactorily.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Magnuson and children, Norman, Dan and Douglas have been visiting with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Athel Dudley of Shady Cove and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Quail and son, Alan, in Central Point. Magnuson graduated this year from Oregon State college where he majored in electrical engineering.

Mr. Pettigrew who has been spending the winter at Camp White center has returned to his home on Laurelhurst rd. next to the Glenn Andersons for the summer.

Mrs. Ernest Segessenman, chairman of the bloodmobile in Shady Cove urges residents of this area to support the bloodmobile in Medford which will be there this coming week. It will be in Shady Cove October 29.

Mrs. A. C. David and children, Kenneth and Dorene of Fairbanks, Alaska have been house guests for the past week of Mrs. Davis's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hunt of Shady Cove. The Davis family formerly lived in Medford.

Mrs. Harvey Martin of Medford and Miss Dora Robertson of Ashland spent Friday evening visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kelley of Shady Cove. Other recent guests of the Kelleys have been Mrs. Jim Tucker of Ashland, Mrs. Violet Ditsworth of Portland and Mrs. Roy Vaughn of Trail. Mrs. Fred Bruegger of Eagle Point and Mrs. Bruegger's mother, Mrs. Frances Hornbuckle, also of Eagle Point. A group of friends from Prospect came down Sunday for a garden tour of the Kelleys' gardens. They were Mrs. Hazel Ulrich, Mrs. Ella Warren, Mrs. Wally Dinkens, Mrs. Victor Chapman, Mrs. Lewis Clevenberg and Mrs. Lowell Ash.

The regular 10 a.m. Mass will be held Sunday, June 16, at Our Lady of Fatima church in Shady Cove due to the special dedication services that day. However, Sunday Mass at 10 a.m. will be the regularly scheduled service starting June 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Segessenman of Shady Cove drove to Eugene Wednesday to be with Mrs. Segessenman's sister, Mrs. E. C. Vossou, who was to undergo major surgery. Mrs. Barney Leabo accompanied them as far as Eugene and planned to see her husband who is at the Veterans hospital in Vancouver, Wash.

Spending the Memorial day week end at the home of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Del Logan, were Dr. and Mrs. Noble H. Logan of Oakland, Calif. Fishing was enjoyed over the holiday and in the family fishing feud Dr. Logan's wife, Ramona, took first prize for the largest fish with a small steelhead caught near Dodge bridge. Second prize for the most fish caught in any one fishing excursion went to Mrs. Del Logan. Dr. Logan won the booby prize for the most tackle lost in any one day fishing.

Both Tom Burdett II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Burdette of Shady Cove and Tom Burdette, III, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Burdett were confined at the same time in the Navy hospital in Oakland, Calif. Their grandson, who is two, had underwent a hernia operation and their son was at the hospital for a medical check-up. Both son and grandson being in the hospital as the same time is an unusual occurrence.

Council Has New Officers

Three new council officers were elected to fill vacancies created by resignations at a special meeting of the Medford Coordinating council of Parent-Teacher associations in the YMCA, June 3. Mrs. Owen Kunkel, president, Mrs. Milo Kubalek, first vice-president, and Mrs. Ray Alder, secretary submitted resignations to the council; they had served in these capacities during the past year.
Elected to replace them were Mrs. Alder, president; Mrs. Joseph Hicks, first vice-president; and Mrs. Kenneth Blair, secretary. Other officers of the council are Mrs. Floyd Fogelquist and Mrs. Clifford McGinty, junior vice-presidents; and Mrs. Fred Simcox, treasurer.

The council has been active in the past year in the following fields: leadership training meetings for chairmen of local units; interpretation of school policy and program to local PTA units; study and explanation of educational measures before the Oregon legislature; study of the 1957-58 school budget with school administration; participation in Jackson County Council PTA activities.

Mrs. Alder, the new Council president, will attend a meeting with other coordinating council presidents from throughout the state, in the Oregon Congress PTA office in Portland, June 19.

Honor Societies Announce Members

Eugene — Membership in honor societies has been awarded many University of Oregon students during the past few weeks. Some of the organizations are within areas of specializations, departments or schools, and some are campus student service groups.

Announced recently for membership in Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's service honorary, was David M. Bosworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Bosworth, 2425 East Main street. He is a freshman in economics.

Jim Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan F. Perry, 105 Geneva street, was chosen for membership in Friars, senior men's honorary. Young Perry is a junior in economics.

Miss Mira Frohnmayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Frohnmayer, 1651 Spring street, was selected for membership in Kwama, sophomore women's service honorary.

Chicken and Wine
This has an exciting taste appeal. Cut a nice plump fryer or broiler into serving-size pieces. Brown thoroughly in oil and butter. Season with salt and pepper and pour over ¾ cup Sauterne wine. Cover tightly and let simmer gently until tender. Remove chicken to warm platter. Add a half cup or more of thick sweet or sour cream to drippings; heat and serve over chicken. You might like to sprinkle finely chopped chives, parsley or fresh herbs over just before serving.
