Instructor Named
For Photo Course

Ashland — Warren D. Lomax, audio-visual aids supervisor in the Ashland school system, has been appointed instructor of the photography course offered at Southern Oregon college during the current summer session.

Lomax said, the course, for which registration may still be made, was concerned with basic photography for the amateur with several objectives in mind.
 They are practical application in photography, dark room experiments, experiments in the use of equipment and materials, field trips for the gaining of application and practice of technique, and evaluation of problems and questions encountered during laboratory, field and discussion periods. Two hours of credit may be obtained by fulfilling the course requirements.

Lomax, who received his BS degree in geography from the University of Oregon in 1941, is married to the former Jean Webber of Ashland. They have three children, June 11, Judy 13, and Jerry 15. His father, Alfred L.
 Lomax, is a professor of business administration on the University of Oregon faculty.
