Special Session To Study Hungary Brutality Urged

United Nations, N.Y.—Some Western nations urged today that the General Assembly be recalled to discuss new details of Soviet brutality in Hungary, but a special session appeared unlikely at this time.

Australia is formally on record as favoring immediate assembly debate on the special committee report on Russian atrocities in the subjugated satellite nation. Britain and several other countries were reported thinking along the same lines.

Nominally in Recess The United States, however, is said to feel that a special session should be deferred until just before the next regular meeting of the Assembly opens Sept. 17, in order to assure discussion "on the highest level."

The Assembly is nominally in recess at the moment, and the foreign ministers who customarily sit in at the start of a session have scattered. It appeared likely that a special session at this time would be attended mainly by second-stringers.

Decision by Wednesday No decision is expected one way or the other until Wednesday, when representatives of the 24 nations which sponsored the special Hungary committee meet here at the invitation of the United States.

The committee report, published Thursday, cited such acts of Soviet savagery as the wanton shelling of undefended buildings and the barbarous shooting of women and children in bread-lines.

New Metals Plant Started at Albany

Albany, Ore.—Construction has begun here on a new metals separation and purification plant for the Wah Chang Corporation that will provide new jobs for about 50 persons.

The Albany firm is one of three in the nation under zirconium supply contract to the Atomic Energy Commission.
