Race Gets Tighter In National League

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

The team that eventually comes out on top in the chaotic National League struggle probably will go into the World Series with the lowest pennant-winning victory total in major league history.

More than 10 percentage points separated the first four clubs today, with the St. Louis Cardinals maintaining a four-point lead over the second-place Cincinnati Redlegs after both were beaten Wednesday night.

The race tightened up to an almost incredible degree Wednesday night when the Philadelphia Phillies walloped the Cardinals, 11-3, the New York Giants eviscerated the Redlegs, 17-7, and the Milwaukee Braves drubbed the Brooklyn Dodgers 13-9. The Pittsburgh Pirates routed the Chicago Cubs, 15-5, before the teams played an 11-inning, 5-5 tie halted by darkness.

The Chicago White Sox retained their half-game margin in the "runaway" American League race when they outlasted the Boston Red Sox, 7-5, and the second-place New York Yankees beat the Cleveland Indians, 4-1. The Baltimore Orioles defeated the Kansas City Athletics 1-0, for their third straight shut-out and the Detroit Tigers downed the Washington Senators, 4-1.

Simmons Beats McDaniel

The Phillies unleashed a 16-hit attack that included four hits by Chico Fernandez and a homer by Harry Anderson to land the Cardinals their third straight defeat in four games. Curt Simmons pitched a steady nine-inning to win his seventh game while Lindy McDaniel suffered his fourth loss.

The sixth-place Giants buried the Redlegs with a 20-hit bombardment that saw Bobby Thomson drive in five runs with a homer, double and two singles and Willie Mays knock in four with two doubles and a triple. Johnny Klippstein suffered his seventh defeat.

The Braves overcame a 9-4 deficit with three runs in the fifth inning and six in the eighth to snap a two-game losing streak. Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews and Wes Covington tied a major league record by hitting successive homers in the fifth inning of a game marked by eight round-trippers. Mathews topped the Braves' best attack of the year, driving in five runs with a pair of homers and a single as Gene Conley picked up his first win for Milwaukee and Clem Labine suffered his fourth straight loss for Brooklyn.

Free Fondy and Roman Mejias

Four hits each and Frank Thomas drove in four runs in Pittsburgh's 10-hit opening game attack that gave Vern Law his fourth win. The Cubs tied the nightcap when a walk, Bobby Morgan's triple and Jim Bolger's single produced two runs in the ninth.

Chisox Get Third Straight

The White Sox scored their third straight victory and seventh in a row over the Red Sox this season when a fifth-inning homer by Bubba Phillips and Earl Torgerson's run-producing ninth-inning single helped them fend off a late Boston rally marked by homers by Billy Klaus and Ted Lepcio. Jim Wilson got his eighth win.

Relief star Bob Grim throttled

a ninth-inning rally to preserve Johnny Kucks' fifth victory for the Yankees. All three of the Yanks' runs resulted from sacrifice flies — two by Hank Bauer and one by pinch-hitter Enos Slaughter — as Bob Lemon absorbed his fifth defeat.

Connie Johnson hurled a three-hitter to stretch the Orioles' scoreless string to 32 consecutive innings and won his sixth decision when Jim Busby cracked his fifth homer in the fifth inning. Arnold Portocarrero hurled a three-hitter for the Athletics but was charged with his third setback.

Jim Bunning won his eighth game and completed the cycle of scoring at least one victory over each of Detroit's rivals with a six-hitter that dealt the Senators their fifth straight defeat. Chuck Stobbs, who snapped a two-year 16-game losing streak in his previous start, absorbed his 12th defeat of the year.

Studs Nudge Talent; Drain Next on Slate

Riding home on the clutch hitting and pitching of ex-Washington Stater Jerry Bartow, the Medford Cheney Studs scored a 9 to 8 come-from-behind victory over tough, fired up Ashland-Talent last night to windup the first half of their Rogue Valley Baseball league slate undefeated.

The Studs now embark on a schedule of six non-league games over a period of two weeks. They encounter Drain's Black Sox here on Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

It was that fan's delight of modern baseball, the homerun ball, which first elevated them dashed the hopes of Manager Cliff McLean's spirited Talenters in their quest of an upset triumph over the Studs.

A six-run rally in the fifth inning, capped by Gene Parent's towering grand slam homer, put Talent out in front in the game. The visiting delegation threatened to stay on top until the Cheney crew picked up three consecutive singles in the eighth, inning and Bartow made it a four-run surge with a three-tally roundtrip swat over the right field fence.

Three Struck Out

Bartow, who had entered the fracas to pinch hit for hurler Duane Sides, then took over also on the mound and struck out the three batters he faced in the top of the ninth canto to protect the slender Medford margin.

Don Vannice, who started on the hill for the Studs, didn't have the control he showed in a couple of previous games but, after giving up one run to Talent on hits by Clyde Smith, Jim McAbee and Pete Cotton, he threw three innings of effective ball.

The Studs also hopped on A-T thrower Gene Parent in the initial canto. Ed Reinking and Jack Kovenz an over the fence double and Ron Owings a lost in the

Ray Asher Lemley Vie In Hardtops

Ray Asher with C-1 will meet Wayne Lemley in A-57 in the special challenge race this Saturday night as a feature of hardtop auto racing at Valley View track.

The race came about from Asher's challenge of the winner of last week's special run. Lemley defeated Crock Hunter in that event.

This week's challenge features the No. 1 and No. 3 drivers in current track standings. Lemley has accumulated 168 points and Asher 127. Hunter is the No. 2 man now at the track. He won the main event last week and gained ground on Lemley.

Other top point men at the present are Bob Wilcox 121, Bob McGilvray 115, Willy Cannon 101, Bob Jenkins 91, Bob Rose 87, Monty Hall 80, Lou Kurz 78, Joe Ellison 71 and Lee Davis 65.

This week's bill of fare will include the usual heats, main, semi-main, trophy dashes with time trials at 7 p. m. and the first race at 8 p. m.

NCAA Links Field Paced By Campbell

Colorado Springs, Colo.—Stocky Joe Campbell of Purdue university, displaying the form that made him champion in 1955, led a field of 32 into today's second and third rounds of the NCAA golf tournament.

The 21-year-old youth from Knoxville, Tenn., moved into the second round by defeating Houston's Stan Binion, 5 and 4, the biggest margin of Wednesday's match play. Campbell, a basketball star also, fired a four-under-par 33 over the first nine holes and had a comfortable 4-up lead after seven holes.

His second round rival today, John Garrett of Rice, proved himself Wednesday in defeating Stanford's Ron Luetti, 1 up, on the 19th. Garrett birdied the par 4 19th with a 300-yard drive, an 80-foot approach shot, and a four-foot putt.

Familiar Faces

Campbell defeated Garrett in the finals of the 1955 NCAA tournament at Knoxville.

Should Campbell survive today's two rounds, he could meet Rex Baxter Jr., Houston university's Trans-Mississippi champion, in Friday's quarter-finals. Baxter, a lanky swinger from Amarillo, Tex., easily whipped Bill Johnson of Southern Methodist, 4 and 2, Wednesday and was paired with Ricky Baird of Fresno State today.

Reporter Should Attend Twelve Minute Meeting

Tampa, Fla. — Tampa Times reported Dana Cessna had to use a 12-minute parking meter Wednesday because the hour meters were all taken. He left a note saying: "At Chamber of Commerce meeting. This 12-minute parking place was all I could find."

When he returned, he found his reply: "Don't park in 12-minute place unless you're attending a 12-minute meeting."

"There was also a parking ticket."

Play Starts In Western

Detroit — A field of more than 170, including half a dozen former champions, teed off today in the first round of the 54th Western Golf open tournament at Plum Hollow Golf Club.

Slammin' Sammy Sneed, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Lloyd Mangrum, Apple Valley, Calif., both two time winners, head the list of former champs.

The other previous winners are defending champion Mike Fetcheck, Mahopac, N.Y.; Jimmy Demaret, Klamath Lake, N.Y.; Ed Oliver, Canton, Mass., and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill.

A total of $25,000 in prize money will be doled out in the four-day, 72-hole Western Open, one of the nation's oldest golf tournaments.

OLDFIELD TIES FOR 2ND IN WASHINGTON TUSSLE

Seattle — Seattle amateur Don Taylor eagled the 401-yard 18th hole at the Ingleswood Country club here Wednesday to post a one under par 72 and win the Washington State Open golf tournament with a 286 total.

Taylor's three on the par five last hole gave him a one stroke victory over professional Ed Oldfield of Roseburg, Ore., and Chuck Congdon, Tacoma.

Oldfield led Taylor by one stroke going into the final round of the 72-hole tournament but skidded to a 74 over the last 18. Congdon birdied the last four holes in a driving finish to tie Oldfield.

Split Money

Congdon and Oldfield split the first prize money, pocketing

$400 each.

Tom Marlowe, Portland, who led the field by one stroke at the end of 54 holes, blew to an 85 on the final 18 and finished 11 strokes back with a 297. Larry Lamberger of Portland finished fourth with a 290.

Al Williams of Rogue River, Ore., carded an 84 over the last 18 to finish with a 217.

Mosquito Hatch Said Heaviest in Years

Portland — Portlanders were told today that the local mosquito hatch is the heaviest in seven years.

Dr. Thomas Meador, city health officer, added that several sources of anopheles mosquitoes had been found. It is this type which can transmit malaria. He said that species is "being constantly checked."

Dr. Meador said samplings of all types indicated three to four times the number of mosquitoes over last year.

O'Connor Says Baseball Should Be Under Anti-Trust Regulations

Washington — Leslie O'Connor, president of the Pacific Coast League, told Congress yesterday that baseball should be regulated under antitrust laws like any other business.

O'Connor's statement clashed with pleas of major league and some minor league officials to continue baseball's exempt status.

"I do not think any business in this country should be exempt from the antitrust laws," he said.

O'Connor also broke with other baseball officials who have testified that baseball cannot exist without the controversial clause.

He told the House Judiciary Subcommittee that "baseball can live without the reserve clause just like any other business." However, he said the clause is "highly desirable" and it would be "a very difficult task" to operate professional baseball teams without it.

He said he favors a gradual replacement of the reserve clause contracts with those containing no such restriction on the player's rights to sell his services.

MUSTACHE PERMITTED

New York — French middleweight Germinal Ballarin has been given special permission by the N.Y. State Athletic Commission to wear his large black mustache during next Monday night's TV bout with Bob Provia of Freeland, Pa., at St. Nicholas Arena. Fighters are supposed to be clean-shaven when they appear in New York state rings, but the commission has waived the rule in certain instances in the past.
