Festival Queen to Be Named Saturday

Phoenix — Crowning of the queen wil mark the beginning of the 1957 Phoenix Festival Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Phoenix Community club grounds. Queen candidates are Peggy Chisum, Glenna Smith, Wanda Oetken, Elizabeth Pramman and Carole Anderson. Selection of the queen will be based on number of tickets sold to the public dance, scheduled for 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The princesses Wednesday went on a motor tour of the valley to invite residents to attend the event. Police cars escorted the girls' vehicle through Jacksonville, Medford, Central Point, Phoenix and Ashland.

Crowning of the queen will be followed at 11 a.m. by a parade through Phoenix. Entertainment, including dancing and music, will be featured after the parade and until the dance. Amusement and food booths will also be open at the festival grounds.

Various prizes will be awarded during the intermission of the dance, which will be held in the Phoenix community hall.

Residents Warned About Polluted Water

Any water on the floor of the valley flowing below farms and dwellings is almost sure to be highly polluted, county sanitarians stated today.

They issued the statement in response to numerous inquiries recently from people expressing concern about swimming in creeks and ditches in the county.

The flow in most streams is becoming quite low, which means a higher degree of pollution is probable, the sanitarians said. Irrigation water which flows through dwelling areas and barn yards will become highly polluted and contaminate any stream into which the water flows, they explained.

The Jackson county health department warns against swimming or wading in these waters. A number of diseases are water borne and may be caught by contact or ingestion of the water.
