On The Side

By E. V. Durling
(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

What is th first line of the poem titled The Old Oaken Bucket? Asked that question, ninety-nine and three quarters of those queried will say it is "Dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood." And they are wrong. It is "Dear to this heart are the scenes of my childhood." Many a wager has been lost on that question. Anyway, the scenes of my childhood are not as dear to this heart as they might be. I never visit them. Haven't even visited my birthplace though I pass within a half a block of it every time I motor out to Belmont Park However, I am due shortly to have a view of a village where some of the happiest days of my childhood were spent. That is Walker Valley, N.Y., where my family spent many summers. I plan to pass through that lively little hamlet on my way to the Ellenville Music Fesetival to attend a Stokowski contest. The last time I went to Ellenville was when I was 14 years old. At that time I was bound for the County Fair.

Widows

Three out of four wives can expect to be widows. That, of course, is due to the higher life expectancy of the female. It was that highly cynical fellow, Thomas Fuller, who said, "Sorrow for a husband is like a pain in the elbow, sharp and short." An unjust remark. The average widow of marriageable age in this country usually waits about three and a half years before marrying again. The space between marriages of divorcees is about two and one half years.

Passing By

J. Fred Coots. Veteran tunesmith. Comes from our old neighborhood in Southern Brooklyn. Continues to collect much money from his old songs. Every Christmas the royalty checks roll in from his immortal Yuletide ditty "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town." Now he is getting a multitude of royalty payments from the song titled "Love Letters In The Sand" which he and Nick Kenny wrote about 25 years ago.

Asking

Queries from clients. Q. Is that great thoroughbred Gallant Man rightly called "an Irish horse?" A. Yes, sir. The noble animal you mention was born in the County Kildare, Ireland, and so were his sire and dam. . . Q. A friend of mine has had a child very year of her marriage so far. She has eight children. What is the record for consecutive yearly births? A. Mrs. Marie Cyr of Fort Kent, Me., who married when 17, had a child every year for the first 26 years of her marriage.

Objection

A San Franciscan objecting to the accusation that women are habitually cluttering up their handbags with unnecessary articles says that when sending a suit of her husband's to the cleaners she found 38 different articles in his pockets. She said 31 were unnecessary articles. Very interesting. However, the record for articles carried in a woman's handbag is 46.

Trying For Success

How many times did you fail before your efforts were crowned with success? Seven failures before success is about the average. Or such is the Biblical claim. Proverbs XV:16 says: "For a just man faileth seven times and riseth again." That brilliant and highly whimsical comedian, Tom Ewell, did better than that. He is a survivor of 27 flop plays. Twelve in a row. But he kept on trying. He finally scored a hit in the play titled "John Loves Mary," a bigger hit in "The Seven Year Itch" and a still bigger one in his current play "The Tunnel of Love."

Get It Rirght

As to who invented the non-skid tire and thus was added to the list of benefactors of the human race. It was Harvey Firestone who originated this revolutionary tire in 1908. The public was quick to take advantage of the Firestone idea. In 1909 40 per cent of tires sold were non-skid. In 1910, 60 per cent.

Among The Married

The most perfect of beautiful females are born to devitalized mothers with outdoor vigorous fathers. These children are usually blondes. When a man's vitality is lower and the woman's higher it usually results in the birth of a boy. That is what Dr. Charles C. Hayes of Santa Maria Calif. says his extensive research indicates. So if your wife is devitalized you many expect your child to be a beautiful blonde female. If you want a boy your wife will have to have you devitalized.

Hollywood —UP— "Gunfight at the OK Corral," starring Burt Lancaster and Kirk Douglas, is a current boxoffice smash, but the movie is more fiction than fact. The film tells about a famous gunfight that actually took place in Tombstone, Ariz., on Oct. 26, 1881, with U.S. Marshall Wyatt Earp (played by Lancaster) and his brothers and friend, Doc Holiday (Douglas), mowing down a gang of cowboy rustlers headed by the Clanton and McLowery brothers.

In the movie the Earps notify the cowboys they will shoot it out tot avenge the death of Wyatt's brother, Morgan. After the bloody victory Lancaster rides off into the sunset to woo Ronda Fleming in California.

But the real life story, as told in western history books, is even more dramatic.

Earps Surprise Cowboys

Actually the Earps surprised the cowboys in the corral as they were preparing to leave town. The Earps were gunning for the gang, not because of a murder, but because each side accused the other of masterminding a Wells Fargo stagecoach holdup.

The town of Tombstone was divided — and historians still are — over whether the Earps murdered the cowboys before they had a chance to throw up their hands, or whether the Earps fired only after the cowboys reached for their guns. The Earps were supposed to be arresting the cowboys on a charge of illigally carrying arms. Historians say only two were armed, and legally, as they were riding out of town.

Tombstone's anti-Earp newspaper, The Nugget, charged the Earps were murderers. However, another paper, The Epitaph, published eyewitness accounts describing the fight as an even, fair gun duel.

But Sheriff John Behan charged Wyatt Earp and Doc Holiday with murder.

Conflicting Testimony

Six witnesses testified at the trial that they saw the cowboys throw up their hands as ordered by the Earps, indicating Earp was not the true blue hero that Lancaster (and Hugh O'Brian on TV) makes him out to be. Three witnesses testified Earp only was doing his duty and shot to save his life.

Nobody could agree as to who fired the first shot.

A famous outlaw named John Ringo was not involved in the fight, but the movie has Ringo, played by John Ireland, shooting it out with the Earps.

After the fight the surviving members of the cowboy gang killed Morgan Earp, the history books say. The Earps tracked down the killer. Another murder warrant was sworn out for Wyatt but he took off for Colorado, minus a redhead.
