Christian Church Thrives Behind Iron Curtain in Europe

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Correspondent
Washington — (UP) — The historic axiom that the Christian church thrives best under persecution is being proved anew in modern Europe, a Lutheran leader said today.

West of the Iron Curtain, said Dr. Carl E. Lund-Quist of Geneva, Switzerland, "the churches are free—and half empty." To the east, where Communist satellite governments are actively harassing religion, "Christians are making heroic sacrifices to remain loyal to their faith."

As executive secretary of the Lutheran World Federation, Lund-Quist has traveled thousands of miles in the past few years to visit Lutheran churches on both sides of the Iron Curtain in Europe, and in many countries of Asia and Africa. He is now in the United States to prepare for the assembly of the Lutheran World Federation which will be held in Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 15-25. Delegations from 27 countries, representing most of the world's 70 million Lutherans, will attend the Minneapolis meeting.

Lund-Quist said in an interview that European Christians are "intensely curious" about the apparent religious revival in America. It seems to contradict the lessons of history, as well as the current experience of European churches, for U.S. church membership to reach record-breaking peaks in a time of great material prosperity.

In the nations of Western Europe, he said, where living standards also are high and where churches enjoy the same freedom and privileges as American churches, there is "nothing remotely comparable" to this country's upsurge of religious interest.
