Fish in Potato Salad

Delightful innovation
Potato salad is without a doubt the most popular of all summer-time salads. No picnic is really complete without one. And, of course, there are practically as many variations as there are people making it. We think you'll like the subtle, delicate flavor of fish fillets in this potato salad recipe. Recipe makes about four cups, we suggest doubling it.

- 2 medium potatoes
- 3 tablespoons French dressing
- 1 package (1 pound) quick-frozen skinless cod, haddock, flounder or ocean perch fillets
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 package (10 ounces) quick-frozen green peas
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon celery seed

Peel and cook potatoes... or cook then peel potatoes if you prefer. Dice, put in bowl and add French dressing. Allow to marinate about 45 minutes. Meanwhile, place frozen block of fish in saucepan with water. Cover, bring to a boil and simmer until tender, 8 to 10 minutes. Drain well and cool. Cook peas as directed on package, drain and cool. Flake fish; add celery, green pepper, onion, mayonnaise, lemon juice, salt, celery seed, and the potatoes with French dressing. Mix well. Add peas and mix lightly. Chill at least one hour. Serve on crisp, salad greens. Cucumbers either plain or pickled make a delightful garnish.

Quick Barbecue Sauce
This "quickie" makes enough sauce for four chickens. Combine one cup tomato catsup, one cup tomato juice, one-half teaspoon tabasco, two tablespoons vinegar, three tablespoons brown sugar, one teaspoon dry mustard, two teaspoons salt, two teaspoons paprika, one-half freshly ground pepper, one medium-size mild onion, finely chopped, and four tablespoons butter or margarine. Simmer five minutes. Store in covered container until ready to use.

East Indians Like Chicken Indienne

East Indians, too, like chicken. And no wonder. We can't imagine anyone not liking it when prepared like this. The seasoning is simply luscious. We heartily recommend the ground coriander seed, but it is entirely optional.

- 2 1/2 to 3 pound frying chicken, jointed
- 1/4 teaspoon ground red pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon ground coriander seed, optional
- 1 clove garlic, grated or mashed
- Salt
- 2 eggs
- 3 tablespoons water
- Bread or cracker crumbs
- Fat for deep frying

Skin chicken pieces. Combine spices and grated garlic. Rub this mixture into each piece of chicken thoroughly with fingers. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Place chicken in frying pan and add about one-fourth to one-half cup water or enough to cover bottom of pan. Cover tightly and simmer gently about one-half hour or until tender. Remove cover last 10 minutes to cook juices in pan down to almost nothing. Roll each piece of chicken into fine crumbs. Dip one or two pieces at a time into egg mixture made by combining beaten eggs with the water. Drop immediately into deep hot fat. Dribble extra bit of egg mixture on top of each piece. Fry until golden brown—about one to two minutes. Remove from fat onto paper to drain and keep in warm place. Continue frying until all done. Serve immediately with a little pile of the cooked crumbled egg mixture on top of each piece.

Fresh Lemon Fluff
Fresh lemon fluff is creamy and light, yet so easy to make. Made the day before, it keeps beautifully. Serve as delicious dessert or as accompaniment for fruit salads.

Combine three-fourth cup sugar with one cup water and cook five minutes. Cool. Add one-half cup milk and one-half cup fresh lemon juice. Pour into freezing tray; freeze firm. Beat two egg whites; gradually add one-fourth cup sugar and continue beating until stiff. Turn frozen mixture into chilled bowl and beat thoroughly. Fold beaten egg whites into sherbet and return to tray. Freeze firm. Makes five or six servings.

Paper Products Both Pretty and Practical
Grocery store surveys show that sale of paper goods is increasing rapidly. And no wonder! Paper cups, plates and related items are no longer seasonal sellers. They've become standard kitchen equipment the year-round.

Look at the variety of attractive colors, patterns, sizes and improved quality of the paper cups, plates, place mats and other disposable items on the market today. Matched sets in paper cups and plates to suit practically any occasion. For those who don't want patterns, plain pastel colors are smart and appealing.

Buying Hints

Hot cups are especially designed for hot drinks. Some are plastic coated to make them china-like in quality. Cold beverage cups are waxed to hold cold drinks efficiently. There is a price difference so it pays to read the label and buy the cup for the occasion. There are even cups especially treated to hold the head on beer. Sizes in cold cups vary from the fruit juice size to the tall nine-ounce cup so that they can be used for anything from first course to refreshments. Hot drinks cups come in sizes six to nine ounces.

Paper plates come in all sizes from 6 to 12 inches for everything; snacks, salads, desserts and main dishes.

Other interesting paper items include lidded paper containers in four-ounce, pint and quart sizes. The four ounce is ideal for individual portions of food for lunch box use. Pint and quart containers are naturals for freezing and for transporting cold food to picnics. They also can be used for refrigerator storage. There are plastic coated containers for both freezing and heating, and for carrying hot food.

There are paper dishes for cold desserts and ice creams; for nuts

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual report. The Family Council does not give advice; it merely reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Anita R.—I attract only married men!

Mrs. G. R.—She needs to make a big change.

Anita R.—I am a 21-year-old girl with a problem that is a problem. I seem to attract only married men!

I have been working in the same office for the past four years and most of the married men have tried to date me. Of course, I won't go out with them, but sometimes I'm almost tempted because I hardly ever have any dates. There are a few single men where I work, but none of them seems interested in me.

On week ends I go with a girl friend to a neighborhood dance hall and recreation center. The same thing always happens. Most of the time I'm a wall flower, but if someone should get interested in me, he always turns out to be married.

I really don't know what to do about it. My mother has a plan, but I'm afraid it won't work out.

Mrs. G. R.—Anita has really had terrible luck with men. Things can't go on like this and I feel she should make a big change. Maybe her luck will turn.

I want Anita to go to stay for a time with my sister, who lives in a different city and has many social contacts. I have no time for sociability the way my sister has, because I have four younger children to look out for. My sister has married off three daughters, so I guess she knows how it's done.

Anita says it's silly to think her luck would be any different in another community and she says she doesn't like her aunt very much because she is too bossy. I know this is true, but I'm afraid that with her luck Anita really needs a firm hand to take over.

The Council: It is doubtful whether Anita or her mother is really so innocent as to believe that "luck" is at the root of this situation. It's like saying that a man who habitually turns over and goes back to sleep after the alarm wakes him has the bad luck to be late to work every day.

Anita admits there are single men where she works, but says "none of them seems interested in me." It has not occurred to her to get interested in them. Interest is a two-way street.

On the other hand, most married men do not attempt to date girls unless they have been given a good deal of encouragement. Anita will protest that she wouldn't dream of getting involved with a married man. We believe her. She has made no attempt to follow through on any of these potential relationships.

Anita should realize that she has created this situation. She has a desire for masculine attention and admiration, but some fear or inhibition keeps her from seeking a meaningful relationship. She is not afraid to flirt with married men because she knows that her morality will not permit her to form a real relationship with these men.

Anita does not need to go to her "bossy" aunt to be pressured into a marriage she is not ready for, but it would be a good idea for her to change her job so that she can more easily form new patterns with new individuals. She should try to interest herself in the single men she finds at her new job.

She should also avoid that "neighborhood dance hall" and get involved in activities run by a church or civic group, where the men are well known to everyone present.

PILGRIM STRATEGY

Plymouth, Mass.—About half of the passengers on the original Mayflower are buried in one cemetery in Plymouth. The Cole's Hill burying ground was made level by the settlers so the Indians would be unable to count the number of graves and learn the military strength of the survivors.

In 1825 Sing Sing penitentiary was known as Mount Pleasant prison.
