Miss Dixie June Jennings Bride of Stuart P. Webber

Talent—Miss Dixie June Jennings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Jennings, 121 North Front street, Talent, became the bride of Stuart P. Webber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin O. Webber, Route 1, Box 581, Talent, in a ceremony held at the First Methodist church, Talent. The Rev. Alice May Woolley officiated at the double ring ceremony held at three o'clock in the afternoon, Sunday, June 23.

The bride wore a ballerina length dress of white nylon lace and net and her white fingertip length veil was held by a crown of sequins. She carried a nosegay bouquet of pink rosebuds, white carnations and stephanotis. Mr. Jennings gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Lowell Welburn, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a white knit suit with pink accessories, and carried pink carnations.

Belden R. Webber, served as best man for his brother, Melvin Wallace, Ashland, and Lylio Tycksen seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Jennings chose a two piece rose silk dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Webber wore a lavender lace frock with beige accessories with a gold carnation corsage.

Ester Reed daisies and pink roses decorated the church. Mrs. Charles V. Carmichael played the traditional piano wedding music. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church annex by the parents of the bride, Mrs. Hazle Warfield and Mrs. Ralph Ecker, aunts of the bridegroom, cut and served the wedding cake, while Mrs. William Jennings, sister-in-law of the bride, poured the punch.

The newlywed couple traveled to the California coast on their wedding trip. The bride wore for her traveling attire a red and white frock.

The bride attended Talent High school. The bridegroom attended Talent schools and Southern Oregon college. An airman second class, he is now serving with the United States Air Force and will be stationed in Japan.

Out of town guests at the wedding included relatives of the bridegroom from Pasco, Wash. They were Mrs. E. C. Storm, grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ecker, aunt and uncle; and Mrs. Hazle Warfield, aunt.

Safaris Safe For Children

New York — One safari expert suggests taking the children along on such an African adventure trip.

Jack Block, managing director of the Ker and Downey Safari Co., in Nairobi, Kenya Colony, said a safari can be a wonderful — and safe — experience for the small fry. Block, during a recent visit to New York told how his firm has taken many children on such trips. He said they not only are safe, but they broaden a child's horizons and teach him sportsmanship, the love of camp life and of nature.

"Above all," he said, "a safari helps draw a family closer."

Block said the best age is 15, or up, for a child's enjoyment. The youngsters can take pictures or hunt in a limited way. But they seem to enjoy most the outdoor life and seeing the animals.

Block pointed out that safaris today are comfortable for women and children. Equipment includes air mattresses and six-foot bathtubs. Laundry is done every day, even shoes are polished. As Block put it, "we have everything but TV."

About one-third of the company's clients are women. Block said more and more women are expected to join safaris and couples often make a return trip at the wife's insistence.

Prune Spice

A batch of prune spice cupcakes is handy for summer desserts. Use spice cake mix, and add finely cut cooked prunes to the batter. Spoon into fluted paper baking cups, and set in muffin tins for baking.

Buy the specially processed softened prunes for eating out of hand. Pre-schoolers love prunes pitted and filled with banana slices for between-meal snacks.

CREAM PUFFS

Fill cream puff shells with this delicious two fruit combination. Put 3 or 4 well drained canned cling peach slices in bottom of each shell and cover with prepared canned pineapple pie filling. Top with whipped cream and slivered roasted almonds.

Mix up a batch of lacy raisin coconut cookies to have on hand to serve with ice cream or fresh rhubarb sauce.

Blanket Buying Tips Given on New Fibers

Champaign, Ill. — If blanket buying confuses you, particularly those made from the new synthetic fibers, here are some tips from University of Illinois textile experts:

Orlon, acrilan and dynel are trade names for some of the new fibers, and blankets made from them are usually very warm and serviceable but light in weight.

Weave of the fibers should be tight and firm, and the nap should support the weight of the blanket and not pull out.

Laundering quality of the blankets is reported excellent if they are manufactured properly. The fibers should not shrink or mat when washed.

A good quality nylon binding helps mark a good blanket. And since the fibers are synthetic they are smooth, and if improperly napped will fluff or fuzz easily. If the nap rubs off easily it will rub off in general use and in laundering.

If you prefer wool blankets, look for three characteristics: mothproof, washability, and nylon binding.
