

Horton Installed Noble Grand of Local IOOF Lodge

Lawrence S. Horton, 131 South Keene Way drive, was installed as noble grand of the Medford Lodge 83 of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows Tuesday, Vernon R. Stickle was installed as vice-grand.

The installation team consisted of members of the Jacksonville lodge. They were headed by District Deputy Grand Master John Black and District Deputy Grand Marshall Chet Purcell. Other members of the team were Lloyd Norman, Albert Hackett, Arthur Hackett, Kindred Thomas and Clarence Jordan.

Supporting Officers

Jack Huston, secretary; Don Platt, treasurer; Ed Perkins, inside guardian; Jess Thomason, outside guardian; and Orland Higginbotham, conductor, were absent and were not installed.

E. C. Gaddis, trustee, presented retiring Noble Grand W. H. Dyer with a special past grand's jewel.

Sisters of the Rebekah degree served refreshments.

Noble Grand Horton stressed that emphasis during his term would be on attendance and cited that the first order of business would be to compile a roster of the membership and make it available to the members for visitations.

Main Issues in Civil Rights Bill Are Summarized

Washington — Summary of main issues in the Senate debate on civil rights:

Purpose of Bill

To protect the civil rights of persons within the jurisdiction of the United States. Proponents contend its primary purpose is to protect voting rights of Negroes in the South. Opponents claim its language is broad enough to permit use of troops to enforce racial integration in schools and other public places.

Basis for Fight

Supporters contend the legislation is necessary for protection of constitutional rights of all Americans regardless of race. Opponents contend it gives the federal government, in the person of the attorney general, "autocratic" powers to enforce civil rights as he sees fit and break down the southern social system based on separation of races.

Jury Trial

The bill would empower the attorney general, through civil law procedure, to obtain federal court injunctions against violations or anticipated violations of civil rights. Persons disregarding such injunctions would be liable to a fine and jail sentence by a federal judge without a trial. Opponents contend this would be perverting the civil laws to deprive persons of their constitutional right of jury trial.

Pancake Breakfast Scheduled at CP

Central Point — The Central Point Lions' club will hold their annual pancake breakfast Saturday, July 13, according to the club's president, Don Faber Jr.

The breakfast, to which the public has been invited, will be served from 6:30 a.m. until noon at the stand located in the lot next to Faber's Super Market in Central Point.

Proceeds from the affair will provide financial assistance to the blind and to needy boys and girls.

Democratic Central Committee to Meet

Plans will be made for the annual picnic early next month at a meeting of Jackson County Democratic Central committee at 8 p.m. tonight. The picnic is scheduled for TouVelle State park on Table Rock rd.

Tonight's meeting will be in the Labor Temple on South Grape st. Bill Deatherage will act as chairman. All committee-men and women have been urged to attend so chairmen may be appointed for the picnic.

THIS GLIDER LAUNCHES ITSELF—With engine in position, the Nelson Hummingbird glider takes off (top) at Livermore, Calif. without the aid of ground crew or tow plane. Powered with a 40 h.p. engine, which drives it at 80 m.p.h., the plane becomes a true glider when the engine is retracted into the fuselage. In lower photos, inventor Ted Nelson demonstrates how the engine disappears into the fuselage.

Leopold Begins Suspenseful Wait For Decision on Bid for Parole

Springfield, Ill. — A suspenseful wait began today for Nathan Leopold, 32, seeking his freedom on grounds he is a humble convict who has atoned for the 1924 thrill slaying of little Bobby Franks.

Leopold, who has been in Stateville prison for 33 years, appealed Tuesday to the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board for commutation of his 85-year term. Gov. William G. Stratton is expected to rule on the appeal "in about 30 days."

Post Supports Plea

Among those supporting Leopold's plea were poet Carl Sandberg, mystery author Erle Stanley Gardner, novelist Meyer Levin, and several of Leopold's former University of Chicago classmates.

No one appeared to oppose Leopold's freedom bid.

Leopold did not attend the clemency hearing, but in a written appeal asked to be allowed

Teamsters Reschedule Executive Meeting

Washington — The International Brotherhood of Teamsters today rescheduled its Executive Board meeting in Los Angeles for Monday, Aug. 5.

The meeting is expected to take up a demand for the resignation of President Dave Beck, who is under fire for his handling of union finances.

The session twice had been postponed because two vice presidents, James R. Hoffa and Frank W. Brewster, were unable to attend.

Hoffa is on trial for bribery and conspiracy charges growing out of the Senate Rackets Committee investigation. Brewster is recovering from injuries received in a fall from his horse.

Beck said it is important that all board members attend since the meeting probably will be the last held before the teamsters' annual convention in Miami Beach, Fla., Sept. 30.

to die outside of prison walls.

"I earnestly beg of you to show me the mercy I did not show," his petition read.

Remaining Years

"I beg of you to permit me to spend my few remaining years in the free world and give me a chance to try to be useful and to justify my experience. I leave my fate in your hands and in the hands of God."

A former classmate, Abel M. Brown, now a Chicago real estate man, told the board:

"As a lonely kid, he (Leopold) fell into a pit as black as life can make it. He's crying out now at the very end of his life for help. If you don't help him, you'll cut out his heart. He'll rot and die in prison."

Leopold and his partner in crime, Richard Loeb, murdered the 14-year-old Franks boy in a thrill killing that shocked the nation. Leopold was sentenced to 99 years, but former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson reduced the sentence to 85 years in recognition of Leopold's service in malaria experiments.

Loeb died in a prison fight in 1936.

The parole board previously turned down three parole bids by Leopold and set 1955 as the next time he could apply for parole.

Sick Man

However, Leopold said he feared "I won't live that long." He has had two heart attacks and suffers from diabetes and a kidney infection.

Leopold, a brilliant student at the University of Chicago, denied he was a genius in his petition and charged that erroneous newspaper stories were responsible for keeping him behind bars.

"I am a genius only in newspapers," he said. "Actually, I am a fat, middle-aged thoroughly ordinary man. I can't lick Russia single-handed, as some newspapers would have you believe. I can't contribute anything in nuclear physics."

"It is unfair to deal with me as a symbol instead of as an individual."

Dentist to Open Rogue River Office

Rogue River — Dr. Richard J. Camden, Medford, will open a dental office in the professional building on Depot st. here late in July.

Dr. Camden, now stationed with the Air Force at Everett, Wash., will be the only dentist in Rogue River. Dr. Gene Bowlin moved his practice to Brookings last fall after establishing an office here in 1955.

Dr. and Mrs. Camden and their two children, Bradford and Linda, moved to Rogue River last week. The doctor graduated from Northwestern dental school before going into the Air Force. He is now head of the dental department of Paine Air Force base in Everett.

His wife is the former Cecile Morris, of Medford.

DETECTIVE PAYS

St. Louis — Detective Cpl. Ben Massey rushed to police headquarters with a confessed murderer in his car and parked along a yellow painted curb when he found the police garage filled. The murder is awaiting his punishment, but Massey paid his $3 parking violation fine.

Washington — President Eisenhower played golf Tuesday at Burning Tree club.
