

Let's Look at Insects

SOMETIMES ENLARGED photographs of insects make us glad that they're so small and we're so large. Grasshoppers, beetles, dragonflies, and other denizens of the insect world can be mighty frightening when the camera magnifies their every tentacle, hair, or claw. On the other hand, a butterfly hovering near a flower is a lovely thing when caught in the camera's eye.

FOUR-LEVEL LIGHTING: Here's a new wall switch that lets you dial four different levels of light in a room: bright, for reading or working; moderate (using 68 percent of the current capacity), for conversation and entertaining; soft (38 percent of the total current), for relaxed activity; and dim (6 percent of power), for non-disturbing night light. $27.95. Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., 2747 Fourth Ave., South, Minneapolis 8, Minn.

POST HASTENERS: New "Air Mail" labels, first with any real design to them, have another advantage besides good looks. Five little books of 50 labels each, printed in red and blue on white gummed paper ($1\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{3}{4}$ "), come packed in a 3" transparent plastic box that keeps them neat and convenient in desk or drawer. 75c. Bruce Bolind, Bolind Bldg., Montrose 72, Calif.

NO PINS, NO BOTHER: Here's an adjustable diaper-panty combination with snap fasteners that eliminate pins. Tailored to fit from birth to 18 months, the flat snappers on front and back flaps adjust to six positions. Knitted cotton bands at the leg openings provide added comfort, absorbency, and protection against cold. About $2 for package of 3. Quicke Diaper Panty Corp., 1350 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

FOOD HANDLER: A new, multipurpose food container converts from mixing bowl to cake cover to refrigerator container to pail-like carrier. It consists of resilient plastic bowl, flexible plastic lid, and snap-in-place metal handle. The snap-on handle is designed for use either when the bowl section is turned down like a covered pail or inverted like a cake cover. $2.39. Plastry Corp., 823 Fisher Bldg., Detroit 2, Mich.

LOOK-OUT SHADES: New transparent acetate window shades have a special tint that lets you see out yet reduces sun and heat penetration, prevents blistering of woodwork and fading of draperies, carpets, and upholstery. Colors, including smoke gray, royal blue, and jade green, may be selected both for decorative effect and for density. Plastic View Transparent Shades, 15921 Strathern, Van Nuys, Calif.
