ILLINOIS VALLEY VFW Commander Visits

By HELEN BOTTLE

Cave Junction—District Commander of Veterans of World War I Ralph Aylesworth of Roseburg visited the local barracks recently.

Other guests included Lee Turner, past district commander; Edgar Irwin, department inspector; Harry Lohn, C. E. Berg and Elmer E. Curry, all of Grants Pass barracks.

A state convention report was given by Virginia Krotz of Shady Cove, past district president, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary meeting recently.

Mrs. Krotz presented the auxiliary with a state award for 100 per cent membership and meritorious work in other fields.

American Legion and auxiliary pinocle players gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ott on the Redwood highway south of Cave Junction Saturday evening.

Mrs. Leo Knapp won high prize and Mrs. Harry Hartwell second for the ladies, while Fran Badden and Alvin Hawkins shared honors for men's high score.

Mrs. Sherry Payne and her son, Orvid, of Brookings were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jiggs Morris.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nelsen at Gold Canyon ranch near Selma were Commander and Mrs. Kenneth E. Taylor of Long Beach, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Fleming of Palos Verde, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. William Aimey and children, Lisa and Billy, of Monrovia, Calif.

The Rev. Dick Pearson of Eugene delivered Sunday services at the Cave Junction Community church July 14. Rev. Pearson and The Rev. Don Brown, pastor of the Selma Baptist church, were classmates at the University of Oregon.

Navyman and Mrs. Frank Cayvill will leave Sunday, July 21, for Norman, Okla., where he will be stationed for five weeks. The couple's next move will be to Memphis, Tenn., for 22 more weeks of schooling. While in Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Cayvill expect to see Mrs. Cayvill's uncle, William F. Sheets, and family at Enid. Sheets is photographer for the News Eagle, Enid newspaper.

The Immanuel Methodist church picnic is planned for Sunday, July 21 at 1 p.m. at Grayback park. Guests are asked to bring food to share and their own table service. Punch, coffee and ice cream will be furnished.

Home from a three-week trip to southern California are Mr. and Mrs. Walt Hunting. In San Diego they visited Mrs. Hunting's mother, Mrs. Martha Myer. They also visited their grandson, Craig Paul Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Smith, at Ontario, Calif. While in Los Angeles, the couple visited their daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Scown.

Linda Prather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Prather, is visiting in Cottage Grove at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hudson.

At the Ed Martin home in Rogue River last week was Billy DeMersseman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed DeMersseman.

Attending Methodist church camp at Dead Indian Soda springs last week were Danny DeMersseman, Bobby Prather, Karen Ellstrom and Sandy Piper. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Piper took the children to the camp.

Guests at the Henry Gammel home during the past two weeks included Mrs. Gammel's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Timmons and two children of Prairie City, Ore.; her cousin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ladell Lanham, and children of Simi, Calif.; and Gammel's cousin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gammel of Monterey Park, Calif.

Recent week end guests at the M. C. Beem home in Kerby were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bucher, their daughter and son-in-law, and two children, Tresa and Ronnie, of Medford.

Mrs. David Chamberlain was honored recently at a stork shower given at the home of Mrs. Ray Ellstrom at the Illinois Valley Ranger station.

Winners at games were the Mesdames James Allen, Larry Musil and David Chamberlain. After the honoree opened her many gifts, refreshments of cake and punch were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Casey Piller and family spent Wednesday until Sunday in Eugene where they visited Piller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schultz, and other relatives.

Dr. June Wilson of O'Brien arrived home recently from Florence, Ore., where she had been a guest of her sister and family, the Frank Turners.

About 40 members of the family of the late George P. Martin Sr. met Wednesday, July 10, at Dr. Bert Elliott's ranch in Medford for a reunion and outdoor dinner. The group came from California, Oregon, Washington and the east to attend Mr. Martin's funeral Tuesday at Rogue River.

Attending from Illinois Valley were Mr. and Mrs. George P. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin and their families; Dan DeMersseman, who is visiting here from Salinas, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. James Martin of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Floyd, of the Holland store and post office, Mrs. William J. McLean, postmaster at Kerby, William J. McLean, and Mrs. Ivan Burr of the Selma store and post office, attended the post office convention at North Bend last week.

Shirley Brewer was elected vice president and Norma Martin was named news reporter at a recent meeting of the I. V. Stitches. They replace Joyce Larson and Charlotte Warner, who have left the valley for the summer.

Water Purification Tablets Prove Helpful

Buffalo—If you're planning a vacation in foreign lands, water purification tablets may prove as helpful as a guide book or an extra pair of socks.

Many countries don't come up to American standards of purity where drinking water is concerned. So research chemists at the Arner Co. advise taking along the purification tablets as protection against intestinal disorders. Bottled water isn't always safe due to insufficient sterilization standards. Hot coffee and tea usually are safe, as water must be boiled to prepare these beverages. And most wines have been pasteurized to prevent spoilage.

MELON COLLISION

Rough New Guinea Region Produces Skilled Pilots

Lae, New Guinea—To get anywhere on this world's biggest island you either fly or you walk. In either case the terrain is as rugged as Alaska, with jagged 15,000-foot peaks, and the weather is as mean as any in South America, with violent tropical storms, sudden fronts and towering thunderheads.

New Guinea, like Alaska, has produced a breed of bush pilots with the unique skill of angling through mountain passes, slipping in and out of narrow, mile-high valleys and maintaining a regular schedule with a most impressive safety record.

Qantas, the Australian-owned airline that serves the New Guinea area, demands one basic requirement from all its pilots—resourcefulness.

Here they describe resourcefulness as the time the landing gear failed to lock as a light plane was landing. The Qantas pilot casually cut a hole in the floor and jammed a steel curtain rod down as a substitute strut and made a normal landing.

Douglas DC3's and Canadian-built Beavers are used by Qantas on the internal runs, while pre-war Catalinas from San Diego maintain the "beer and bread" services to the outlying islands and coastal plantations.

They Like It
The pilots on the flying boats are as familiar as rural mailmen as they deliver groceries, match sewing threads and post letters for the scattered European families who are weeks removed from civilization except by air.

Passengers are Qantas' most precious cargo, but the money is made on the freight. In 1932 when gold was discovered in the Bulolo Valley, more freight was carried in one month in New Guinea than by all the rest of the world's airlines combined for the entire year.

Today Qantas will haul anything from needles to prefabricated houses, and moves an average of more than a million pounds of freight a month in, out and around New Guinea. Recently an entire tea-processing plant was flown into the interior piece by piece to be assembled and put into operation.

The majority of Qantas' senior New Guinea pilots could qualify for international flights, but they prefer to fly here. As a veteran pilot Tom Howse explained it:

"In New Guinea you never get bored. Each flight has a variety of interesting situations, both inside and outside the aircraft, that seldom crop up on one of the overseas routes.

Kellogg's RICE KRISPIES

GOOD ON Kellogg's RICE KRISPIES

JUST FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE RULES

- PRINT in blank spaces in the puzzle the letters you think form words that best fit clues. PRINT your name and address clearly on entry blank and the first letter of your last name in the box provided. Entries must be postmarked no later than October 15, 1937, and must be received no later than November 5, 1937. Mail all entries to: "Mister Twister," Box 1000, Marion, Ohio.
- You may enter as many times as you desire, complying with all rules for each entry. Use only official entry blanks obtained from newspaper ads, at your grocer's or by writing to "Twister Contest," Box 111, Marion, Ohio. Each entry must be accompanied by two Kellogg's Corn Flakes or two Kellogg's Rice Krispies boxtops or one of each (if you have them), or any size facsimiles copied from any source. Boxtops of both are illustrated in this ad.
- Carefully study the clues before writing your answers. The correct ones require the most appropriate and suitable words. These have been determined and are final. Fulfillment Corporation of America has been appointed to consider all entries and select the prize winner. Decisions of judges will be final.
- The Kellogg Company will pay $50,000 for the correct solution; or if a correct solution is not received, the most nearly correct solution based on the number of correct words, will be the winner (subject to all rules of this contest).
- In the event of ties, a separate "Mister Twister" puzzle and a sentence for completion, "I like Kellogg's cereals because . . ." (in 25 words or less), will be mailed to those who have tied. No boxtops, or facsimiles will be required with tie-breaking entries. Such entries will be judged on the basis of the tie-breaking puzzle, as in rule 4. In the event of further ties, the prize will be awarded to tying entrant whose sentence for completion is judged most apt, original, and sincere.
- Entries limited to residents of the continental United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, except employees of the Kellogg Company, its advertising agencies, the Fulfillment Corporation of America and their families. Contest subject to all governmental laws and regulations.
- All entries become the property of the Kellogg Company for any and all purposes. None will be returned. Except for incidental, uncompensated help from families and friends, entries must be wholly the work of the person in whose name the entry is submitted, and will be disqualified if prepared with professional or compensated help. Mechanically reproduced facsimiles are ineligible. In fairness to all, no correspondence will be entered into about this contest. The winner or tying entrants will be notified by mail on or before November 30, 1937.
