Maryland Beauty Miss U.S.A.

Long Beach, Calif. — Leona Gage, a black-haired Cinderella from Maryland who entered the Miss Universe contest with only $10 in her pocket, Wednesday night won the coveted title of Miss United States in a borrowed dress. The green-eyed, long-legged Miss Maryland drew cheers from the audience at the Long Beach Municipal Auditorium when she accepted the pearl crown from last year's Miss U.S.A. and Miss Universe, Carol Morris of Iowa. The 21-year-old Leona and her cousin, Barbara Gage, had taken the two-way plane ticket Leona received as Miss Maryland and converted it into two one-way tickets, figuring to work their way back home if she lost. The girls arrived in this seaport with only $20 between them that they had saved from modeling jobs. In Leona's suitcase was a $45 gown she had bought at a sale in Baltimore. She wore that the first night of the world-wide beauty pageant. Wednesday night she paraded down the runway in a gown borrowed from a small dress shop in Long Beach. "I went in to see if I could buy a dress with our $20 and the man loaned it to me—he knew I was broke," she said with an embarrassed smile. But now riches have come at last to Leona. The prizes include $2,000 cash, a world-wide tour, a complete wardrobe, a house-trailer, and she will represent the United States in the Miss World contest in Europe. The runners-up in order of selection were Miss Utah, Charlotte Sheffield; Miss West Virginia, Ruth Marie Parr; Miss Nevada, Joan Adams, and Miss Nebraska, Carolyn McGirr.

Color Simplicity For Flower Gardens

Urbana, Ill. — "Simplicity in color" is the by-word for attractive flower gardens, according to C. E. Ackerman, floriculture extension specialist of the University of Illinois. Ackerman said the colorful annuals are best for beautifying any area, but he warned against too many colors. He advised selection of three main colors, planted only after careful selection and arrangement for the best effect. He suggested use of tall species for backgrounds, medium-sized varieties for middle ground forms and short plants for foreground items. Be sure, Ackerman warned, to select plants of the same texture for the best landscaping. Annuals also can be used to "fill-in" where perennials have died out or to cover dead spots in landscape. Gardening can be fun, added Ackerman if you plan your annual flower garden before you plant and follow your plan.

Doctors' Night Calls Often Result of Fright

Omaha — Many night calls for doctors are the result of either fright or lack of information, according to a survey of doctors at Creighton University medical school. The doctors said many calls are requested merely for the convenience of the patient, while others are made by neurotics or those with neurotic tendencies.
