Mrs. Perry Strom District Director For Wool Contest

Mrs. Perry Strom, 1464 Dixie lane, Medford, is the district director for the "Make It Yourself with Wool" contest sponsored by the National Wool Growers auxiliary each year.

The contest is open to girls between the ages of 14 and 22 and there is plenty of time for girls to enter garment before district finals are held in October.

To encourage sewing skills, a special sub-district contest for the 13 to 15 age group will be held this year. Prizes are awarded in each district for the best all-wool skirts or jumpers.

Girls in the regular contest should enter a suit, coat, dress, or ensemble which they have made from all-wool fabric.

Mrs. Marion Krebs, Eugene, is state contest director. Prizes in the state contest include two trips to the national finals to be held in Salt Lake City, Utah, portable Singer sewing machines, two-week trips to Europe, as well as scholarships and savings bonds.

The contest is sponsored in Oregon by the Oregon Wool Growers auxiliary.

Women Attend Training Session For Methodists

Several Jackson county Methodist women are attending the summer training session of the Oregon conference of Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service for leaders of local church societies. The session opened yesterday at Camy Magruder near Bar View on the Oregon coast.

Similar training schools are held by conferences of the Woman's Division of Christian Service across the nation during the vacation months.

Representing the division at the Oregon school is Mrs. Chester B. Knapp, New York, who is assistant to the secretary of missionary education for the Woman's Division. Others on the staff are Dr. Gertrude Boyd Crane of Pacific university of Forest Grove; Mrs. Carl Mason, Portland, who is secretary of children's work for the Oregon conference; and Mrs. Wayne Stauffer, Eugene, secretary of Christian social relations for the conference.

Dean of the school is Mrs. A. S. Feller, Camp White, who is secretary of missionary education for the conference. Dean of girls is Mrs. O. L. Covault, Oak Grove, secretary of youth work.

Workshops on parliamentary procedure, on leadership responsibility, on techniques for group discussion, and on the use of drama and audio-visuals in the church are to be held. The latter workshop will be led by Mrs. O. P. Taylor, Medford, secretary of promotion for the conference.

New this year is a session particularly designed for press chairmen and presidents responsible for appointment of press chairmen, to be conducted by Mrs. Owen S. Cowling, club editor of the Oregonian.

Attending from Medford in addition to Mrs. Feller and Mrs. Taylor are two district officers, Mrs. George Lawless and Mrs. J. W. Poage. Delegates from the Medford society of First Church are Mrs. Floyd Lewis, treasurer; Mrs. Byron Griffith, secretary of supply work; Mrs. Geneva Schwann, secretary of spiritual life.

Miss Jan Laurila, one of 16 girls in the state chosen to attend the school, will attend. Three other girls from Eugene district include Miss Patricia Wilson, Grants Pass; Miss Norma Young, Klamath Falls; and Miss Mary Trezise, Eugene.

Princess Margaret's Current Escort Sent To Cyprus in Move To Still Reports

London — Lord Patrick Beresford, favorite escort of Princess Margaret during the current season, has been transferred to Cyprus in a move expected to still reports that they might become engaged.

He is the second of the Princess' boyfriends to be sent abroad. The first was Group Capt. Peter Townsend who was named air attaché at the British Embassy in Brussels when news of their romance filled the gossip columns.

Beresford's "exile" brought the tart comment from the London Daily Express today that "being a friend of the princess seems to be a qualification these days for a ticket to far off places."

Will Solve Problem The 23-year-old Beresford, nearly four years Margaret junior, is a lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards Regiment, British sources said his assignment abroad will solve a palace problem since constant association of his name with the princess has caused acute embarrassment.

Rumors of their engagement grew so strong last week that dozens of reporters camped out in front of Buckingham Palace through the night in expectation of getting an early morning announcement. But there was none and it was learned later Beresford was at his ancestral home in Ireland at the time.

Informed sources said the "exile" of young Lord Patrick and that of Townsend was far different. Townsend was sent to Brussels from his post as an equerry to the royal household because the romance strained the strict British royal protocol which forbids royal marriages with divorced persons.

Beresford remains highly eligible. He is young, handsome, titled and there is no taint of divorce. He has huge land holdings and is independently wealthy. A marriage into the royal family probably would bring him a higher title.

EAGLE POINT Visitors At Nelson Home

By THOMASINE SMITH Eagle Point—Mr. and Mrs. Bennett and daughter, Pat, of Thousand Oaks, Calif., visited Mr. and Mrs. Bert Nelson and family recently. Mr. and Mrs. Sims and daughters, Dorothy and Virginia, from Sweet Home, Ore., were at the Nelson home at the same time.
