

Beavers Leave Cellar Rank To Win Over San Diego 4-3 On Frank Carswell Throw

Portland — Portland won a baseball game Monday night. The Beavers halted a ninth-inning San Diego threat on a fine throw by Frank Carswell to win 4-3 and move out of the PCL cellar ahead of Sacramento.

The Beavers scored the win with the help of four double plays and fine relief pitching by Bob Anderson, who replaced starter Ray Bauer in the seventh after Al Jones doubled in two runs for the Padres to make the score 4-3.

Preston Ward opened up with a double for the Padres in the ninth and advanced to third on an infield out. When Bob Lennon fled to left field, Carswell made a perfect peg to catcher Ron Bottler who tagged Ward as he tried to score the tying run.

The Beavers had grabbed an early lead by collecting three runs on five hits, including a double by Solly Drake, in the opening frame. One of the hits, a single by Casey Wise, struck first baseman Bob Di Pietro in the mouth and knocked out a tooth. Di Pietro left the game.

The Padres put their first run on the board in the bottom of the first inning when Dave Pope slammed out his 12th homer of the year.

Portland scored once in the fourth on a double by Billy De Mars, an infield out and an infield single.

Bauer collected the win, his fourth this season against two losses.

In other games Monday night Vancouver decided the course of its game with Sacramento in the first frame, slamming nine runs over the heads of the bewildered Solons.

Two Triples

In the deadly first, John Jorgensen and Kal Segrist tripled, and Joe Frazier and Len Greene let go with doubles. Segrist also hit the first Mountie homer of the game in the third with none on, and Frazier clouted another in the eighth, also with none on.

Sacramento collected 15 hits, actually one more than the winners, including Al Heist's two-run homer in the seventh.

The Beavers, now leading it in seventh place, also started early, pounding out three runs in the first frame and adding what turned out to be the clincher in the fourth.

Relief hurler Bob Anderson spelled the difference for Portland in the ninth by dousing a final attempt by San Diego to tie up the game.

Bauer Wins
Starter Ray Bauer, 4-2, was the winner. Dick Brodowski, 7-3, lost. Dave Pope homered for the Pads in the first frame—the only four bagger of the game.

The Hollywood Stars, bound and determined to stay amongst the top three, allowed Los Angeles only three hits off starting hurler Red Witt. It was Witt's 11th win against four losses, and he has hurled 37 2/3 innings without allowing an earned run. Steve Bilko, the Los Angeles power man, was stopped cold, ending a hitting streak that lasted 14 consecutive games.

The Angels did shine in the fielding department. They made their first triple play since 1953, putting out Spook Jacobs, Witt and Tony Bartirome.

Tom LaSorda, 4-3, lost the contest.

Local Cubs Blank Bears

Medford kept one of the front positions in the Southern Oregon Junior Baseball Cub league yesterday by shutting out the Grants Pass Bears 4 to 0.

Jerry Anderson threw two-hit ball for Medford and, in addition to striking out 10 batters, he made seven assists and one putout. He did not walk an opponent. Ken Jensen got two hits and Bob Pond and Jim Dexter one each for Medford.

Dan Barlow tossed the GP four-hitter with six strikeouts and two bases on balls. Joe Dickerson and Jim Hamilton were the Bear hitters.

Jensen's single, a balk, a wild pitch, two errors and a stolen base figured in two Medford runs in the third inning. In the sixth an error, Jensen's hit, Ragsdale's sacrifice and a wild pitch got a brace of scores.

PLC Reverses LA Scorer

San Francisco — The Pacific Coast league has overruled the Los Angeles scorer in the Vancouver-Los Angeles game of July 19.

The scorer, John B. Old, had charged Mountie pitcher Irv Palica with the loss rather than George Bamberger. The PCL reversed the decision.

In that game the Angels came to bat in the eighth inning trailing 5-4. Vancouver hurler Sandy Consuegra gave up a single to Steve Bilko and was taken out by Manager Charley Metro.

Bamberger came into to pitch, walked Bert Hamric and was lifted in favor of Palica. Jim Fridley forced Bilko at third, but pinch-hitter Bob Jenkins put the Angels ahead with a three-run homer.

Under baseball rule 10.18, Consuegra is charged with one run, the tying run, even though the runner he put on base was put out by a force play. The runner Bamberger put on base then becomes the winning run. Palica could be charged with only one run, Jenkins'.

Ed Bingham, ex-Medford high athlete who wound up a University of Oregon varsity basketball and track career this spring, says he's due to enter the Air Force in October as the result of his reserve officer training. Bingham is currently working for Southern Oregon Sales here. He reported that he has a five-year tour if he makes the grade in flight training and a three-year hitch if he doesn't.

Ed has aims of resuming work with the javelin when his Air Force time permits. He was just coming into his own with the spear when the collegiate season ended this spring, getting a distance of 240 feet in practice.

Studs Travel For Drain Encounter

Medford Cheney Studs step outside the Rogue Valley Baseball league this Wednesday and travel to play the independent Drain Black Sox at Drain.

The game was originally set for Medford but dates were switched at the request of the Sox. Drain is to come here on Aug. 14.

Medford has met the strong Black Sox three times already this season, winning two of the games.

The Studs, leading in the RVL without a loss, tackle Cave Junction, second place with two setbacks, here next Sunday. Other loop scuffles that day are Butte Falls at Grants Pass and Camp White at Glendale.

A victory for the Cheney nine Sunday would assure it of no worse than a tie for top spot in the regular season.

Iron Curtain To Get Visit By Brundage

Washington — Avery Brundage, who said he "might have to resign" as President of the International Olympic Committee if the State Department barred him from going behind the Iron Curtain, has been given permission to visit Bulgaria.

A state department spokesman said the department now finds that Brundage's attendance at an IOC meeting in Sofia in September "is in the interest of our foreign policy."

When Brundage's first application for travel permission was rejected, he said he might have to quit his IOC job if the ban "prevents me from fulfilling my office."

Emeralds Lose 3-2 To Black Sox Monday

Eugene — The Eugene Emeralds of the Northwest league dropped a 3-2 decision to the Drain Black Sox, a semi-pro team, here Monday night in 10 innings.

Stan Dmochowsky held the Emeralds to seven hits and fanned six in notching the win.

be knocked out by a bean ball. A toss by Jim McAbee, while he was warming up Pitcher Mark Fitch before the Butte Falls game, struck Weinhold on the head and knocked him out. Weinhold was sitting in the dugout at the time.

FIRE DETRACTS
A fire conflicted with the interests of a couple of Cave Junction Outlaw officials during their game with the Grants Pass Merchants on Sunday, we are told. The alarm sounded and the two men, apparently volunteer firemen, jumped up and ran across the field.

PRO POSSIBILITIES
Professional Eugene Emeralds of the Northwest league have indicated an interest in Ron Owings, shortstop of the Medford Cheney Studs baseball nine, according to remarks of Dick Strite, Eugene Register-Guard in his Highclimber column. Owings is a catcher as well as an infielder. The Emeralds can use a second catcher, especially a rookie. Ron is a product of Klamath Falls Union High school. He has played semi-pro ball at Klamath Falls as well as college ball for Southern Oregon.

ROELANDT RATED HIGH
Strite has some interesting information on Ron Bowen, the Drain Black Sox outfielder, who came up with crucial homers in each of the three games the Sox have played against the Studs this season. Bowen is a former Franklin high of Portland teammate of Frank Roelandt, Studs manager, and played on the Portland fire department team in 1943 with John Kovenz, Studs outfielder and Medford high head baseball coach.

The Eugene writer says Bowen still claims that Roelandt was the best catching prospect he has ever seen. Bowen, who has played considerable minor league ball, was manager of Dickinson in the Mandan league a few years back when Roelandt was playing for Williston, N.D.

OUTLAWS DEFEND
Somehow we got off the track and have been calling Glendale the defending champ in the Rogue Valley Baseball league. "Taint so. It's Cave Junction. Glendale led most of the 1956 season but was tied with the Outlaws in the final regular season standings. Cave Junction then defeated the Loggers in an extra regular season game and followed that with a victory over Glendale in the play-off finals.

Jimmy Allen Midget Winner

Jimmy Allen won the main event and Dana Carder set a track time trial record of 10:35 Sunday in quarter midget auto races at Jackson Hot springs. Eddie McCoy took the semi-main and the six-weeks sportsmanship trophy.

Mike Myers won the trophy dash in competition with Allen and Janice Lemley. Allen held the lead until spinning out on the last lap.

Teresa and Jimmy Allen, and Bobby Bruce won heat races. Teresa was second to Jimmy in the Main. A Portland car, with Bobbie McLoud the driver, won the final heat.

Rams, Cards Open Camps Next Week

Portland (Special) — Training camps will be in operation next week for the Los Angeles Rams and Chicago Cardinals, the two professional football teams which clash here at Multnomah stadium Saturday night, August 31.

A new rule adopted this year by the National Football league limits the number of players in camp to 60 and requires all teams to wait until the last week of July before opening camp.

The Rams will train at their familiar site in Redlands, Calif., while the Cardinals will report at Lake Forest, Ill.

The teams will have about three weeks to get ready for their opening pre-season games. Both teams open the campaign on Friday night, Aug. 16, the Cards meeting the Green Bay Packers in the Orange Bowl at Miami and the Rams playing the Washington Redskins in the annual Times charity games in Los Angeles.

The following week the Cardinals play the Packers again in Austin, Tex., and then head for Oregon where they will set up training headquarters at Pacific university in Forest Grove. They will remain there following the Portland game for a week of drills.

Dennybrook
The Rams play the New York Giants in their second game before meeting the Cards in what has become one of the real dennybrooks of the season for both clubs.

Thus, both teams will have two games under their belts by the time they face off in Portland, which will afford them a good chance to test their rookies against league opposition.

The Cardinals are anxious to take a good look at two rookie quarterback prospects, Paul Larson of California and Dave Leggett of Ohio State. Coach Ray Richards believes — and few observers will dispute him — that if he can come up with capable quarterback his team will win the league championship.

The Rams are eagerly awaiting the test of rookies Jon Arnett of UCS and Del Shofner of Baylor, hailed as two of the brightest prospects they've ever had.

Tickets for the game between the Rams and Cardinals are available by mail through Oregon Sports attractions in the Executive building, with a good supply of reserved seats still up for grabs.

Regalado Leads Coast Hitting

San Francisco — Rudy Regalado of the San Diego Padres is leading the Pacific Coast league in hitting with a .358 average, according to statistics released today and including games of Sunday, July 21.

Regalado has appeared in 75 games, collected 101 hits, seven homers and driven in 37 runs. Bill Causion of Hollywood leads in hits with 124 and Steve Bilko of Los Angeles in home runs with 32 and runs batted in with 72.

The pitching leaders are Morris Martin of Vancouver, who is tops in the earned-run averages with 1.57 runs per nine innings of play; and Leo Kiely of San Francisco in the win-loss department with a 15-2 record.

Atlantic Tie-Up Dropped By Orange Bowl Officials

By STAN TAIT
United Press Sports Writer
Miami — Officials of the Orange Bowl football game disclosed today that pressure from television networks for more attractive games prompted them

NEW MILE MARK—Derek Ibbotson, 24, a British Royal Air Force private, breaks the tape at White City Stadium in London to set a new record of three minutes, 57.2 seconds for the mile run. Three other runners in the race also broke the four-minute mile.

to drop their bowl tie-up with the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Bowl Committee announced Monday it has renewed its bowl agreement with the Big Eight (the old Big Seven) from 1959 through 1961. But a similar pact with the ACC will be dropped after the game next Jan. 1.

The committee also disclosed a clause in the new pact that might permit perennial power Oklahoma to appear in the bowl as often as three times in the next four years.

The committee had been under strong local pressure to end the "closed shop" selection of teams and open the door for local favorites Miami, Florida, and Florida State. But then the pressure came, too, from the television outlets.

The Sooners are eligible to return next year under an old agreement.

In the new pact, the bowl got the Big Eight to agree to permit the conference champ to repeat again in 1959 because "it is the silver anniversary of the bowl."
